HEW Mailed Complaint Charging NU With Sex Discrimination

By NANCY HICKS
Star Staff Writer

A formal complaint charging the University of Nebraska with sex discrimination was mailed this week to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The 70-page document alleges that a pattern of discrimination against women faculty and staff members exists at the university.

The report which requests an on-site investigation by HEW, was filed by a group called the Ad-Hoc Committee on Women's Concerns.

The committee claims to see patterns and practices of discrimination in employment, pay, promotion and tenure of women at both the Lincoln and Omaha campuses. The report lists several individual cases of possible sex discrimination involving unrenewed contracts, unfair hiring procedures and discriminatory pay practices.

University of Nebraska President D. B. Varner prefered "not to comment" on the actual charges, but did say that it was the university's "intent to comply with the spirit and objective of the law."

The complaint alleges that the total university system has failed to meet affirmative action directives and has initiated discriminatory practices and actions. It uses statistical information to show the low percentage of female faculty members and their predominance at the lower end of the ranking system.

The overall percentage of women faculty members at UNL (11.5%) has not risen 1% during the two-year period between 1971-72 and 1973-74, the report says. On the UNO campus, this percentage has declined from 20.7 to 18.9%, according to a rough draft of the complaint obtained by The Star.

Female faculty members tend to be bunched into the lower ranks, according to the statistics compiled by the Ad Hoc Committee. At the Lincoln campus women make up 19% of the assistant professors and 5.1% of the full professors. At Omaha, women comprise 41 9% of the total number of instructors, 18 6% of the assistant professors, and 4.6% of the full professors.

The complaint, researched and written over the past three months by a core group of 20 persons, concentrates on departments within the College of Arts and Science.

Examples from the English Departments point out the university's "poor record" in hiring and promotion of women.

One Woman Hired

Nine of the 55 (16%) full-time UNL English Department faculty members are women. In the period between 1968 - 1974, when 17 new appointments were made, only one woman was hired.

Nationally, between 1967-69, almost one-third of the PhD' in English went to women, the report states.

The UNO English Department is almost equally divided — 19 men and 17 women, but women essentially hold the lower ranks. Twelve women are instructors or part-time lecturers while only five males are in these same ranks, according to the report.

The attitude of some search committee members was also pointed out in the report: "A member of the departmental advisory committee seriously asked a female member of the department how women establish they are not genetically inferior."

Hiring patterns in other departments, including chemistry, modern language, art, foreign languages and the Law School, were also cited as discriminatory by the report.

Other areas of discrimination claimed were:

— hiring women at below-scale rates without any fringe benefits or job security (such as visiting professor).

— Firing qualified women from faculty positions.

Women Overlooked

— Failure to offer equitable positions to available women and those already associated with the university in some capacity. The report says that women with PhD's and teaching experience as visiting professors have been overlooked for full-time positions.

— Hiring procedures which eliminate female candidates.

— Failure to promote women. Women, particularly those who were at the university during the days of "nepotism, have spent undue years in rank before receiving promotions," the report says.

— Unequal pay (a difference of more than $1,000) between men and women clerical workers.

— Possible discriminatory policy of the personnel office in requiring students to sign a form giving up the right to unemployment compensation if employment at the university is related to providing financial assistance for the spouse's education.

— Failure to adequately fund and support women's studies, women's programs, special counseling programs for women and day-care for children of students and faculty.

Individual case histories in the report included women who had been recommended for merit pay, but were subsequently terminated, a woman whose application for a professional post was destroyed; a woman who was not interviewed for a Law College post because her husband was on the law faculty.

Woman Not Hired

Hiring discrimination examples included the case of a female candidate with a PhD, three articles and three papers published, a book manuscript at the publishers and excellent teaching recommendations. Chosen for the position was a "white male with no publications, no papers and no teaching experience," according to the report.

The complaint was filed "because of halting efforts by the university to take affirmative action to correct these situations," according to a prepared statement by the committee.

"Women's groups on both campuses have for three years made consistent efforts to work with the university administration to identify and correct these patterns of discrimination," according to the statement of the 150-member committee.

President Varner, who has a copy of the complaint, said she had not had time to check out the allegations with officials from the two campuses, but feels that some of the complaints might have grown from procedures in effect before an Affirmative Action Plan was approved by the Regents this October

When the HEW regional office in Kansas City receives the complaint, they will investigate the situation, then send a team to Lincoln to review the matter, according to Ralph Anderson of HEW.

Because of a backlog of cases, the review will not come until after the first of the year — perhaps in January, he said.

The complaint itself has not yet reached HEW offices, but it will probably fall under Title 9 of the Education Amendments Act of 1972, according to Anderson.

Farm Prices Increase 4%

Washington (AP) — Prices of raw farm products jumped 4% from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, more than offsetting a decline one month earlier, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

The Crop Reporting Board said higher prices for wheat, corn, hogs, soybeans and cotton were mostly responsible for the increase.

Lower prices were reported for cattle, calves and potatoes.

The 4% increase followed a 2% decline from Aug. 15 to Sept 15 which had been the first drop since mid-June. The mid-month index rose 6% in July and 3% in August.

Over the past year the price index has fluctuated widely but as of Oct. 15 it averaged 0 5% above a year earlier.

Prices farmers pay to meet expenses, meanwhile, were up 0.5% in the month ended Oct. 15 and were 17% above a year earlier.

Although erratic, farm prices frequently are reflected in wholesale prices later on.

Government officials have indicated retail food prices will continue up next year but perhaps at a slower rate than in 1974. The department is scheduled to announce new food price estimates Nov. 8.

A major reason for high grain prices has been this year's poor weather — too much rain which delayed plantings last spring, drought during the summer and then early frost this fall which hurt late maturing corn and soybeans.

Also, according to USDA figures, heftier export demands for corn and wheat have developed as the result of crop deterioration abroad this season.

Thus, because of reduced U.S. harvests and strong export demand, the government now is looking to 1975 and another stab at full farm production in hopes of replenishing grain reserves.

Even so, USDA figures show that corn and wheat reserves by the time new harvests are ready in 1975 will be down again to a barely sufficient level, the lowest since 1948

The high grain prices, particularly for corn and soybeans needed as livestock feed, have caused farmers to cut back production of grain-fed cattle, hogs, milk and poultry.

Farmers say prices they get for livestock are not high enough to offset rising feed costs.

The Oct. 15 price index for all commodities averaged 185% of its 1967 base compared with 178 in September and 184 in October last year. The record was 208% Aug. 15, 1973.

FPC Orders Halt To Work On Plant

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

The Federal Power Commission (FPC) has ordered the Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) to stop construction of the 650-megawatt Gerald Gentleman Power Station at Sutherland.

In an order dated Oct. 25, the FPC said plans to use water from the Sutherland Reservoir to cool the $200 million plant's boilers requires FPC approval and an environmental review.

Until NPPD gets that approval, the FPC said construction cannot progress.

'Significant'

The FPC action was viewed as a "significant procedural" victory for the Platte Valley Sierra Club which initiated the complaint one year ago.

Dr. Eric Sloth, NPPD's director of environmental affairs, said he does not know at this time whether the FPC order will prove to be a major roadblock to completion of the plant.

Sloth said NPPD was just informed of the order Thursday morning.

He said the order, which will remain in effect until the FPC rules otherwise, is based upon a "technicality."

'Don't Know Yet"

"We don't know what it means to us as yet. We haven't all read it, and nobody is ready to say exactly what it will do," Sloth said.

"We will be meeting with the FPC on this shortly," he added.

The Platte Valley Sierra Club has argued that NPPD's air and water pollution controls on the coal-burning power plant are inadequate to prevent damage to plant and animal life.

Seek Scrubber

They are seeking to block construction until a scrubber is installed to remove sulfur dioxide and dust pollutants. The Sierra Club Legal Defense Fund has filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court in Lincoln to block construction of the plant.

H Anthony Ruckel, Sierra Club attorney, said the FPC action is "a significant procedural accomplishment." However, he added that it is not substantive in the sense that it deals with the issues.

Marilyn Huebner of Hershey, chairman of the Platte Valley Sierra Club, said she is "very pleased with the FPC decision to take a close look at the environmental consequences of construction and operation of the plant.

"We heartily agree with the decision."

Alteration

The order arose out of the Sierra Club's contention that the Gentleman Station use of cooling water constitutes a substantial alteration in NPPD's license for the operation of the Sutherland Reservoir.

The Sierra Club also said the change in water use from hydroelectric generation to the proposed steam generation requires an environmental review and an environmental impact statement.

The FPC said: "We believe these water diversion facilities constitute a substantive alteration or addition to (the project) ... we believe the time for effective environmental review of the use of project land and waters for cooling a steam generating plant is before construction ... therefore, it appears to the commission that ... NPPD shall cease and desist ... pending further order of this commission."

Until Nov. 15

The order gives NPPD until Nov. 15 to respond as to why its license for the Sutherland Reservoir has not been changed and why an environmental review has not been submitted.

The plant at full capacity will use 800 cubic feet of water per second. The water will be delivered by means of a three-mile canal. Irrigators and environmentalists feel the evaporation of the cooling water will significantly lower the Platte River's water levels.

Sloth said an environmental study was done; however, it was not submitted to the FPC.

NPPD plans to award the construction contracts on the plant on Nov. 21-22 with an estimated completion date of November, 1977. Sloth said it is not known whether the FPC action will cause further delays in construction.

3 Men Rob Liquor Store

Between $450 and $550 was taken in an armed robbery of the Hussey Drive In at 330 N. 48th Thursday night.

Police said three men entered the store, two with nylon stockings over their faces and one with a Halloween mask, and demanded all the money in the cash register.

A clerk at the store Tom Barker, 6100 Vine, told police two of the men were carrying handguns.

Barker told police the first thing he noticed was the guns appeared to be fake.

Police said the bandits were described as black males, 17 to 18 years old. Two were approximately six feet one inch tall and one was about five feet nine inches tall.

Internal Bleeding Apparently Halted

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon's condition pointed towards gradual improvement, but "there are dangers lurking in the background," a team of doctors said Thursday.

Nixon's doctors said internal bleeding, which brought the former president close to death after surgery Tuesday, had apparently stopped. New transfusions were ordered to replace post-operative blood loss.

Nixon probably will remain on the critical list for 24 to 72 more hours, the doctors said.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for President Ford indicated the President may visit Nixon on Friday if doctors approve. Ford arrived in Los Angeles on Thursday night and talked by telephone to Mrs. Nixon who said a visit from Ford would be helpful.

The doctors said they were still working to replace the blood Nixon lost in internal hemorrhaging that followed his phlebitis surgery.

The former president could have died from the bleeding that sent him into shock for three hours after the operation Tuesday, "if proper measures had not been taken," said Dr. John C. Lungren.

Nixon's former press secretary, Ron Ziegler, made a similar statement Wednesday.

Lungren, Nixon's longtime doctor, and two surgeons who operated on Nixon, did not specify when the apparent let-up in bleeding took place.

The three held a 10-minute news conference at the hospital where the 61-year-old former president is being treated.

Earlier in the day, Lungren and Dr. Eldon Hickman said that because of a slight decrease in Nixon's hemoglobin level they believed Nixon may have been bleeding again.

The doctors said they would continue to watch Nixon's condition to determine whether it had stopped altogether.

Lungren said Nixon's vital signs had "pretty much returned to normal," but he added. "There are dangers lurking in the background. imminent dangers. real dangers ...

Lungren did not say what the dangers were.

He said Nixon's vital signs, including pulse and respiration, have "pretty much returned to normal," but he added, "There are dangers lurking in the background, imminent dangers, real dangers."

Lungren said fluctuations detected in Nixon's hemoglobin level were probably not caused by internal bleeding, as indicated earlier.

Dr. James A. Harper, a surgeon who participated in Nixon's operation for phlebitis Tuesday, said the former president could remain on the critical list from 24 to 72 more hours.

But he warned, "It's a matter of monitoring for several days. I know Dr. Lungren said that he could turn sour on us at any time, but we have no indication of that."

Ford Plan Hit By WIN Panel

Lincoln's WIN Committee, formed to fight inflation, Thursday knocked President Ford's 12-point inflation fighting plan and placed the blame for inflation on big business and huge conglomerates.

It is industry — not the little guy, not the farmer, not the consumer — who is responsible for inflation, according to Bert Evans, associate professor of economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is the WIN Committee's economist.

"Industry is the prime source of raising prices," he said during a press conference Thursday.

Program Outlined

The 17-member Lincoln WIN Committee outlined its eight-point plan to fight inflation and urged citizens to vote for "those candidates who offer real inflation fighting plans."

The eight-point program included:

— Close tax loopholes for the rich.

— Break up big business monopolies.

— Cut waste in defense budget.

— Stop aid to foreign dictators.

— Stabilize farm prices and provide a liveable income for farmers.

— Reduce excessive profits.

— Eliminate wasteful use of natural resources.

— End "tax dodges" used by American businesses abroad.

The committee is also planning a free Brown Bag Banquet (bring your own dinner) at the Radisson Cornhusker Hotel Monday, Nov. 24. Bullet Biter Awards will go to local inflation fighters and $25 worth of groceries will be raffled off during the banquet.

For Ordinary Folks

The committee is not playing political games, according to State Sen. Steve Fowler, committee chairman. The committee, composed of both Republicans and Democrats, is for ordinary folks rather than large corporations, he said.

And it is big businessmen who must be the real inflation fighters, the four-member steering committee said.

Under President Ford's plan of fighting inflation through food, "farmer's incomes are going to go down, and this will hurt Nebraska," Evans said.

"The folks who are doing the work to produce the food are not profiting." In fact food at the farm level doesn't cost much more and in some cases costs less than last year, he said.

Fighting inflation would mean being able to borrow at 3% rather than 12%, being able to buy a new car at $1,000 less rather than $400 more and being able to buy a car you won't have to "throw away every two years," said Evans.

"We can grow a garden and compete with the farmer, but we can't build our own banks and compete with the banking industry."

Nominations for the Bullet Biting Awards and inflation fighting suggestions may be mailed to the Lincoln WIN Committee, PO Box 94662, Lincoln.

HEW Mailed Complaint Charging NU With Sex Discrimination

By NANCY HICKS

A formal complaint charging the University of Nebraska with sex discrimination was mailed this week to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Ford Plan Hit By WIN Panel

Lincoln's WIN Committee, formed to fight inflation, Thursday knocked President Ford's 12-point inflation fighting plan and placed the blame for inflation on big business and huge conglomerates.

It is industry — not the little guy, not the farmer, not the consumer — who is responsible for inflation, according to Bert Evans, associate professor of economics at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He is the WIN Committee's economist.

"Industry is the prime source of raising prices," he said during a press conference Thursday.

Program Outlined

The 17-member Lincoln WIN Committee outlined its eight-point plan to fight inflation and urged citizens to vote for "those candidates who offer real inflation fighting plans."

The eight-point program included:

— Close tax loopholes for the rich.
— Break up big business monopolies.
— Cut waste in defense budget.
— Stop aid to foreign dictators.
— Stabilize farm prices and provide a liveable income for farmers.
— Reduce excessive profits.
— Eliminate wasteful use of natural resources.
— End "tax dodges" used by American businesses abroad.

The committee is also planning a free Brown Bag Banquet (bring your own dinner) at the Radisson Cornhusker Hotel Monday, Nov. 24. Bullet Biter Awards will go to local inflation fighters and $25 worth of groceries will be raffled off during the banquet.

For Ordinary Folks

The committee is not playing political games, according to State Sen. Steve Fowler, committee chairman. The committee, composed of both Republicans and Democrats, is for ordinary folks rather than large corporations, he said.

And it is big businessmen who must be the real inflation fighters, the four-member steering committee said.

Under President Ford's plan of fighting inflation through food, "farmer's incomes are going to go down, and this will hurt Nebraska," Evans said.

"The folks who are doing the work to produce the food are not profiting." In fact food at the farm level doesn't cost much more and in some cases costs less than last year, he said.

Fighting inflation would mean being able to borrow at 3% rather than 12%, being able to buy a new car at $1,000 less rather than $400 more and being able to buy a car you won't have to "throw away every two years," said Evans.

"We can grow a garden and compete with the farmer, but we can't build our own banks and compete with the banking industry."

Nominations for the Bullet Biting Awards and inflation fighting suggestions may be mailed to the Lincoln WIN Committee, PO Box 94662, Lincoln.

Ford Pledges Action On Beef, Dairy Imports

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — President Ford, campaigning for Republican farm belt congressmen, pledged Thursday "strong, effective action" to prevent foreign beef and dairy imports from adding to the financial woes of American farmers.

At an airport campaign rally for Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa, Ford said he was aware that U.S. farmers were "beset by very difficult and challenging problems" and that some "have been aggravated by unwise government actions."

He ticked off three policy decisions which he said "will relieve some of the anxiety in the industry and restore confidence among producers so that the industry can again become profitable."

The President said his decisions amount to "a pattern of strong, effective action" to help producers in the farm belt.

On the first stop of a three-day, six-state campaign swing, the President was effusive in his praise for Mayne, rated an underdog against Democratic challenger Berkley Bedell. He also plugged for GOP Senate candidate David Stanley whom the polls show trailing Democratic Rep. John Culver for the Senate seat being vacated by Harold Hughes, a Democrat.

White House officials said the policy decisions announced by Ford were prompted in part by what the administration views as the threat of possible dumping of meat on the American market by Australia.

The decisions announced by Ford were:

—A promise to impose meat import quotas or negotiate voluntary export restraint agreements with foreign suppliers if meat imports threaten to exceed a certain level.

—A pledge not to change the present system of dairy import quotas without thoroughly reviewing market conditions and listening to dairy producers.

—Notice that the administration "is not going to permit foreign dairy producers to compete against American dairymen in the U.S. market with subsidized products." If Europeans re-institute export subsidies on dairy products directed at the U.S. market, Ford said, "I will impose countervailing duties on these products."

In addition, the President said he was asking Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz to consider additional increases in government purchases of ground beef for use in the National School Lunch Program.

Ford's promises were short of what livestock and poultry men had asked in a two-hour White House meeting with Ford Wednesday. They had called for a dramatic restriction of beef imports, a review of dairy price supports and removal of certain regulations that are believed to hold back production. They also urged removal or easing of restrictions on U.S. cattle exports to Japan.

However, in Washington, C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, said "we are very pleased."

"It gives every indication that in 1975 the President doesn't intend to have large volumes of imports coming into this country in the face of expected large domestic supplies," he told a reporter.

McMillan said that with Europe and Japan having an embargo on imports "other countries can't dump their exportables on us." But he added he doesn't expect the action to have an impact on domestic prices.

Feeders Call Ceiling Idea Right Step

Omaha (UPI) — The National Livestock Feeders Association Thursday gave a lukewarm endorsement of President Ford's beef import ceiling proposal and said it was a "step in the right direction."

"We are hopeful," said Bill Jones, NLFA executive vice president, "that the President's words are an indication that the White House will no longer continue to turn a deaf ear to the problems being encountered by livestock producers and feeders.

"The need of the hour is to restore confidence," Jones said. "And while the President's assurance doesn't put the U.S. producers in the highly protective position now accorded producers in Canada, Japan, the European communities and other meat importing nations, at least the announced position is the step in the right direction."

Jones said he was pleased with Ford's assurance that the United States wouldn't become the "dumping ground for the world beef problem."

Kreuscher Says Ford Is Stalling On Help For Agriculture Industry

State Agriculture Director Glenn Kreuscher said Thursday in response to pledges made by President Ford in Sioux City it doesn't look like the Ford administration will do much for agriculture.

Ford pledged to impose beef import restraints if shipments should increase 10% above this year's levels.

"To me, that's more of the same," Kreuscher said. "That's stalling while you have our No. 1 industry in very serious straits."

Officials: 'Inflation Everybody's Fault'

Washington (AP) — Top government officials Thursday took a stance of "inflation is everybody's fault" and called for more candid discussion and less finger pointing in food-price debates.

One of the participants in a two-day, election eve conference on food marketing said, however, "this meeting itself may be typical of government-sponsored sessions which add to costs."

"What is needed is greater deliberation and thought, less speech-making and sloganeering," added Richard Lyng, president of the American Meat Institute.

Albert Rees, director of President Ford's new Council on Wage and Price Stability, opened the conference by saying that while all Americans are anxious to protect their self-interest, "perhaps in times like these we want to consider . . . other people's problems" equally.

Don Paarlberg, the Agriculture Department's top economist, followed up with a list of the ways in which government "causes more inflation than it prevents" and often is guilty of role reversal when it protects special interests to the detriment of the general interest.

And Wesley J. Liebeler, director of the Federal Trade Commission's office of policy planning, threatened an assault on state milk marketing laws that he said inflate prices and "facilitate collusion." Liebeler told the audience of about 200 industry and consumer-group representatives: "The one thing the consumer needs protection from more than anything else is the government itself."

The conference is sponsored by USDA and the Wage-Price Council.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, who departs this weekend for the 10-day World Food Conference in Rome beginning Tuesday, urged the participants "not to make this a jawboning session."

"I don't want this conference to flail the middlemen," although the 60 cents of the food dollar they get should be examined," Butz said. "I'm not talking about reducing wages or earnings. I'm talking about increasing productivity."

Rees, in his keynote address, said, "Surely this is not a time for business as usual, collective bargaining as usual, or even government as usual. We have got to do better than that.

"We must start saying what each of us is prepared to do to help lower costs, increase productivity and get this inflation under control," Rees said.

War Words Heard In Cairo

By The Associated Press

Arabs generally were jubilant Thursday over the solidarity forged at Rabat. But radical Palestinian groups scorned the summit agreements, there was fresh war talk in Cairo and Israel attacked guerrilla targets in Lebanon.

In Tel Aviv, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin affirmed Israel's resolve not to negotiate with "terror organizations . . . with them there is nothing to talk about."

Rabin told a meeting of Israeli managers in Tel Aviv that if the Arab leaders have decided to replace Jordan with the Palestine Liberation Organization as the Arab negotiator for the occupied West Bank, then there "is no one to talk to about peace on the eastern border."

In Jerusalem, Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon Thursday termed the PLO "among the most extreme of the extremists . . . It is enough to recall the chain of acts of killing and sabotage of the terror groups united in the PLO in order to be convinced that the PLO's very substance is terror."

Allon spoke at a state dinner for French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues, who arrived to a strained reception in Israel after meeting with PLO chief Yasir Arafat.

In his reply to Allon, Sauvagnargues said Israel's security depended "not on conquered territory" but on implementing U.N. decisions and entering "a whole series of peace undertakings and guarantees."

The Arab decision in Rabat, Morocco, to endorse the PLO as the sole representative of all Arab Palestinians was denounced by four die-hard guerrilla groups, the so-called Rejection Front.

The radicals attacked the PLO for dealing with King Hussein, who ousted the guerrillas from Jordan in a bloody campaign in 1970.

The Rejection Front is fiercely opposed to any negotiations with Israel. The PLO has never officially declared willingness to talk with Israel, but it is believed ready to participate in Geneva peace negotiations alongside other Arab states.

The Israeli military command said Israeli gunboats shelled the Rashidiye Palestinian refugee camp, about nine miles north of the Israeli-Lebanese border, early Thursday. The Arabs said five civilians were killed and 13 were injured.

The command described the attack as part of Israel's "systematic offensive war against the terrorists." It was the first Israeli naval raid since May 19.

The semiofficial daily Al Ahram reported in Cairo that Egyptian Premier Abdel Aziz Hegazy had called the country's "battle committees" to review defense plans and "prepare the masses once again for the possibility of a new Middle East war."

Egypt's War Minister Ahmed Ismail met Thursday with high-ranking military commanders to review "the current situation," Cairo radio reported. These included the "effectiveness of prepared military plans for meeting any eventualities."

The conference pledged that Saudi Arabia and other oil-rich Arab states would provide Egypt and Syria each $1 billion, Jordan $300 million and the PLO $50 million in "confrontation money" in each of the next four years.

CONFRONTATION . . . youths face South Vietnamese riot police.

Many Injured In Police Show Of Force

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Scores of persons were reported injured Thursday in a strong show of force by police to halt a two-month-old wave of antigovernment demonstrations.

Police moved shortly after midnight on rallying points for various groups planning a massive march in downtown Saigon. Clashes broke out as police arrested or sealed off the demonstrators.

The clampdown marked an escalation in police tactics against the growing opposition movement which began in early September with charges of corruption aimed at the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu. Previously police had been relatively restrained.

Dozens of secret police operating at six scattered points around the capital took part in many of the scuffles. The most serious was a rock-throwing melee at a Roman Catholic church where opposition leaders reported 50 demonstrators and an unknown number of plain-clothesmen were injured.

In the predawn hours, uniformed police blocked off dozens of streets leading to the National Assembly building. The building was the goal of opposition groups which have sprung up in the past two months demanding Thieu's ouster, an end to corruption and the restoration of civil liberties and press freedom.

Thursday's police clampdown started with the arrest of a group of Vietnamese newsmen and opposition deputies gathering near the assembly building shortly after the midnight curfew. It continued until early afternoon as other groups clashed with police and tried to break out of their cordons to head for the downtown area.

In the past police had respected the parliamentary immunity of National Assembly deputies to engage in antigovernment activities.

Kissinger Offers Wheat, But No Weapons

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has offered Pakistan some 100,000 tons of wheat but, keeping his promise to India, no lethal weapons.

A joint communique issued Thursday after a 2½-hour session with Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto made no mention of sophisticated arms that some U.S. defense analysts see as a necessary balance to the heavy flow of Soviet weapons to India.

Later, at a dinner, Bhutto advised newsmen and others to "forget the headlines. I say I am satisfied."

He added pointedly: "We have a good relationship with America. When you have a good relationship it does not go up and down. It just goes up."

The comment was taken as an ironic play on Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's acknowledgement during Kissinger's visit earlier this week that relations with the United States, as with any two individuals, "go up and down."

Kissinger assured Bhutto in a toast that "the United States has an interest in a strong, independent and sovereign Pakistan." He said he and the prime minister talked as old, constant and reliable friends.

Boston Guardsmen To Be Cut Back

Boston (AP) — National Guard troops called up three weeks ago because of violence in Boston schools, will be cut back by two-thirds starting next week, a spokesman said Thursday.

The National Guard spokesman said Gov. Francis W. Sargent ordered the number of guardsmen on active duty be reduced from 450 to 150 beginning Sunday.

Violence broke out when schools opened Sept. 12. Many whites in the South Boston area boycotted schools in protest of the court ordered busing and a number of buses were stoned.

Pro- and anti-busing groups staged rallies as racial tension ran high throughout the city.

On Oct. 15, Sargent called up the guard after a stabbing and fights at Hyde Park High School.

Asian Scientists Optimistic

Hyderabad, India — Scientists in Asia are confident that rice harvests can increase faster than the needs of the rice-dependent population which is expected to double by the year 2000. Their confidence is based on a revolution in rice-growing techniques that continue to spread in Asia, offering what they see as the only way of escape from an agriculture of mere survival. Their optimism, however, is questioned by observers of the rice-growing tropics.

Ford Pledges Action On Beef, Dairy Imports

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — President Ford, campaigning for Republican farm belt congressmen, pledged Thursday "strong, effective action" to prevent foreign beef and dairy imports from adding to the financial woes of American farmers.

At an airport campaign rally for Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa, Ford said he was aware that U.S. farmers were "beset by very difficult and challenging problems" and that some "have been aggravated by unwise government actions."

He ticked off three policy decisions which he said "will relieve some of the anxiety in the industry and restore confidence among producers so that the industry can again become profitable."

The President said his decisions amount to "a pattern of strong, effective action" to help producers in the farm belt.

On the first stop of a three-day, six-state campaign swing, the President was effusive in his praise for Mayne, rated an underdog against Democratic challenger Berkley Bedell. He also plugged for GOP Senate candidate David Stanley whom the polls show trailing Democratic Rep. John Culver for the Senate seat being vacated by Harold Hughes, a Democrat.

White House officials said the policy decisions announced by Ford were prompted in part by what the administration views as the threat of possible dumping of meat on the American market by Australia.

The decisions announced by Ford were:

—A promise to impose meat import quotas or negotiate voluntary export restraint agreements with foreign suppliers if meat imports threaten to exceed a certain level.

—A pledge not to change the present system of dairy import quotas without thoroughly reviewing market conditions and listening to dairy producers.

—Notice that the administration "is not going to permit foreign dairy producers to compete against American dairymen in the U.S. market with subsidized products." If Europeans re-institute export subsidies on dairy products directed at the U.S. market, Ford said, "I will impose countervailing duties on these products."

In addition, the President said he was asking Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz to consider additional increases in government purchases of ground beef for use in the National School Lunch Program.

Ford's promises were short of what livestock and poultry men had asked in a two-hour White House meeting with Ford Wednesday. They had called for a dramatic restriction of beef imports, a review of dairy price supports and removal of certain regulations that are believed to hold back production. They also urged removal or easing of restrictions on U.S. cattle exports to Japan.

However, in Washington, C. W. McMillan, executive vice president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, said "we are very pleased."

"It gives every indication that in 1975 the President doesn't intend to have large volumes of imports coming into this country in the face of expected large domestic supplies," he told a reporter.

McMillan said that with Europe and Japan having an embargo on imports "other countries can't dump their exportables on us." But he added he doesn't expect the action to have an impact on domestic prices.

Feeders Call Ceiling Idea Right Step

Omaha (UPI) — The National Livestock Feeders Association Thursday gave a lukewarm endorsement of President Ford's beef import ceiling proposal and said it was a "step in the right direction."

"We are hopeful," said Bill Jones, NLFA executive vice president, "that the President's words are an indication that the White House will no longer continue to turn a deaf ear to the problems being encountered by livestock producers and feeders.

"The need of the hour is to restore confidence," Jones said. "And while the President's assurance doesn't put the U.S. producers in the highly protective position now accorded producers in Canada, Japan, the European communities and other meat importing nations, at least the announced position is the step in the right direction."

Jones said he was pleased with Ford's assurance that the United States wouldn't become the "dumping ground for the world beef problem."

Kreuscher Says Ford Is Stalling On Help For Agriculture Industry

State Agriculture Director Glenn Kreuscher said Thursday in response to pledges made by President Ford in Sioux City it doesn't look like the Ford administration will do much for agriculture.

Ford pledged to impose beef import restraints if shipments should increase 10% above this year's levels.

"To me, that's more of the same," Kreuscher said. "That's stalling while you have our No. 1 industry in very serious straits."

Officials: 'Inflation Everybody's Fault'

Washington (AP) — Top government officials Thursday took a stance of "inflation is everybody's fault" and called for more candid discussion and less finger pointing in food-price debates.

One of the participants in a two-day, election eve conference on food marketing said, however, "this meeting itself may be typical of government-sponsored sessions which add to costs."

"What is needed is greater deliberation and thought, less speech-making and sloganeering," added Richard Lyng, president of the American Meat Institute.

Albert Rees, director of President Ford's new Council on Wage and Price Stability, opened the conference by saying that while all Americans are anxious to protect their self-interest, "perhaps in times like these we want to consider . . . other people's problems" equally.

Don Paarlberg, the Agriculture Department's top economist, followed up with a list of the ways in which government "causes more inflation than it prevents" and often is guilty of role reversal when it protects special interests to the detriment of the general interest.

And Wesley J. Liebeler, director of the Federal Trade Commission's office of policy planning, threatened an assault on state milk marketing laws that he said inflate prices and "facilitate collusion." Liebeler told the audience of about 200 industry and consumer-group representatives: 'The one thing the consumer needs protection from more than anything else is the government itself."

The conference is sponsored by USDA and the Wage-Price Council.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, who departs this weekend for the 10-day World Food Conference in Rome beginning Tuesday, urged the participants "not to make this a jawboning session."

"I don't want this conference to flail the middlemen," although the 60 cents of the food dollar they get should be examined," Butz said. "I'm not talking about reducing wages or earnings. I'm talking about increasing productivity."

Rees, in his keynote address, said, "Surely this is not a time for business as usual, collective bargaining as usual, or even government as usual. We have got to do better than that.

"We must start saying what each of us is prepared to do to help lower costs, increase productivity and get this inflation under control," Rees said.

NRD Official Tells Panel Water Use Laws Needed

By United Press International

A natural resource district official told a legislative committee Thursday there doesn't seem to be any way around legislation regulating Nebraska's water supplies.

"Some sort of water management practices are going to have to be provided by statute," said Lee Orton, director of the State Association of Natural Resource Districts.

He made the comment during a hearing conducted by the Legislature's Public Works Committee. Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, committee chairman, said his group was originally scheduled to act Thursday on recommendations to the 1975 Legislature.

However, he said, only he and two other committee members were present so an executive session will be held in the future to work on legislative recommendations.

As to specific management practices the Legislature may have to involve itself in, Orton said a mixture of four different ideas already in the hands of the committee would probably have to be adopted.

Those included water allocation, control of wells, runoff controls and re-use requirements.

"We need to know where those wells are and who owns them," he said.

That way, Orton told the committee, if well use regulations are ever adopted, enforcement would be possible.

The committee was told earlier that at least 10% of the wells in the state are not registered now. Orton, however, said he thought that estimate "might be a little low."

Structural Failure Blamed For Collapse

Kearney (AP) — Damage has been estimated at $30,000 to $50,000 following the collapse of the roof on Bill's Liquor Store in downtown Kearney Wednesday night. The estimate comes from store owner Bill Knoll. The roof collapse caused the walls to bulge. Authorities said there was no evidence of an explosion and that structural failure apparently was the cause.

Marian Banks and Wanda Cummings will be promoting the annual 10-day event, scheduled for June 30-July 9, 1975.

Wildlife Club To Interview Lab Hunters

Hunters at the University of Nebraska field laboratory at Mead will be interviewed by members of the University Wildlife Club in an effort to learn more about game management under farming conditions.

Dr. Ron Case of the Poultry and Wildlife Department said the dozen members of the club will be on hand during the hunting season working with game and parks personnel.

"It will give our students an opportunity to aid in learning about game production, in determining how good the production of pheasants was this year, teach them how to identify birds by age and teach them game management techniques," he said.

The club members have put up some 250 signs to aid hunters in locating restricted areas on the field lab. Some six sections of the 9,400 acres are restricted because of the presence of livestock, buildings or experiments deemed to be too delicate to expose to hunters.

The only requirement to hunt at the field lab is to sign in and out at the headquarters building.

Any person with a valid hunting license is eligible and the only weapon permitted is a shotgun, according to Case.

Nebraska Group May Endorse Milk Suit

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

The Nebraska Farmers Union will probably endorse an effort by the Minnesota Farmers Union to force Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz to raise the price of producing milk to the level required by law.

Louis Wiebe, president of the Nebraska Farmers Union, said the effort was aimed at getting the administration to raise the price of milk to 80% of parity, which is a requirement of the dairy price support law.

The suit was filed as a national class action suit on behalf of all dairymen by Elmer Runke of Hutchinson, Minn., and Donald Nelson of Ellsworth, Wis.

The Department of Agriculture set the support level for the marketing year on April 1, 1974, at $6.57 per hundred pounds, deemed to be the 80% of parity required by law.

Cy Carpenter, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, said, "Inflation and rising operating costs have increased the 80% of parity price to $7.10. The present price is now 74% of parity."

Carpenter charged that "Secretary Butz is violating the intent of the law by allowing farm milk prices to lag below the statutory support level, by refusing to raise milk supports to compensate for changes in the cost of production and by failing to protect consumers by taking no consideration as to maintaining productive capacity sufficient to meet future needs for milk and dairy products."

Lincoln's Statehouse Delegation

Three members of Lincoln's generally high-performance delegation to the Nebraska Legislature seek re-election next Tuesday. The Star believes that all three are worthy of new four-year terms.

In northeast Lincoln's 26th District, Sen. Wally Barnett is seeking his second term in a contest with Jim Kubert, a 31-year-old realtor who has been active in Lancaster County Democratic politics.

Barnett's use of his legislative position to meddle in Lincoln city government matters has been unappreciated by many in this community. But in doing so, he has spoken on behalf of others with different views and overall he has listened to and been representative of his constituents to a greater extent than many of his colleagues. Barnett's modest record of legislative achievement includes leadership in such areas as juvenile justice, correctional reform, and fire and traffic safety. He also supported LB772, the state aid to education bill which also is up for voter approval next week.

On the basis of Barnett's record and his demonstrated desire to work hard on behalf of the people in his district — effectively sometimes, and sometimes not — The Star sees little reason for the voters to turn Sen. Barnett out of office this election.

The residents of the 28th District in east-central Lincoln face a difficult choice because of the competency of both candidates.

Marge Schlitt has mounted a strong door-to-door campaign through the district expressing her views in behalf of tax reform, stricter control of lobbyists, strict campaign financing laws, more action on correctional reform, environmental and conservation measures, improved child care and women's rights. Ms. Schlitt is a formidable candidate and her dedication to her programs leaves little doubt that she would be a hard-working legislator if elected.

But Schlitt is running against one of the true leaders of the Legislature. Two-term Sen. Roland Luedtke is hard-working and effective and as chairman of the Judiciary Committee has been involved in the tough problems facing society which often times demand unpopular solutions.

Luedtke has been in the forefront in the area of correctional reform and he deserves far more credit than Schlitt is willing to give him. He has been largely responsible for penal reform advances to date.

But Luedtke is far from a one-issue senator. He has taken an active role in legislating on a number of wide-ranging issues, among them, court reorganization, revisions in the probate code, the state's building program, voter registration and teacher retirement benefits. Sen. Luedtke's overall record has been outstanding.

Sen. Harold Simpson in the 46th District in north Lincoln is unopposed for re-election. But voters should be reminded, if need be, of Simpson's stature in the Legislature. He is well-respected, as reflected now in his standing as a leading candidate for speaker of the Legislature next session. Simpson knows the rules, does the best job of presiding of any of the senators when called upon and would provide the strength that has been lacking in that position.

The Star believes that Sens. Barnett, Luedtke and Simpson are deserving of re-election.

Data Already Available

A city planning department official said this week that a city-county housing study begun two years ago and partially financed with federal funds will be incorporated into a new community development program now being hammered together by an ad hoc task force as a precondition for more federal funds.

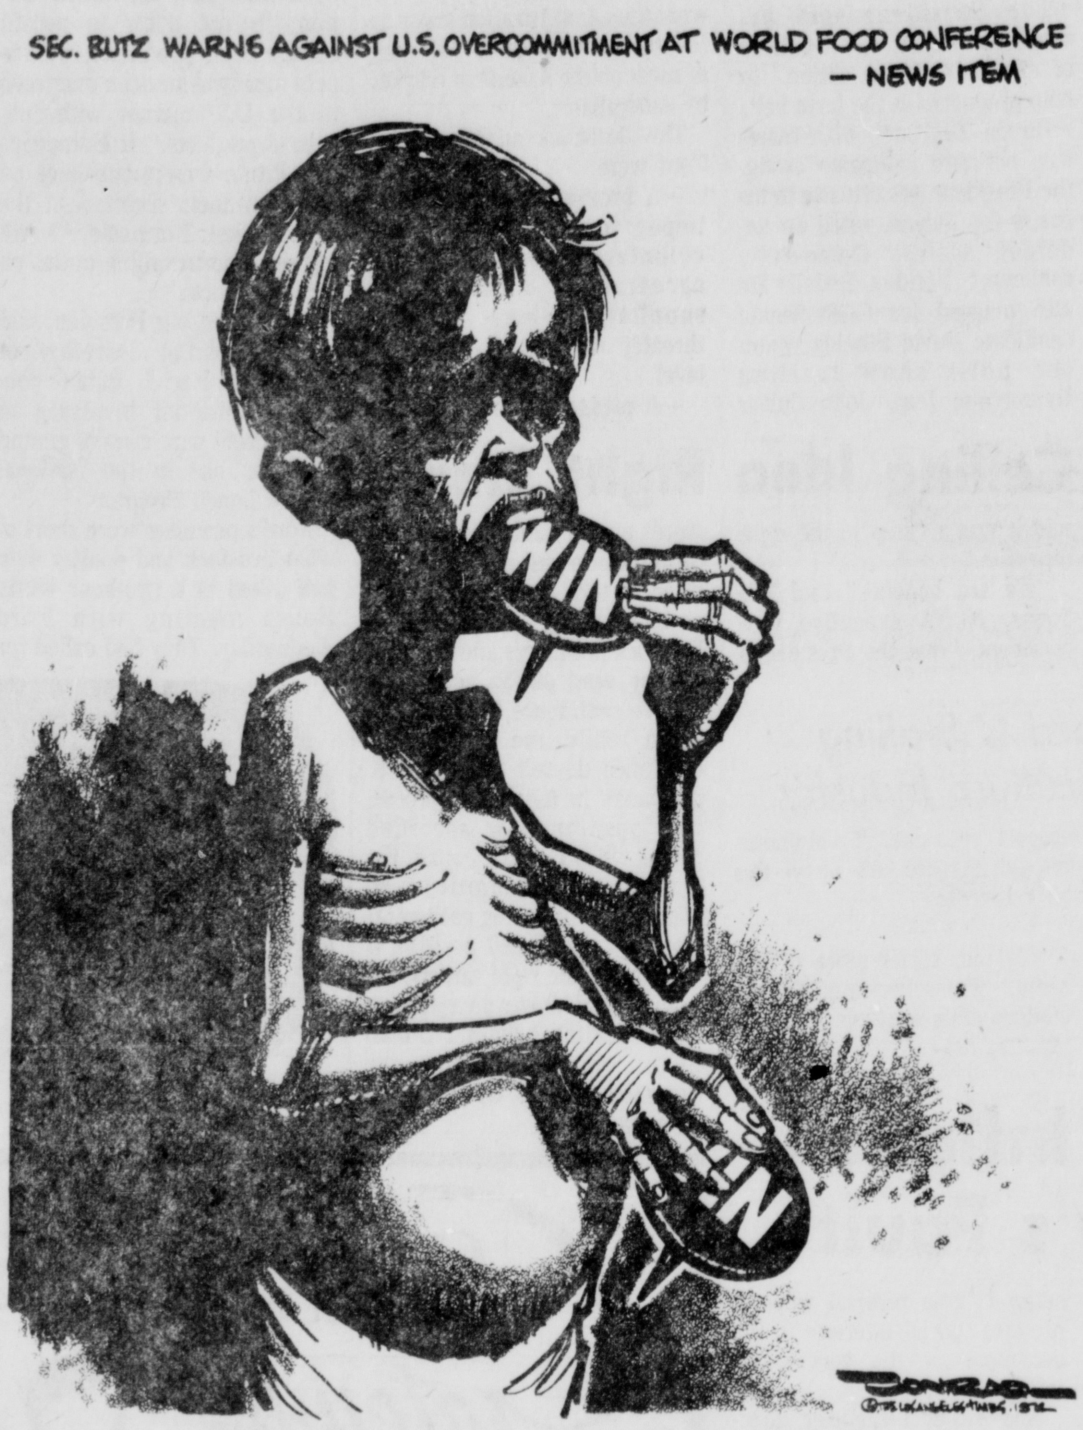
We hope the housing intelligence gathered in the past two years will serve a useful purpose in this new endeavor.

As part of the application for hoped-for federal community development money, the task force must prepare a housing assistance plan, including a survey of housing conditions in the city; an assessment of the needs of low and moderate income families; a determination of the location of proposed new housing units and a statement of the estimated number of houses needed to be built or rehabilitated.

Much, and probably most, of that information should already be available with only some updating needed. If the task force and its consultants insist on running a new housing study, a whale of a lot of time and effort, not to mention money, will have been wasted.

The Grim Specter Of World Hunger

ANTHONY LEWIS



SEC. BUTZ WARNS AGAINST U.S. OVERCOMMITMENT AT WORLD FOOD CONFERENCE — NEWS ITEM
WIN
CONRAD

BOSTON — Secretary of State Kissinger was explaining recently why the United States government had been so slow to understand the world food problem. "Until 1972," he said, "we thought we had inexhaustible food surpluses and the fact that we have to shape our policy deliberately to relate ourselves to the rest of the world did not really arise until 1973."

That a man as intelligent as Henry Kissinger could make such a statement shows the resistance of the human mind — not least the official mind — to unpleasant truths. For there had been warnings over many years, from respected sources that the world was approaching food shortages of crisis dimensions.

Ten, even 20 years ago, the demographers were predicting that the zooming world population curve would soon intersect the slowly-rising one of agricultural production. In 1963 Lester Brown, then a young Agriculture Department economist, showed that the underdeveloped countries, once food exporters, had become large importers. The likely consequences were spelled out in grim detail in 1967 in a book by William and Paul Paddock: "Famine 1975!"

In the last year the signs of a coming food crisis have been visible to all but the willfully blind. Early last winter experts said that fertilizer supplies would be extremely short, and that has happened. The students of long-term weather trends saw the danger of drought in this country and of a damaging southward shift of rainbearing winds in the southern hemisphere; there has been evidence of just such trends. Lester Brown, now with the Overseas Development Council, forecasts the largest food deficit in history in South Asia; that disaster is at hand.

The official primarily responsible for American food policy is, of course, not Kissinger but the secretary of agriculture, Earl Butz. In the last year the disparity between Butz's statements and the realities of the world food outlook has become almost lunatic.

Last April Butz spoke of U.S. agriculture as "virtually disaster-proof" — a Pollyana view soon dispelled by nature in late rain and early frost. In May, commenting on the possibility of starvation in large areas of the world, he said: "Hunger is relative — if your larder is empty, you cut back some." That at a time when 460 million people in the world are estimated to suffer from acute malnutrition.

In July, rejecting suggestions that Americans release grain for the hungry by eating less meat, Butz said they should eat more. "Is the world headed for starvation?" he asked. "Have trade patterns around the world been so disrupted that food cannot be moved effectively from surplus areas to deficit areas? . . . The answer is a great big no!"

The World Food Conference about to convene in Rome is taking place precisely because serious men, among them Kissinger, now see the threat of starvation on a scale never before experienced by humanity. And a fundamental issue facing the conference is the imbalance of trade and wealthy in the world that makes it impossible for the poor countries to feed their millions.

The responsibility is not that of the United States alone. For years just about every government has preferred to pretend that there was no long-term food problem, and joint action is necessary now that the pretending has stopped.

But the United States still is of special importance. Not because we have a man who sounds so asinine and stonehearted as the secretary of agriculture and head of our Rome delegation. But because his policy has pursued such narrow ends.

American policy for years has encouraged meat consumption in other countries so they would buy our grain — a change in diet terribly wasteful of grain supplies. Our trade and pricing policies have also been designed to create reliable cash customers for grain. Our shipments of food and fertilizer have been increasingly used for short-run political ends.

If hundreds of millions are not going to die of starvation over the next decade, mechanisms will have to be developed to plan for food supplies on a world basis — and to pay for enormous shipments from the rich few to the poor many. That is the challenge. It is forbidding, but only if it is met will the world have time for the longer-run hopes of population control and new agricultural developments.

There are those who think that it is already too late, that mass starvation cannot be avoided. That may be. But it is necessary in any event to try. After World War I, in a disrupted Europe, Maynard Keynes wrote:

"Men will not always die quietly. For starvation, which brings to some lethargy and a helpless despair, drives other temperaments to the nervous instability of hysteria . . . These in their distress may overturn the remnants of organization, and submerge civilization itself in their attempts to satisfy desperately the overwhelming needs of the individual. This is the danger against which all our resources and courage and idealism must now cooperate."

On Skunks And Politics, But Mostly Politics

Small Striped Menace

Lincoln, Neb.

For a split second this morning on awakening, I thought I was a kid back on the farm as the pungent odor of skunk came through my open window. Those years in the country, we were so often forcibly aware of this small stripped fellow.

Going to school, the boys had run their skunk traps. With the big stove going full blast, the boys giggled as the teacher and the rest of us held our noses in great displeasure.

This morning I went down for the morning paper and met the young boy who delivers. We spoke of our visitor. He said he had two papers yet to deliver, but we decided it better to be safe than sorry.

As he left, he called back: "My mother has plenty of tomato juice!" I smiled. In the good ol' days, we didn't know about that remedy. Ah, progress!

Lincoln, Neb.

I will vote against referendum measure No. 300, which is LB 772, the state aid school bill.

The State of Nebraska is paying $55 million now for school support. In order to reach the $156 million, the new budget required by LB 772, the state would have to increase the sale-income tax rates by more than 40% effective Jan. 1, 1975. This would really cut the paychecks the working class take home.

LB 772 does not insure a reduction in property taxes for all property owners in Nebraska.

I believe the schools should be kept under local controls where people can help set their school taxes and help decide the type of education they want and need.

We are being asked to cut expenses in as many ways as possible and to conserve, etc. Why shouldn't this apply to our schools also?

Hamilton, Bourne Campaigns

Lincoln, Neb.

I have been watching the county commissioner race between Bruce Hamilton and Kenneth Bourne and have concluded that Mr. Hamilton would do the better job. This conclusion is based primarily on the kinds of campaigns the two candidates are running. Mr. Bourne's campaign has concentrated exclusively upon the use of yard signs and newspaper ads, as far as I have been able to observe.

While Mr. Hamilton has had yard signs and newspaper ads, too, he has also done a number of other things. My house has been personally contacted by one of his canvassers who left me with some of his materials. I understand that trying to contact as many households in the county as possible is one of his major campaign goals. In addition, I have seen articles in the local papers outlining Mr. Hamilton's positions on many issues.

It is this reaching out that impresses me.

Then he jumped onto Gerald Ford's coattails, calling him "Mr. Clean." He approved of President Ford's complete about-face in the full and complete pardon of Richard Nixon, who was more interested in preserving his questionable privileges than our rights.

With the ridiculous report of a 1200% increase in profits after taxes by the Great Western Sugar Company, we suggest that President Ford — "Mr. Clean" — go plant a WIN button on Great Western's flagstaff.

Their exercise in make-believe statesmanship and the political stunt of the cornerstone-laying and taking full credit for the federal building in Lincoln just before election leaves much to be desired.

The increase of 1200% profits of a staple item such as sugar has increased inflation more than any worker's wage increase during the past five years.

Labor, The Monster

As usual with a political year, there are those who try to scare all the voters on the horrors of labor. Having been a member of a union for over 25 years, it is always rather amusing how terrible the money from labor is in a political campaign, while it is received with open arms by the church, United Fund, Boy Scouts, the tax collector, etc.

The other day one of the weekly papers I receive had the following in the form of a coupon. I thought it might be worth repeating:

"FREE RIDER'S CARD — I am opposed to all unions. Therefore, I am opposed to all benefits that unions have won through the years: paid vacations, paid holidays, seniority rights, wage increases, pension and insurance plans, safety laws, workmen's compensation laws, sick leave, Social Security, time and one-half for overtime for hours in excess of eight in one day and 40 in one week, unemployment benefits, job security. I refuse to accept any benefits that will be won by union negotiations with — and I hereby authorize and direct the employer to withhold the amount of the union-won benefits from my paycheck each week and donate it to charity. Vulnerability Of Politics

Lincoln, Neb.

I have watched the Republican Party for years, and reached certain conclusions. It is a tragic party because it stands for nothing good. It wants to be in office and will go to any lengths to get there. It wants to serve its master, the corporations, and be richly rewarded for this devotion.

Since it won't attack the substantive problems, it has no case and must make up in noise and emotion for its basic shallowness.

With the auto industry, cattle feeder, farmer, Franklin National Bank, Penn Railroad, Lockheed Aircraft, Pan Am airlines and consumers reeling, it should make it clear that special advantages to others are not the key to prosperity. The key to prosperity is an even balance for everybody and especially the masses because if they do not have any money, there is nobody to buy the products.

Locally they follow the same procedure. At election time, only Marvel is against the sales tax but when the next best thing, a deletion of sales tax on food, is to be voted on, he votes against it. He knows very well he would never get the sales tax taken off and it is just a sop to buy votes. Most of his moves in the Legislature haven't been for the public good but to embarrass the governor and make him vulnerable for the campaign.

Counting The Real Riches

Wilber, Neb.

In these trying times, with inflation engulfing us, shortages of all kinds, wars, disagreement, confusion and unrest, many people especially the poor and low-income families are finding it nearly impossible to make ends meet. And there seems no end in sight.

But a body just has to take a few minutes out to look about him and see what he has. For that time, he can feel like a rich man, his spirits will lift and he will find the strength and the courage to keep going, get back into the old ball-game and slug it out to the end.

As for myself, I find riches in the simple things that we take almost for granted . . . a bowl of chili, a cup of hot chocolate and a warm crackling fire on a cold winter day . . . the laughter of my child, the green rolling hills, the tall brome grass waving in a summer breeze . . . horses grazing in the pasture, the cool shade of a cottonwood tree, the colored leaves of autumn . . . the cry of the wild ducks and geese flying high in the sky, heading for their southern nest . . . the crunch of dry leaves, the shining stars and the big old harvest moon . . . the warmth of summer and the green grass under my bare feet . . .

All these things, inflation cannot touch and there are no high taxes on them. These things make me rich, even with a patch on my pants, the wolf getting closer to the door each day, and an empty pocketbook.

Compares Exon, Marvel

As a taxpayer of Nebraska, I am appalled at the expenditure system supported by Governor Exon. His system makes it impossible to trace our tax dollars. One of his main campaign issues in 1968 was that of criticizing Tiemann for having too large a general fund — $33 million. Now, under the Exon administration, the general fund has amassed a total of $66 million — twice that of Tiemann's.

Senator Marvel, however, supports a budget system that makes it possible to see where every cent of each tax dollar goes. He believes we should not be taxed for more money than is needed to efficiently operate our state government. Senator Marvel is running to put honesty and planning into the Statehouse.

I am impressed with Senator Marvel's pledge of openness.

Lincoln's Statehouse Delegation

Three members of Lincoln's generally high-performance delegation to the Nebraska Legislature seek re-election next Tuesday. The Star believes that all three are worthy of new four-year terms.

In northeast Lincoln's 26th District, Sen. Wally Barnett is seeking his second term in a contest with Jim Kubert, a 31-year-old realtor who has been active in Lancaster County Democratic politics.

Barnett's use of his legislative position to meddle in Lincoln city government matters has been unappreciated by many in this community. But in doing so, he has spoken on behalf of others with different views and overall he has listened to and been representative of his constituents to a greater extent than many of his colleagues. Barnett's modest record of legislative achievement includes leadership in such areas as juvenile justice, correctional reform, and fire and traffic safety. He also supported LB772, the state aid to education bill which also is up for voter approval next week.

On the basis of Barnett's record and his demonstrated desire to work hard on behalf of the people in his district — effectively sometimes, and sometimes not — The Star sees little reason for the voters to turn Sen. Barnett out of office this election.

The residents of the 28th District in east-central Lincoln face a difficult choice because of the competency of both candidates.

Marge Schlitt has mounted a strong door-to-door campaign through the district expressing her views in behalf of tax reform, stricter control of lobbyists, strict campaign financing laws, more action on correctional reform, environmental and conservation measures, improved child care and women's rights. Ms. Schlitt is a formidable candidate and her dedication to her programs leaves little doubt that she would be a hard-working legislator if elected.

But Schlitt is running against one of the true leaders of the Legislature. Two-term Sen. Roland Luedtke is hard-working and effective and as chairman of the Judiciary Committee has been involved in the tough problems facing society which often times demand unpopular solutions.

Luedtke has been in the forefront in the area of correctional reform and he deserves far more credit than Schlitt is willing to give him. He has been largely responsible for penal reform advances to date.

But Luedtke is far from a one-issue senator. He has taken an active role in legislating on a number of wide-ranging issues, among them, court reorganization, revisions in the probate code, the state's building program, voter registration and teacher retirement benefits. Sen. Luedtke's overall record has been outstanding.

Sen. Harold Simpson in the 46th District in north Lincoln is unopposed for re-election. But voters should be reminded, if need be, of Simpson's stature in the Legislature. He is well-respected, as reflected now in his standing as a leading candidate for speaker of the Legislature next session. Simpson knows the rules, does the best job of presiding of any of the senators when called upon and would provide the strength that has been lacking in that position.

The Star believes that Sens. Barnett, Luedtke and Simpson are deserving of re-election.

Data Already Available

A city planning department official said this week that a city-county housing study begun two years ago and partially financed with federal funds will be incorporated into a new community development program now being hammered together by an ad hoc task force as a precondition for more federal funds.

We hope the housing intelligence gathered in the past two years will serve a useful purpose in this new endeavor.

As part of the application for hoped-for federal community development money, the task force must prepare a housing assistance plan, including a survey of housing conditions in the city; an assessment of the needs of low and moderate income families; a determination of the location of proposed new housing units and a statement of the estimated number of houses needed to be built or rehabilitated.

Much, and probably most, of that information should already be available with only some updating needed. If the task force and its consultants insist on running a new housing study, a whale of a lot of time and effort, not to mention money, will have been wasted.

The Grim Specter Of World Hunger

ANTHONY LEWIS

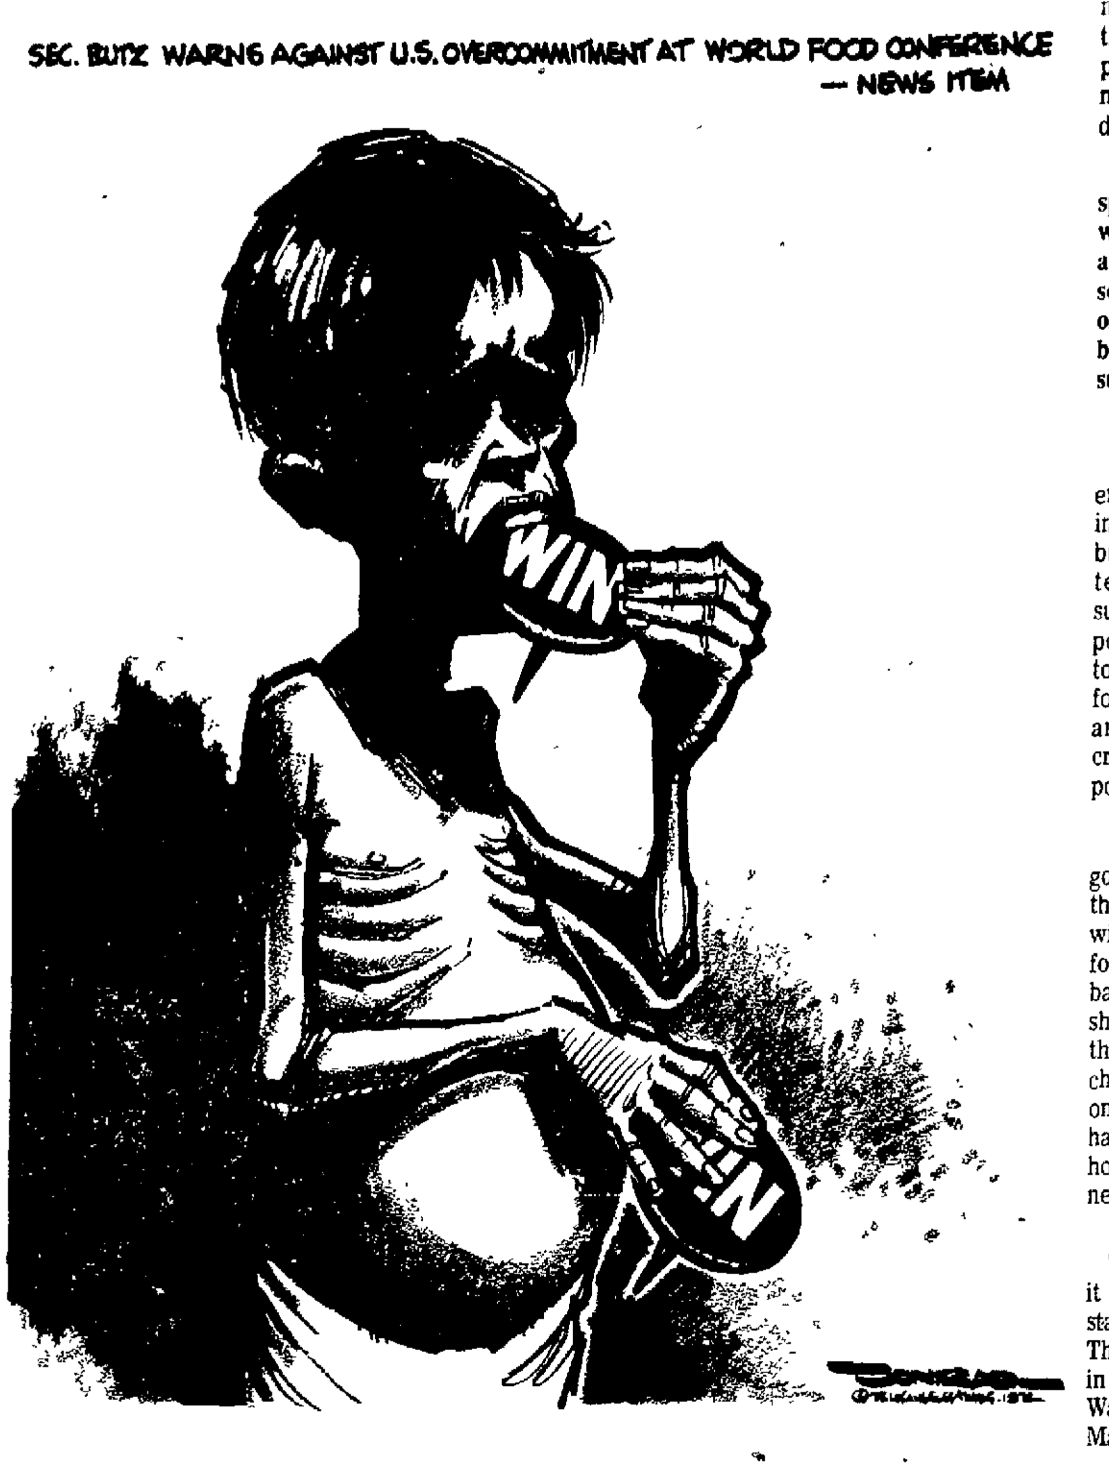
BOSTON — Secretary of State Kissinger was explaining recently why the United States government had been so slow to understand the world food problem. "Until 1972," he said, "we thought we had inexhaustible food surpluses and the fact that we have to shape our policy deliberately to relate ourselves to the rest of the world did not really arise until 1973."

That a man as intelligent as Henry Kissinger could make such a statement shows the resistance of the human mind — not least the official mind — to unpleasant truths. For there had been warnings over many years, from respected sources that the world was approaching food shortages of crisis dimensions.

Ten, even 20 years ago, the demographers were predicting that the zooming world population curve would soon intersect the slowly-rising one of agricultural production. In 1963 Lester Brown, then a young Agriculture Department economist, showed that the underdeveloped countries, once food exporters, had become large importers. The likely consequences were spelled out in grim detail in 1967 in a book by William and Paul Paddock: "Famine 1975!"

☆ ☆ ☆

In the last year the signs of a coming food crisis have been visible to all but the willfully blind. Early last winter experts said that fertilizer supplies would be extremely short, and that has happened. The students of long-term weather trends saw the danger of drought in this country and of a damaging southward shift of rainbearing winds in the southern hemisphere; there has been evidence of just such trends. Lester Brown, now with the Overseas Development Council, forecasts the largest food deficit in history in South Asia; that disaster is at hand.



SEC. BUTZ WARNS AGAINST U.S. OVERCOMMITMENT AT WORLD FOOD CONFERENCE — NEWS ITEM

The official primarily responsible for American food policy is, of course, not Kissinger but the secretary of agriculture, Earl Butz. In the last year the disparity between Butz's statements and the realities of the world food outlook has become almost lunatic.

Last April Butz spoke of U.S. agriculture as "virtually disaster-proof" — a Pollyana view soon dispelled by nature in late rain and early frost. In May, commenting on the possibility of starvation in large areas of the world, he said: "Hunger is relative — if your larder is empty, you cut back some." That at a time when 460 million people in the world are estimated to suffer from acute malnutrition.

In July, rejecting suggestions that Americans release grain for the hungry by eating less meat, Butz said they should eat more. "Is the world headed for starvation?" he asked. "Have trade patterns around the world been so disrupted that food cannot be moved effectively from surplus areas to deficit areas? . . . The answer is a great big no!"

The World Food Conference about to convene in Rome is taking place precisely because serious men, among them Kissinger, now see the threat of starvation on a scale never before experienced by humanity. And a fundamental issue facing the conference is the imbalance of trade and wealthy in the world that makes it impossible for the poor countries to feed their millions.

The responsibility is not that of the United States alone. For years just about every government has preferred to pretend that there was no long-term food problem, and joint action is necessary now that the pretending has stopped.

But the United States still is of special importance. Not because we have a man who sounds so asinine and stonehearted as the secretary of agriculture and head of our Rome delegation. But because his policy has pursued such narrow ends.

American policy for years has encouraged meat consumption in other countries so they would buy our grain — a change in diet terribly wasteful of grain supplies. Our trade and pricing policies have also been designed to create reliable cash customers for grain. Our shipments of food and fertilizer have been increasingly used for short-run political ends.

If hundreds of millions are not going to die of starvation over the next decade, mechanisms will have to be developed to plan for food supplies on a world basis — and to pay for enormous shipments from the rich few to the poor many. That is the challenge. It is forbidding, but only if it is met will the world have time for the longer-run hopes of population control and new agricultural developments.

There are those who think that it is already too late, that mass starvation cannot be avoided. That may be. But it is necessary in any event to try. After World War I, in a disrupted Europe, Maynard Keynes wrote:

"Men will not always die quietly. For starvation, which brings to some lethargy and a helpless despair, drives other temperaments to the nervous instability of hysteria . . . These in their distress may overturn the remnants of organization, and submerge civilization itself in their attempts to satisfy desperately the overwhelming needs of the individual. This is the danger against which all our resources and courage and idealism must now cooperate."

NRD Official Tells Panel Water Use Laws Needed

By United Press International

A natural resource district official told a legislative committee Thursday there doesn't seem to be any way around legislation regulating Nebraska's water supplies.

"Some sort of water management practices are going to have to be provided by statute," said Lee Orton, director of the State Association of Natural Resource Districts.

He made the comment during a hearing conducted by the Legislature's Public Works Committee. Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, committee chairman, said his group was originally scheduled to act Thursday on recommendations to the 1975 Legislature.

However, he said, only he and two other committee members were present so an executive session will be held in the future to work on legislative recommendations.

As to specific management practices the Legislature may have to involve itself in, Orton said a mixture of four different ideas already in the hands of the committee would probably have to be adopted.

Those included water allocation, control of wells, runoff controls and re-use requirements.

"We need to know where those wells are and who owns them," he said.

That way, Orton told the committee, if well use regulations are ever adopted, enforcement would be possible.

The committee was told earlier that at least 10% of the wells in the state are not registered now. Orton, however, said he thought that estimate "might be a little low."

Fremont — Thirty-two craftsmen from Nebraska and surrounding states will be exhibiting at the fourth annual Invitational Creative Crafts Fair to be held in the Midland College Hopkins Arena this Saturday and Sunday. Crafts will include glass blowing, pottery, woodworking, doll making, weaving, macrame, batik, jewelry and metal work in sculpture, according to Mildred Traeder, instructor in art at Midland who is serving as director of the fair.

Structural Failure Blamed For Collapse

Kearney (AP) — Damage has been estimated at $30,000 to $50,000 following the collapse of the roof on Bill's Liquor Store in downtown Kearney Wednesday night. The estimate comes from store owner Bill Knoll. The roof collapse caused the walls to bulge. Authorities said there was no evidence of an explosion and that structural failure apparently was the cause.

Volunteers Aid Holdrege Police Force

Holdrege (UPI) — Reinforcements were added to the depleted Holdrege police force during Halloween activities Thursday night. About 30 volunteers from the Holdrege Volunteer Fire Department, the Jaycees and Lions Club were added to the two-man force, said Police Chief Russ Edwards. Five police officers resigned during the past month in part because of salary disputes, leaving only Edwards and another officer to man the department.

3 Nebraskans Win Extension Service Honors

Kearney — During the annual meeting of the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Association here, the following persons were honored:

Howard Lamb, farmer-rancher from Anselmo active in many state agriculturally related organizations, received the Certificate of Appreciation.

Elaine Skucius, associate state 4-H leader, District V, and a 26-year veteran of the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service, received a Distinguished Service Award for State specialists.

Denneth G. Schmidt, associate state 4-H leader, was recognized for outstanding contributions to the Nebraska 4-H program. He is scheduled to receive a Distinguished Service Award from the National Association of Extension 4-H Agents during its annual meeting in Wichita, Kan., next week.

Derby Officials To Make Plans

Two officials of the 1975 Powder Puff Deroy will be in Lincoln Tuesday to coordinate plans with airport and weather personnel, the Chamber of Commerce and other city officials.

Marian Banks and Wanda Cummings will be promoting the annual 10-day event, scheduled for June 30-July 9, 1975.

Wildlife Club To Interview Lab Hunters

Hunters at the University of Nebraska field laboratory at Mead will be interviewed by members of the University Wildlife Club in an effort to learn more about game management under farming conditions.

Dr. Ron Case of the Poultry and Wildlife Department said the dozen members of the club will be on hand during the hunting season working with game and parks personnel.

"It will give our students an opportunity to aid in learning about game production, in determining how good the production of pheasants was this year, teach them how to identify birds by age and teach them game management techniques," he said.

The club members have put up some 250 signs to aid hunters in locating restricted areas on the field lab. Some six sections of the 9,400 acres are restricted because of the presence of livestock, buildings or experiments deemed to be too delicate to expose to hunters.

The only requirement to hunt at the field lab is to sign in and out at the headquarters building.

Any person with a valid hunting license is eligible and the only weapon permitted is a shotgun, according to Case.

Nebraska Group May Endorse Milk Suit

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

The Nebraska Farmers Union will probably endorse an effort by the Minnesota Farmers Union to force Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz to raise the price of producing milk to the level required by law.

Louis Wiebe, president of the Nebraska Farmers Union, said the effort was aimed at getting the administration to raise the price of milk to 80% of parity, which is a requirement of the dairy price support law.

The suit was filed as a national class action suit on behalf of all dairymen by Elmer Runke of Hutchinson, Minn., and Donald Nelson of Ellsworth, Wis.

The Department of Agriculture set the support level for the marketing year on April 1, 1974, at $6.57 per hundred pounds, deemed to be the 80% of parity required by law.

Cy Carpenter, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, said, "Inflation and rising operating costs have increased the 80% of parity price to $7.10. The present price is now 74% of parity."

Carpenter charged that "Secretary Butz is violating the intent of the law by allowing farm milk prices to lag below the statutory support level, by refusing to raise milk supports to compensate for changes in the cost of production and by failing to protect consumers by taking no consideration as to maintaining productive capacity sufficient to meet future needs for milk and dairy products."

Dyas Accuses Thone Of 'Arrogant Attitude'

Failing in a final bid to engage Congressman Charles Thone in an election eve television debate, Democratic nominee Hess Dyas Thursday accused his opponent of treating his constituents with "a very arrogant attitude."

First District citizens deserve to hear the two congressional contenders in a debate or joint discussion, Dyas told a news conference.

Voters have been treated to debates in both of the other congressional districts, in the governor's race, in the attorney general's contest and in the referendum battle over the 1974 state school aid law, Dyas said.

But Thone "has his own welfare in mind, not that of his constituents, and I think that's wrong," the Democratic hopeful declared.

Dyas's final bid for a debate with Thone took the form of a hand-delivered invitation to join him on a 30-minute telecast on KOLN-TV Monday night purchased by the Dyas campaign.

Choice of Formats

The offer allowed Thone to either debate Dyas, or appear separately on one 15-minute segment of the telecast, either "live" or in a taped production.

Thone's rejection, Dyas said, referred to scheduling difficulties.

But, Dyas told newsmen, he believes Thone has refused to meet him in joint appearances "because that's the safe way for an incumbent to go."

If he is elected, Dyas said, he will pledge to debate his congressional challenger in 1976.

Dyas said he does not assume that he necessarily would win a debate with Thone this year. As a congressman, Thone has access to information which he does not have, the Democrat noted.

In an earlier refusal to debate him, Dyas said, Thone said his position on issues is "clearly spelled out" by his 1,736 votes in the House of Representatives.

Pointing to stacks of Congressional Records several feet high, Dyas said it would be "very difficult" for Thone's constituents to wade through such documents to determine his record.

"People do not know what Charles Thone stands for," Dyas said. "That's why it would be so helpful to the constituents to have a debate."

In his hand-delivered invitation to the congressman, Dyas suggested: "Many voters . . . most voters, in fact . . . are not able to tell where you stand on most issues, and especially on the issue of inflation."

Expects To Win

Dyas told newsmen he expects to win next Tuesday's election.

"We will catch him, but it's going to be close," he predicted.

The latest Dyas organization poll of more than 300 voters in the First District, taken Oct. 15, gave Thone 50.9% of the vote and Dyas 43.9%, Dyas said.

"But the movement is in the right direction," he said.

Schlitt Tries Poetry

Marge Schlitt has turned to poetry in her Lincoln legislative campaign.

"Spread the news both far and near, when you're out of Schlitt, you're out of cheer," goes one of the poetic creations.

School children involved in her 28th District campaign have donned posterboards containing a phrase in each poem to form what Ms. Schlitt calls "human Burma Shave" lines along sidewalks in her district.

"Outlook: hopeful; Knowledge: large; Last name: Schlitt; First name: Marge," is another of the offerings.

Thone To Walk Through 113 First District Towns

By United Press International

By Friday night, Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., will have walked down the main streets of 113 cities and towns in the First Congressional District.

He planned to walk through the business districts of 25 northeast Nebraska communities Thursday and Friday.

His schedule Thursday included Randolph, Osmond, Plainview, Creighton, Wausa, Bloomfield, Crofton, Fordyce, Hartington, Coleridge, Laurel and Wayne.

Communities to be visited Friday are Leigh, Clarkson, Howells, Dodge, Snyder, Beemer, Wisner, Pilger, Wakefield, Emerson and Pender. He will conclude the day at a smorgasbord given by the Dakota County Republican organization at the South Sioux City Legion Club.

"Considering the fact that there were less than three weeks left before the election when Congress recessed, I think I have done a good job of seeing as many constituents as possible in all 27 counties in Nebraska's First Congressional District," Thone said.

His Democratic opponent in the Nov. 5 election is Hess Dyas of Lincoln.

NETV Will Air 'Political Party'

More than 35 candidates for national and state offices in Nebraska will attend a pre-election "political party" Friday, which will be broadcast from 8-10:30 p.m. on the Nebraska ETV Network.

The "party" will center on a nostalgic 1910 theme of an old-fashioned political rally, according to Joel Fowler, senior producer of public affairs and producer of the program.

Ziebarth Signs Code, Blasts GOP Opponent

Hastings (AP) — Third District Democratic congressional candidate Wayne Zieberth took pen in hand Thursday, and signed the Fair Campaign Practices Code (FCPC).

But, in doing so, the former state senator from Wilcox also blasted his Republican opponent, Mrs. Haven Smith, and 3rd District Rep. Dave Martin for their campaign tactics.

Martin, a Republican, is retiring after his current term, but has been a major force in Mrs. Smith's campaign, both financially and personally.

Martin filed a complaint with the FCPC Committee in the nation's capital last Thursday, citing Zeibarth's "personal tactics" against Mrs. Smith. When asked to be specific about his allegations, Martin declined. He also criticized Ziebarth for not signing the FCPC.

Ziebarth answered by signing the code, saying he had intentionally waited until now, and also announced that he will file a counter complaint against Martin.

Ziebarth said he had been told by knowledgeable people in the Democratic party that in the last weeks before the election, he would be faced with a lot of things that would be hard to explain to the press. The opposition usually waits until the last week to file complaints and charges, leaving little time to properly answer them, Ziebarth said.

Ziebarth added that he fully expected the volley of charges, and waited to sign the code.

Ziebarth also released the six specific areas taken up in his counter-complaint against Martin:

— That Martin's complaint was filed without supplying Ziebarth with a copy of the complaint in time to answer the allegations. Ziebarth said he did not receive a formal notification until Tuesday of this week.

— That according to FCPC guidelines, complaints must be filed by the candidate. Martin, not Mrs. Smith, filed the complaint.

— That Mrs. Smith and Martin have not told the truth in their characterizations of the rules governing the House Democratic Caucus.

— That both Martin and Mrs. Smith have repeatedly tried to impune House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., by saying he had a $44,000 chandelier installed in his office, when in reality no expenditure was made. Ziebarth said the chandelier has been on Capitol Hill since the administration of Franklin Roosevelt.

— That Mrs. Smith has used out-of-context quotes when quoting Ziebarth during a speech he made before the state AFL-CIO convention in Fremont.

— And, that Mrs. Smith has cited examples of the federal Occupational, Safety and Health Act to inspire fear in constituents.

Ziebarth also took Mrs. Smith to task for here financing.

Mrs. Smith has charged that Ziebarth has received large contributions from "Big Labor," out-of-state and out-of-district sources.

Immediate Trial Requested By Candidate

Fremont (AP) — Richard Kuhlman, Republican candidate for Dodge County attorney, has filed a motion in Dodge County District Court, seeking immediate trial on charges that he filed for office in Dodge County and voted in Dodge County while legally residing in Grand Island.

The charges were filed earlier this week by Dodge County Atty. Gordon Gobel, who said he acted after a complaint was filed by Morris Raymond, Dodge County Democratic party chairman.

Wednesday, Kuhlman was arraigned on the charges before County Judge Chester Sutton of Blair. Sutton was sitting in for County Judge Richard Moorehouse of Fremont, who is not expected to return from vacation until next Monday. During the proceedings, Kuhlman waived a preliminary hearing.

Kuhlman, who has taught at the State Law Enforcement Training Center in Grand Island since 1970, has denied the charges. Although he did purchase a home in Grand Island, Kuhlman said he never gave up his Dodge County residency, and never closed his law office here.

Kuhlman now resides in Fremont, and taught at Midland Luthern College here last autumn and last spring.

Kuhlman's motion for a quick trial cites the need to dispose of the case before election day, which is next Tuesday.

Gobel calls the charges filed so far just "the tip of the iceberg," and has indicated that several other persons will also probably be charged in connection with the same issue. However, Gobel said the other charges will not be filed until after the election.

Kuhlman's wife, Kathleen, is also charged with voting in Dodge County while maintaining legal residence in Grand Island.

Kuhlman has called the charges political in nature, but Gobel, also a Republican, has denied the allegations.

In 1970, Gobel used a petition drive to defeat Kuhlman for the position, but last May, Kuhlman defeated Gobel in the GOP primary.

A trial date has not been set.

IT'S TIME TO MAKE COUNTY GOVERNMENT, GOOD GOVERNMENT

Paid for by a lot of people for Hamilton for County Commissioner.

Ziebarth Signs Code, Blasts GOP Opponent

Hastings (AP) — Third District Democratic congressional candidate Wayne Zieberth took pen in hand Thursday, and signed the Fair Campaign Practices Code (FCPC).

But, in doing so, the former state senator from Wilcox also blasted his Republican opponent, Mrs. Haven Smith, and 3rd District Rep. Dave Martin for their campaign tactics.

Martin, a Republican, is retiring after his current term, but has been a major force in Mrs. Smith's campaign, both financially and personally.

Martin filed a complaint with the FCPC Committee in the nation's capital last Thursday, citing Zeibarth's "personal tactics" against Mrs. Smith. When asked to be specific about his allegations, Martin declined. He also criticized Ziebarth for not signing the FCPC.

Ziebarth answered by signing the code, saying he had intentionally waited until now, and also announced that he will file a counter complaint against Martin.

Ziebarth said he had been told by knowledgeable people in the Democratic party that in the last weeks before the election, he would be faced with a lot of things that would be hard to explain to the press. The opposition usually waits until the last week to file complaints and charges, leaving little time to properly answer them, Ziebarth said.

Ziebarth added that he fully expected the volley of charges, and waited to sign the code.

Ziebarth also released the six specific areas taken up in his counter-complaint against Martin:

— That Martin's complaint was filed without supplying Ziebarth with a copy of the complaint in time to answer the allegations. Ziebarth said he did not receive a formal notification until Tuesday of this week.

— That according to FCPC guidelines, complaints must be filed by the candidate. Martin, not Mrs. Smith, filed the complaint.

— That Mrs. Smith and Martin have not told the truth in their characterizations of the rules governing the House Democratic Caucus.

— That both Martin and Mrs. Smith have repeatedly tried to impune House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., by saying he had a $44,000 chandelier installed in his office, when in reality no expenditure was made. Ziebarth said the chandelier has been on Capitol Hill since the administration of Franklin Roosevelt.

— That Mrs. Smith has used out-of-context quotes when quoting Ziebarth during a speech he made before the state AFL-CIO convention in Fremont.

— And, that Mrs. Smith has cited examples of the federal Occupational, Safety and Health Act to inspire fear in constituents.

Ziebarth also took Mrs. Smith to task for here financing.

Mrs. Smith has charged that Ziebarth has received large contributions from "Big Labor," out-of-state and out-of-district sources.

Immediate Trial Requested By Candidate

Fremont (AP) — Richard Kuhlman, Republican candidate for Dodge County attorney, has filed a motion in Dodge County District Court, seeking immediate trial on charges that he filed for office in Dodge County and voted in Dodge County while legally residing in Grand Island.

The charges were filed earlier this week by Dodge County Atty. Gordon Gobel, who said he acted after a complaint was filed by Morris Raymond, Dodge County Democratic party chairman.

Wednesday, Kuhlman was arraigned on the charges before County Judge Chester Sutton of Blair. Sutton was sitting in for County Judge Richard Moorehouse of Fremont, who is not expected to return from vacation until next Monday. During the proceedings, Kuhlman waived a preliminary hearing.

Kuhlman, who has taught at the State Law Enforcement Training Center in Grand Island since 1970, has denied the charges. Although he did purchase a home in Grand Island, Kuhlman said he never gave up his Dodge County residency, and never closed his law office here.

Kuhlman now resides in Fremont, and taught at Midland Luthern College here last autumn and last spring.

Kuhlman's motion for a quick trial cites the need to dispose of the case before election day, which is next Tuesday.

Gobel calls the charges filed so far just "the tip of the iceberg," and has indicated that several other persons will also probably be charged in connection with the same issue. However, Gobel said the other charges will not be filed until after the election.

Kuhlman's wife, Kathleen, is also charged with voting in Dodge County while maintaining legal residence in Grand Island.

Kuhlman has called the charges political in nature, but Gobel, also a Republican, has denied the allegations.

In 1970, Gobel used a petition drive to defeat Kuhlman for the position, but last May, Kuhlman defeated Gobel in the GOP primary.

A trial date has not been set.

Congressman Charley Thone has a long record of outstanding achievements in many fields: Lincoln's Outstanding Young Man, 1953; named best state Jaycee president in the nation, 1953-'54; national president of the University of Nebraska Alumni Association, 1961-'62, and charter member and chairman, Lincoln Human Rights Commission, 1967-'69. Now he works even harder and more effectively as your Congressman—long hours on the floor, in committees and paying heed to the problems of all the people in this district. As President Ford put it, "I can say without any hesitation, qualification or reservation that Charley Thone is one of the hardest, most conscientious, most dedicated workers in the House of Representatives..."

Dyas Accuses Thone Of 'Arrogant Attitude'

Failing in a final bid to engage Congressman Charles Thone in an election eve television debate, Democratic nominee Hess Dyas Thursday accused his opponent of treating his constituents with "a very arrogant attitude."

First District citizens deserve to hear the two congressional contenders in a debate or joint discussion, Dyas told a news conference.

Voters have been treated to debates in both of the other congressional districts, in the governor's race, in the attorney general's contest and in the referendum battle over the 1974 state school aid law, Dyas said.

But Thone "has his own welfare in mind, not that of his constituents, and I think that's wrong," the Democratic hopeful declared.

Dyas's final bid for a debate with Thone took the form of a hand-delivered invitation to join him on a 30-minute telecast on KOLN-TV Monday night purchased by the Dyas campaign.

Choice of Formats

The offer allowed Thone to either debate Dyas, or appear separately on one 15-minute segment of the telecast, either "live" or in a taped production.

Thone's rejection, Dyas said, referred to scheduling difficulties.

But, Dyas told newsmen, he believes Thone has refused to meet him in joint appearances "because that's the safe way for an incumbent to go."

If he is elected, Dyas said, he will pledge to debate his congressional challenger in 1976.

Dyas said he does not assume that he necessarily would win a debate with Thone this year. As a congressman, Thone has access to information which he does not have, the Democrat noted.

In an earlier refusal to debate him, Dyas said, Thone said his position on issues is "clearly spelled out" by his 1,736 votes in the House of Representatives.

Pointing to stacks of Congressional Records several feet high, Dyas said it would be "very difficult" for Thone's constituents to wade through such documents to determine his record.

"People do not know what Charles Thone stands for," Dyas said. "That's why it would be so helpful to the constituents to have a debate."

In his hand-delivered invitation to the congressman, Dyas suggested: "Many voters . . . most voters, in fact . . . are not able to tell where you stand on most issues, and especially on the issue of inflation."

Expects To Win

Dyas told newsmen he expects to win next Tuesday's election.

"We will catch him, but it's going to be close," he predicted.

The latest Dyas organization poll of more than 300 voters in the First District, taken Oct. 15, gave Thone 50.9% of the vote and Dyas 43.9%, Dyas said.

"But the movement is in the right direction," he said.

Schlitt Tries Poetry

Marge Schlitt has turned to poetry in her Lincoln legislative campaign.

"Spread the news both far and near, when you're out of Schlitt, you're out of cheer," goes one of the poetic creations.

School children involved in her 28th District campaign have donned posterboards containing a phrase in each poem to form what Ms. Schlitt calls "human Burma Shave" lines along sidewalks in her district.

"Outlook: hopeful; Knowledge: large; Last name: Schlitt; First name: Marge," is another of the offerings.

Thone To Walk Through 113 First District Towns

By United Press International

By Friday night, Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., will have walked down the main streets of 113 cities and towns in the First Congressional District.

He planned to walk through the business districts of 25 northeast Nebraska communities Thursday and Friday.

His schedule Thursday included Randolph, Osmond, Plainview, Creighton, Wausa, Bloomfield, Crofton, Fordyce, Hartington, Coleridge, Laurel and Wayne.

Communities to be visited Friday are Leigh, Clarkson, Howells, Dodge, Snyder, Beemer, Wisner, Pilger, Wakefield, Emerson and Pender. He will conclude the day at a smorgasbord given by the Dakota County Republican organization at the South Sioux City Legion Club.

"Considering the fact that there were less than three weeks left before the election when Congress recessed, I think I have done a good job of seeing as many constituents as possible in all 27 counties in Nebraska's First Congressional District," Thone said.

His Democratic opponent in the Nov. 5 election is Hess Dyas of Lincoln.

NETV Will Air 'Political Party'

More than 35 candidates for national and state offices in Nebraska will attend a pre-election "political party" Friday, which will be broadcast from 8-10:30 p.m. on the Nebraska ETV Network.

The "party" will center on a nostalgic 1910 theme of an old-fashioned political rally, according to Joel Fowler, senior producer of public affairs and producer of the program.

Robin Hood

Robin Hood Has Lincoln Motorists' Welfare At Heart

Robin Hood is back.

One of those who made headlines a few years ago by feeding parking meters for forgetful drivers was Russell Dodworth, whose Forest of Nottingham antics occurred mainly in New York City.

Dodworth, 35, moved to Hickman about 18 months ago to help revive the now-defunct-again Hickman Enterprise newspaper. Now a Lincoln resident, he still is concerned about motorists' welfare.

It seems he has been getting tickets for parking his motorcycle in red "no parking" zones. Dodworth says he doesn't like to occupy a space that a car could use.

So he has printed up a sign in Old English letters "apologizing for usurping an entire car's parking space with my tiny bike."

Dodworth is on the board of directors of ECON Inc., a non-profit, small business investment corporation.

Oldster's Birthday Was Best In 100 Years

Council Bluffs, Iowa (AP) — A 102-year-old Council Bluffs and former Nebraskan said his birthday party Thursday "was the best" in 100 years.

The resident of a nursing home since his heart pacemaker was installed a year ago, Joe Cacka was guest of honor at a party Thursday afternoon.

A native of Bohemia, he moved with his family to Nebraska at the age of eight — in 1880 — and they homesteaded near Rushville. Later they lived near Howells.

"I'm not much for talking-my hearing's gone." But his thoughts went back to the early years. "There were a lot of hardships in all those years. We all have to suffer and I did my share."

Cacka and his wife moved to a farm near Council Bluffs in about 1927 and into the city about 1940. Mrs. Cacka died in 1940.

The second World War found Cacka at work in an Omaha defense plant at the age of 70.

His daughter, Mrs. J. P. Wilson of Council Bluffs, said her father was active up until he was 101. He last lived in a Bluffs' apartment and did his own cooking.

"He loved to cook and liked kolaches," she said.

'Open Government' Laws Said Strongly Supported

Common Cause of Nebraska Thursday said it has high hopes for the enactment of "open government reform laws" in the 1975 Legislature.

The results of questionnaires sent to 82 candidates for state office, including the Legislature, showed strong support for open meetings, lobbying controls, conflict of interest regulations and campaign financing reforms, Dr. Eleanor Rogan of Omaha said.

Dr. Rogan is coordinator of the survey.

"A high level of support was seen for legislation to require open meetings and disclosure of lobbying activity, and to reduce conflict of interest between state officials' private interests and public duties," she said.

More than 85% of the respondents favored such reforms, she said.

The results also indicated "strong support . . . for limiting campaign spending, prohibiting contributions from the general funds of corporations and unions, requiring state and local officials to disclose major economic interests and allowing citizens to sue to enforce open government laws," she said.

Only 35% of the respondents favored a mixed system of public and private financing for campaigns for state office, she said.

Call For Highway Condition

Ever feel like calling for help in planning a trip when the roads are covered with ice or snow?

Now motorists may get that help by calling either a Lincoln or Omaha telephone number, courtesy of the Nebraska State Patrol and the Department of Roads.

The Lincoln number is (402) 477-9202, while the Omaha number is (402) 553-5000. Toll charges must be paid for calls from outside these exchanges.

Either number will give the caller a report on regularly updated winter road conditions, first for the particular area, then for the entire state.

The service will be available from Nov. 1 to April 1 in Lincoln and from Dec. 1 to April 1 in Omaha.

Mortar Board Plans To Honor UNL Educator

Dr. David Williams, assistant professor of education at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, is being honored this month by the NU chapter of Mortar Board, women's honorary society.

Mortar Board cites a member of the NU faculty each month for "contributing substantially to the university."

Williams currently is a supervisor of student teachers and a faculty advisor to the Teachers College Student Advisory Board.

He is also a member of the dean's minority search committee and a member of the training teacher trainers evaluation committee.

He received his bachelor of science degree from District of Columbia Teachers College, and his master and doctor of education degrees from the University of Florida.

Voters Nix Proposal

Pocahontas, Iowa (UPI) — Pocahonatas voters turned down a two-mill levy propsal for school improvements, the second rejection of such a proposal in a month.

APOLOGY . . . from 'Robin Hood' Dodworth for usurped space.

Robin Hood Has Lincoln Motorists' Welfare At Heart

Robin Hood is back.

One of those who made headlines a few years ago by feeding parking meters for forgetful drivers was Russell Dodworth, whose Forest of Nottingham antics occurred mainly in New York City.

Dodworth, 35, moved to Hickman about 18 months ago to help revive the now-defunct-again Hickman Enterprise newspaper. Now a Lincoln resident, he still is concerned about motorists' welfare.

It seems he has been getting tickets for parking his motorcycle in red "no parking" zones. Dodworth says he doesn't like to occupy a space that a car could use.

So he has printed up a sign in Old English letters "apologizing for usurping an entire car's parking space with my tiny bike."

Oldster's Birthday Was Best In 100 Years

Council Bluffs, Iowa (AP) — A 102-year-old Council Bluffs and former Nebraskan said his birthday party Thursday "was the best" in 100 years.

The resident of a nursing home since his heart pacemaker was installed a year ago, Joe Cacka was guest of honor at a party Thursday afternoon.

A native of Bohemia, he moved with his family to Nebraska at the age of eight — in 1880 — and they homesteaded near Rushville. Later they lived near Howells.

"I'm not much for talking-my hearing's gone." But his thoughts went back to the early years. "There were a lot of hardships in all those years. We all have to suffer and I did my share."

Cacka and his wife moved to a farm near Council Bluffs in about 1927 and into the city about 1940. Mrs. Cacka died in 1940.

The second World War found Cacka at work in an Omaha defense plant at the age of 70.

His daughter, Mrs. J. P. Wilson of Council Bluffs, said her father was active up until he was 101. He last lived in a Bluffs' apartment and did his own cooking.

"He loved to cook and liked kolaches," she said.

Urbom Bars Abandonment Of Ruskin-Fairbury Track

U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom said Thursday he will issue an order blocking abandonment of 39.9 miles of railroad track between Ruskin and Fairbury.

The ruling came in response to a suit filed in May, 1973, by the Nebraska Public Service Commission against the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Co.

The railroad stopped using the track on March 2, citing "unsafe" conditions. In May, the railroad applied for Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) approval to abandon the track.

Maintenance Deferred

In a memorandum, Urbom wrote that the track was in deplorable condition mainly because of the railroad's "long-lived policy of deferring maintenance."

Urbom wrote, however, that the railroad found itself in a dilemma: the line showed a profit because of low maintenance.

As long as the line showed a profit, the railroad felt it could not win ICC approval to abandon the line. But it hesitated to spend money for maintenance in order to show a loss on the line, which would enhance chances of winning ICC approval for abandonment, Urbom wrote.

Urbom also said it is not necessarily true that the line would have shown a loss if adequate maintenance had been maintained over the years.

No Justification

While the railroad's dilemma was genuine, Urbom wrote, it did not justify its failure to seek advance ICC approval to abandon the line.

"If it had applied for abandonment, the issue probably could have been resolved by now," Urbom wrote. "If it had applied for abandonment, large expenditures (in excess of $550,000) would have been rendered unnecessary.

"If abandonment had been denied by the ICC the expenditures would have come about only after full exploration of the varying interests of the public and railroad company."

Dismissal Overturned

Urbom had earlier dismissed the suit because the ICC had jurisdiction over the matter. However, the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals overturned that ruling.

Referring to his earlier decision, Urbom said his decision not to block abandonment of the line was based on his confidence that a decision by the ICC would be relatively prompt and that ordering the railroad to spend a large sum of money in the interim would have been unfair.

"That confidence was not well placed," Urbom said. He noted that the railroad's application to abandon the line is still pending before the ICC.

Omaha, Lincoln Drivers Pay Less For Gasoline

Omaha (AP) — Omaha and Lincoln motorists are paying less for gasoline than their outstate counterparts, according to the Cornhusker Motor Club's monthly survey of service stations in the state.

In Omaha, 95 stations were contacted. Regular gasoline prices averaged 50-cents per gallon.

In Lincoln, 15 stations were surveyed. Regular averaged 51.6-cents per gallon.

In the meantime, the motor club contacted 66 other stations in the cities of Grand Island, Norfolk, North Platte and Scottsbluff. The outstate check revealed an average price of 52.5-cents per gallon for regular.

All-in-all, the average prices do show a sizeable decrease from those computed during the month of September. The September average price for a gallon of regular gasoline was 55.5-cents.

Unleaded gasoline is selling for an average of two-cents per gallon more than regular, or just about the same as premium, the club reported.

Seventy-five per cent of the stations contacted said they are offering non-leaded gasoline, with 90 per cent continuing premium sales.

The club also reported another good sign — an indication of keener competition and increased gasoline supplies.

Whereas there were few stations posting prices on street signs during the late summer, surveyors said almost all stations are now making use of street signs to advertise their prices.

Liner Repaired; Sails For N.Y.

Cherbourg, France (AP) — Repairs to a gash in the hull of the liner Queen Elizabeth II, caused when it crashed into a pier in high winds, were completed Thursday and the liner sailed for New York.

About 200 passengers left the vessel for alternative transport to New York during the delay.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Friday

Favorite Taurus persons: Janet Blair — lovely, talented, creative and knowledgeable about astrology. Joe Louis — more of a sense of humor than many suspect. Dry wit and a knockout punch. Remains a champion. Burl Ives — knows his astrology and has talent to spare. Plenty good and large as life in the best sense of doing and being alive. The late Duke Ellington — he was "madly in love" with all of us. And we all responded to the musical genius of that Taurus native. The list is long, but for now, this is it for favorite Taurus persons.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be wary where money is concerned. Check digits — handwriting — on checks. Overpayments could occur due to carelessness. On positive side, you find quality object you have been seeking. You also learn who is a friend — and otherwise.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Cycle remains such that you make the most of material at hand. Important, new contact could open door to creative endeavors. You get credit for past efforts — views are vindicated and reward is in offing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Finish rather than begin — find ways of reaching more people. Something occurs behind closed doors that could benefit you. Know it and don't fear the unknown. A whispered suggestion is valid. Do something about following through on it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Love, self-expression, hearing the sound of your own voice — these are featured. You no longer feel repressed, pushed back or intimidated. You discover that you have allies, friends in high places. Revel in the discovery!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accent is on getting the "right people" together to complete a profitable transaction. Don't be shy. Take — insist on — credit. By so doing, you actually will earn respect of professional superior. Another Leo — and an Aquarian — could figure prominently.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Travel, versatility, social events — these fall into your personal pattern. You are more active than usual — but avoid scattering efforts. Restless associates could "get on your nerves." Keep your balance. Good news comes from one who has recently visited one close to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Costs, projections, agreements all figure prominently. You may find pace has slowed. This ultimately works in your favor. Know it and don't push panic button. Aquarius, Leo and Scorpio persons are likely to be in picture.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Communicate with one who shares views, same goal. Differences of opinion should not be taken as signal for opposition. Listen and learn. Someone close to you is trying to impart information of value. Gemini is involved.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Home front dominates. Basic issues require attention. You win through diplomacy. You lose if you attempt to force, push or chide. Taurus, Libra individuals are in picture. You receive compliment on your voice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Illusion, romance — these are featured. You may not be seeing too clearly where opposite sex is concerned. Face facts as they exist. Your creativity is challenged. Show that you do have style, policy and charm. Refuse to give up something of value for nothing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Study Capricorn message for valid hint. Be aware of money situation, costs, appraisals, tax loopholes. Build on solid structure. Cancer individual knows plenty of answers. Be willing to ask. By so doing, you gain surprising amount of cooperation. Act accordingly.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): One who was at a distance comes closer — you have a mini-reunion. Sense of humor proves a valuable asset. Relative figures prominently. Best now to finish rather than to initiate project. Aries is involved.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have a dominant personality, a presence. Others are aware when you enter a room. You are unique, creative and many claim you have a way which arouses envy and creates atmosphere of challenge. You are spoiled by opposite sex and have youthful appearance, no matter what your chronological age. November should be your most important month this year. You recently made domestic adjustment — all to the good.

Urbom Bars Abandonment Of Ruskin-Fairbury Track

U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom said Thursday he will issue an order blocking abandonment of 39.9 miles of railroad track between Ruskin and Fairbury.

The ruling came in response to a suit filed in May, 1973, by the Nebraska Public Service Commission against the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Co.

The railroad stopped using the track on March 2, citing "unsafe" conditions. In May, the railroad applied for Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) approval to abandon the track.

Maintenance Deferred

In a memorandum, Urbom wrote that the track was in deplorable condition mainly because of the railroad's "long-lived policy of deferring maintenance."

Urbom wrote, however, that the railroad found itself in a dilemma: the line showed a profit because of low maintenance.

As long as the line showed a profit, the railroad felt it could not win ICC approval to abandon the line. But it hesitated to spend money for maintenance in order to show a loss on the line, which would enhance chances of winning ICC approval for abandonment, Urbom wrote.

Urbom also said it is not necessarily true that the line would have shown a loss if adequate maintenance had been maintained over the years.

No Justification

While the railroad's dilemma was genuine, Urbom wrote, it did not justify its failure to seek advance ICC approval to abandon the line.

"If it had applied for abandonment, the issue probably could have been resolved by now," Urbom wrote. "If it had applied for abandonment, large expenditures (in excess of $550,000) would have been rendered unnecessary.

"If abandonment had been denied by the ICC the expenditures would have come about only after full exploration of the varying interests of the public and railroad company."

Dismissal Overturned

Urbom had earlier dismissed the suit because the ICC had jurisdiction over the matter. However, the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals overturned that ruling.

Referring to his earlier decision, Urbom said his decision not to block abandonment of the line was based on his confidence that a decision by the ICC would be relatively prompt and that ordering the railroad to spend a large sum of money in the interim would have been unfair.

"That confidence was not well placed," Urbom said. He noted that the railroad's application to abandon the line is still pending before the ICC.

Omaha, Lincoln Drivers Pay Less For Gasoline

Omaha (AP) — Omaha and Lincoln motorists are paying less for gasoline than their outstate counterparts, according to the Cornhusker Motor Club's monthly survey of service stations in the state.

In Omaha, 95 stations were contacted. Regular gasoline prices averaged 50-cents per gallon.

In Lincoln, 15 stations were surveyed. Regular averaged 51.6-cents per gallon.

In the meantime, the motor club contacted 66 other stations in the cities of Grand Island, Norfolk, North Platte and Scottsbluff. The outstate check revealed an average price of 52.5-cents per gallon for regular.

All-in-all, the average prices do show a sizeable decrease from those computed during the month of September. The September average price for a gallon of regular gasoline was 55.5-cents.

Unleaded gasoline is selling for an average of two-cents per gallon more than regular, or just about the same as premium, the club reported.

Seventy-five per cent of the stations contacted said they are offering non-leaded gasoline, with 90 per cent continuing premium sales.

The club also reported another good sign — an indication of keener competition and increased gasoline supplies.

Whereas there were few stations posting prices on street signs during the late summer, surveyors said almost all stations are now making use of street signs to advertise their prices.

Liner Repaired; Sails For N.Y.

Cherbourg, France (AP) — Repairs to a gash in the hull of the liner Queen Elizabeth II, caused when it crashed into a pier in high winds, were completed Thursday and the liner sailed for New York.

About 200 passengers left the vessel for alternative transport to New York during the delay.

Sugar Companies Call Profits 'Catching Up'

©The New York Times

New York — At a time of dramatic increases in the price of sugar — 300% within the last year and 25% within the last month alone — profits of the nation's sugar industry have soared to record levels.

The Amstar Corp., the largest refiner, formerly known as the American Sugar Co., had a 250% rise in net income and a 59% advance in sales in its September quarter. The Great Western United Corp., the largest American beet-sugar refiner, posted a gain of 1,120% in net income and a 74% rise in sales in its recent quarter.

The sugar industry asserts that the price increases are directly caused by tightening supply amid increasing worldwide demand. It says its profits represent a catching-up with traditionally low profitability in both the cane sugar and beet sugar elements of its industry.

Price-Fixing Probed

However, the Justice Department said this week the sugar industry was one of several food industries that would be investigated for possible price-fixing. And there are signs that a federal grand jury sitting in San Francisco since December, 1972, on alleged beet-sugar price-fixing will indict several leading companies.

Wednesday, Treasury Secfetary William E. Simon announced that the new Council on Wage and Price Stability would hold its first public hearings on sugar prices to determine whether refiners or distributors were reaping excess profits.

"Profitability has finally come to our industry," Robert T. Quittmeyer, president of Amstar, said here. "For the last five years, our industry's return on equity ran under 10% in three of those years, 12% in one year and finally in the last fiscal year reached the 15% average level for all manufacturing industries. All that time we had too much refining capacity, but now demand around the world has increased."

The sugar business, he said, is "catching up."

For example, other large refiners have also reported substantial gains. CPC International Inc., formerly known as the Corn Products Co., the world's largest corn-refiner, had 19.1% higher net profits and 41% higher sales in its first half ended June 30.

Holly Sales Double

The Holly Sugar Corp. more than doubled its sales to $144.3 million in the first half ended Sept. 30, but said it could not report its earnings until the end of its third quarter due to the seasonal nature of sugar-beet production and processing still underway.

The Sucrest Corp., a large cane refiner, had a 45% gain in sales in the fiscal year ended June 30, which reflected increased shipments from all divisions aided by higher selling prices. But it reported a high operating loss due to a change in accounting methods for raw material inventories.

On Jan. 1, Americans paid 18 cents a pound for sugar, this week it is selling for about 50 cents and is due to go up next week to about 54 cents a pound.

Meanwhile, after many years when refiners displayed a conservative policy on expanding production capacity, some, such as Amstar, have allotted millions for expansion. Sugar stocks lately have shown the biggest gains on the New York Stock Exchange, with several having recently reached their yearly highs.

Because of growing international demand and speculation in sugar commodity futures, the price of raw sugar has jumped to record levels. In July, for example, the spot or immediate price for raw sugar was 26 cents a pound. Three months later, it was 41 cents a pound. Wednesday it closed at 46½ cents a pound.

Although such authoritative sources as Clayton Yeutter, assistant secretary of agriculture for international affairs and commodity programs, believe demand will decline soon because of the erosion in consumer purchasing power, most industry figures see little sign that the consumer price will drop.

Quittmeyer of Amstar, for one, said flatly, "Prices will go higher before they go lower, and then they will stabilize.

"Sugar has always been priced too low."

Many foreign countries are competing with the United States for the world sugar supplies. Reports persist in the domestic sugar industry that the major oil-producing countries are engaged in substantial speculation in sugar.

Coal Negotiator Sees Accord Soon

Washington (UPI) — An industry spokesman said Thursday the coal companies and the United Mine Workers Union could reach a tentative contract agreement sometime this weekend, averting a strike that would cause severe winter fuel shortages.

Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the coal companies, gave President Ford an optimistic briefing on the progress of the wage contract talks and told newsmen the two sides were "pretty much in substantial agreement" on five main issues.

Farmer did not say what those issues were, but they seemed likely to include safety improvements the miners have been demanding.

He also mentioned that the issues of cost-of-living escalators, benefits, surface-mining problems and wage classifications remained unresolved.

"There's no neat little package there that we can say is all tied up in ribbons," he said.

Asked whether an agreement could be reached this week, he said it could and then added, "Give us the weekend."

The current contract covering about 120,000 miners and 1,200 mines expires Nov. 12.

It covers some 70% of the nation's coal supply, and energy experts have said even temporary loss of those supplies would deal a severe blow to the winter fuel supplies.

FTC Charges 4 Oil Companies With Trade Restraint Conspiracy

Washington (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission Thursday accused four of the nation's biggest oil companies of conspiring to restrain trade by offering consumers a common line of tires, batteries and other automobile accessories.

The action alleged that Exxon Corp., the largest oil company in the country; Amoco Oil Co.; Standard Oil of California, and the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) eliminated competition among themselves through common ownership of the Atlas Supply Co.

The proposed complaint seeks to have three of the companies sell the accessory business to a fourth, or to have all four get out of the business.

According to the complaint, sales of Atlas products during 1973 amounted to $273 million.

The action alleged that the four companies put their senior executives on the Atlas board, where they then agreed to the types of products that would be sold as well the advertising, cost, competition and guarantee programs.

Amoco is the nation's sixth largest petroeum company. Socal is the fifth largest and Sohio is the 16th largest. Between them, they operate more than 50,000 service stations.

The commission voted 3 to 2 to issue the proposed complaint. Chairman Lewis J. Ingman and Commissioner Mayo J. Thompson voted against the action.

REPUBLICANS SAY:
"Nebraska Needs Jim Exon Again as Governor."

"We Republicans and the state-wide organizations we represent are enthusiastically supporting the re-election of Governor Jim Exon. Why? Because he has a proven record of dedication to and concern for all Nebraskans, rural and urban alike. There is no question that Jim Exon has been one of the best Governors this State has ever produced, regardless of political affiliation."

WHEN YOU GO TO THE POLLS NOVEMBER 5TH, YOU'LL HAVE AN UNUSUAL, IF NOT UNPRECEDENTED, THREE CHOICES FOR GOVERNOR. WE FEEL THAT YOUR "X" WOULD BE BEST PLACED IN THE BOX NEXT TO THE NAME OF J JAMES EXON. NO POLITICIAN WE KNOW OF IS PERFECT. AND WE'VE TAKEN EDITORIAL ISSUE WITH GOVERNOR EXON SEVERAL TIMES OVER THE PAST FOUR YEARS. BUT LOOKING BACK WITH 20-20 HINDSIGHT, OUR GOVERNOR HAS DONE A PRETTY COMMENDABLE JOB FOR NEBRASKA. HIS WORD HAS BEEN HIS BOND. AND AS POLITICIANS GO, THAT'S VERY REFRESHING.

J J EXON PROMISED 4-YEARS AGO TO HOLD-THE-LINE ON THEN ESCALATING STATE TAX RATES. HE KEPT HIS WORD. HE VOWED TO SHUN DEFICIT FINANCING AND BONDED DEBT FOR A PAY-AS-YOU-GO PHILOSOPHY. AGAIN, HE KEPT HIS WORD.

DURING THIS FIRST 4 EXON YEARS, NEBRASKA HAS SEEN UNPRECEDENTED INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT. ESTABLISHMENT OF THE STATE'S FIRST ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY. INCREASED STATE AID TO EDUCATION, WITH AT LEAST SOME PROPERTY TAX RELIEF. A NEW STATEWIDE SYSTEM OF TECHNICAL VOCATIONAL COLLEGES. REALISTIC AND INFORMED PENAL POLICIES AND PROGRESSIVE RETARDATION AND MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAMS. NEBRASKA WAS HONORED AS THE FIRST STATE TO COMPLETE CONSTRUCTION OF ITS MAINLINE INTERSTATE SYSTEM. ALL HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED THROUGH AN OVERALL SOUND, EVEN-HANDED AND HONEST ADMINISTRATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT. JIM EXON BROUGHT TO THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE WHAT WE'VE NEEDED FOR A LONG TIME... A SOUND BUSINESS-LIKE APPROACH TO STATE GOVERNMENT ADMINISTRATION. IT'S A FORMULA THAT HAS WORKED RATHER WELL. WE ARE SURE IT WILL WORK FOR THE NEXT 4-YEARS. THAT'S WHY WE THINK JIM EXON DOES MAKE SENSE FOR NEBRASKA AND WE HEARTILY ENDORSE HIS CANDIDACY FOR RE-ELECTION.

New York (UPI) — Twenty-one alleged members of the Genovese and Colombo crime families were indicted Thursday on charges of paying off more than $47,000 in bribes to undercover police officers to gain protection for gambling and loan sharking operations in Brooklyn.

The indictments, handed up by grand juries empaneled by Special State Prosecutor Maurice H. Nadjari, alleged that the defendants sought out undercover officers posing as "rogue cops" to buy protection for their multi mullion-dollar operation, ranging from policy rings to "Las Vegas nights."

According to Special Assistant Atty. Gen. Stephen Powers, "systematic weekly and monthly bribes amounting to from $250 to $1,000 were paid by the defendants.

A Nadjari spokesman added that besides the money, "several of the rogue cops were given fully paid vacations in Las Vegas and Puerto Rico where they were treated royally."

The major figures in the operation were Salvatore Luisi, 59, and Pasquale Lauro, 58, both of Brooklyn, the Nadjari spokesman said.

AMA Tops List Of Big Spenders

Washington (AP) — A new analysis of campaign spending shows that special interest groups have donated $8.5 million to candidates for the Senate and House so far this year.

The state and national committees of the American Medical Association tops the list of big givers, with a combined total of more than $1 million, according to Common Cause.

Other interest groups, in order, are the AFL-CIO with $918,294; the United Auto Workers, $651,426; the several maritime unions, $479,014; the Machinists union, $301,405; the several banking and financial funds, $247,861; the National Education Association, $229,080; the United Steel Workers union, $215,925; the Business-Industry Political Action Committee, $214,800, and the National Association of Realtors, $197,200.

These totals don't include money given to state and local candidates or to political parties, and cover only the period up until Oct. 14, the cut-off for the wave of campaign spending reports filed with the government.

Further reports came due on Thursday, covering the period up until Oct. 24. These reports, the last ones required before election day next Tuesday, will push some of the totals even higher.

The analysis was done by Common Cause, the self-styled citizens' lobby, as part of its continuing watch on campaign spending.

Among the highlights:

— Organized labor has continued its pattern of lopsided giving to Democrats. Labor groups have given $1.6 million to Senate candidates, of which $1.4 million went to Democrats. They gave $2.7 million to House candidates, of which $2.6 million went to Democrats.

— Business and professional groups, including the AMA, favored Republicans. These groups gave $790,000 to Senate candidates, with $450,000 of it to GOP hopefuls. They gave $2.5 million to House candidates, $1.7 million of it to Republicans.

— Most groups favored incumbent senators and congressmen over candidates trying to unseat incumbents. Labor groups gave $2.3 million to incumbents and $1.1 million to challengers. Business and professional groups gave $2.6 million to incumbents and a bare $254,000 to challengers.

— Senate and House fund-raising committees of the Republican party have given more than four times as much financial support for their candidates as have the Democratic party's counterparts. The GOP committees poured more than $1 million into Republican races in the six weeks ending Oct. 14, bringing their total for the year to nearly $2 million. Democratic Senate and House committees have donated only $442,280 this year to the campaigns of their candidates.

Mrs. Ford To Take Anti-Cancer Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford is going to take drugs to combat any cancer cells remaining in her body after removal of her cancerous right breast five weeks ago, the White House announced Thursday.

White House physician Dr. William Lukash said a battery of diagnostic tests and physical examinations had revealed no sign of remaining cancer following the surgery.

But because two of Mrs. Ford's lymph glands removed from beneath her right arm during the Sept. 28 surgery were cancerous, the drug treatments, called chemotherapy, were ordered.

" ... One cannot be entirely certain that undetected microscopic malignancy (cancer) has not spread to other areas," Lukash said in a statement.

Chemotherapy was chosen "to insure more inclusive treatment against any possible remaining cancer," he said.

Mrs. Ford's progress since doctors removed her breast after a malignancy was discovered "has been excellent and her outlook for prolonged good health is extremely favorable," the statement said.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen declined to name the drug that will be administered Mrs. Ford, but said she will take it orally and not intravenously.

Two days after Mrs. Ford's surgery, National Cancer Institute scientists reported encouraging new studies in which breast cancer patients were postoperatively given a drug called L-phenylalanine mustard or L-PAM.

Sugar Companies Call Profits 'Catching Up'

©The New York Times

New York — At a time of dramatic increases in the price of sugar — 300% within the last year and 25% within the last month alone — profits of the nation's sugar industry have soared to record levels.

The Amstar Corp., the largest refiner, formerly known as the American Sugar Co., had a 250% rise in net income and a 59% advance in sales in its September quarter. The Great Western United Corp., the largest American beet-sugar refiner, posted a gain of 1,120% in net income and a 74% rise in sales in its recent quarter.

The sugar industry asserts that the price increases are directly caused by tightening supply amid increasing worldwide demand. It says its profits represent a catching-up with traditionally low profitability in both the cane sugar and beet sugar elements of its industry.

Price-Fixing Probed

However, the Justice Department said this week the sugar industry was one of several food industries that would be investigated for possible price-fixing. And there are signs that a federal grand jury sitting in San Francisco since December, 1972, on alleged beet-sugar price-fixing will indict several leading companies.

Wednesday, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon announced that the new Council on Wage and Price Stability would hold its first public hearings on sugar prices to determine whether refiners or distributors were reaping excess profits.

"Profitability has finally come to our industry," Robert T. Quittmeyer, president of Amstar, said here. "For the last five years, our industry's return on equity ran under 10% in three of those years, 12% in one year and finally in the last fiscal year reached the 15% average level for all manufacturing industries. All that time we had too much refining capacity, but now demand around the world has increased."

The sugar business, he said, is "catching up."

For example, other large refiners have also reported substantial gains. CPC International Inc., formerly known as the Corn Products Co., the world's largest corn refiner, had 19.1% higher net profits and 41% higher sales in its first half ended June 30.

Holly Sales Double

The Holly Sugar Corp. more than doubled its sales to $144.3 million in the first half ended Sept. 30, but said it could not report its earnings until the end of its third quarter due to the seasonal nature of sugar-beet production and processing still underway.

The Sucrest Corp., a large cane refiner, had a 45% gain in sales in the fiscal year ended June 30, which reflected increased shipments from all divisions aided by higher selling prices. But it reported a high operating loss due to a change in accounting methods for raw material inventories.

On Jan. 1, Americans paid 18 cents a pound for sugar, this week it is selling for about 50 cents and is due to go up next week to about 54 cents a pound.

Meanwhile, after many years when refiners displayed a conservative policy on expanding production capacity, some, such as Amstar, have allotted millions for expansion. Sugar stocks lately have shown the biggest gains on the New York Stock Exchange, with several having recently reached their yearly highs.

Because of growing international demand and speculation in sugar commodity futures, the price of raw sugar has jumped to record levels. In July, for example, the spot or immediate price for raw sugar was 26 cents a pound. Three months later, it was 41 cents a pound. Wednesday it closed at 46½ cents a pound.

Although such authoritative sources as Clayton Yeutter, assistant secretary of agriculture for international affairs and commodity programs, believe demand will decline soon because of the erosion in consumer purchasing power, most industry figures see little sign that the consumer price will drop.

Quittmeyer of Amstar, for one, said flatly, "Prices will go higher before they go lower, and then they will stabilize.

"Sugar has always been priced too low."

Many foreign countries are competing with the United States for the world sugar supplies. Reports persist in the domestic sugar industry that the major oil-producing countries are engaged in substantial speculation in sugar.

Coal Negotiator Sees Accord Soon

Washington (UPI) — An industry spokesman said Thursday the coal companies and the United Mine Workers Union could reach a tentative contract agreement sometime this weekend, averting a strike that would cause severe winter fuel shortages.

Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the coal companies, gave President Ford an optimistic briefing on the progress of the wage contract talks and told newsmen the two sides were "pretty much in substantial agreement" on five main issues.

Farmer did not say what those issues were, but they seemed likely to include safety improvements the miners have been demanding.

He also mentioned that the issues of cost-of-living escalators, benefits, surface-mining problems and wage classifications remained unresolved.

"There's no neat little package there that we can say is all tied up in ribbons," he said.

Asked whether an agreement could be reached this week, he said it could and then added, "Give us the weekend."

The current contract covering about 120,000 miners and 1,200 mines expires Nov. 12.

It covers some 70% of the nation's coal supply, and energy experts have said even temporary loss of those supplies would deal a severe blow to the winter fuel supplies.

FTC Charges 4 Oil Companies With Trade Restraint Conspiracy

Washington (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission Thursday accused four of the nation's biggest oil companies of conspiring to restrain trade by offering consumers a common line of tires, batteries and other automobile accessories.

The action alleged that Exxon Corp., the largest oil company in the country; Amoco Oil Co.; Standard Oil of California, and the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) eliminated competition among themselves through common ownership of the Atlas Supply Co.

The proposed complaint seeks to have three of the companies sell the accessory business to a fourth, or to have all four get out of the business.

According to the complaint, sales of Atlas products during 1973 amounted to $273 million.

The action alleged that the four companies put their senior executives on the Atlas board, where they then agreed to the types of products that would be sold as well the advertising, cost, competition and guarantee programs.

Amoco is the nation's sixth largest petroeum company. Socal is the fifth largest and Sohio is the 16th largest. Between them, they operate more than 50,000 service stations.

The commission voted 3 to 2 to issue the proposed complaint. Chairman Lewis J. Ingman and Commissioner Mayo J. Thompson voted against the action.

Music news is covered thoroughly in the "Sunday Journal and Star."

REPUBLICANS SAY:
"Nebraska Needs Jim Exon Again as Governor."

"We Republicans and the state-wide organizations we represent are enthusiastically supporting the re-election of Governor Jim Exon. Why? Because he has a proven record of dedication to and concern for all Nebraskans, rural and urban alike. There is no question that Jim Exon has been one of the best Governors this State has ever produced, regardless of political affiliation."

WHEN YOU GO TO THE POLLS NOVEMBER 5TH, YOU'LL HAVE AN UNUSUAL, IF NOT UNPRECEDENTED, THREE CHOICES FOR GOVERNOR. WE FEEL THAT YOUR "X" WOULD BE BEST PLACED IN THE BOX NEXT TO THE NAME OF J. JAMES EXON. NO POLITICIAN WE KNOW OF IS PERFECT. AND WE'VE TAKEN EDITORIAL ISSUE WITH GOVERNOR EXON SEVERAL TIMES OVER THE PAST FOUR YEARS. BUT LOOKING BACK WITH 20-20 HINDSIGHT, OUR GOVERNOR HAS DONE A PRETTY COMMENDABLE JOB FOR NEBRASKA. HIS WORD HAS BEEN HIS BOND, AND AS POLITICIANS GO, THAT'S VERY REFRESHING.

J. J. EXON PROMISED 4-YEARS AGO TO HOLD-THE-LINE ON THEN ESCALATING STATE TAX RATES. HE KEPT HIS WORD. HE VOWED TO SHUN DEFICIT FINANCING AND BONDED DEBT FOR A PAY-AS-YOU-GO PHILOSOPHY. AGAIN, HE KEPT HIS WORD.

DURING THIS FIRST 4 EXON YEARS, NEBRASKA HAS SEEN UNPRECEDENTED INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT, ESTABLISHMENT OF THE STATE'S FIRST ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY, INCREASED STATE AID TO EDUCATION, WITH AT LEAST SOME PROPERTY TAX RELIEF, A NEW STATEWIDE SYSTEM OF TECHNICAL VOCATIONAL COLLEGES, REALISTIC AND INFORMED PENAL POLICIES AND PROGRESSIVE RETARDATION AND MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAMS. NEBRASKA WAS HONORED AS THE FIRST STATE TO COMPLETE CONSTRUCTION OF ITS MAINLINE INTERSTATE SYSTEM. ALL HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED THROUGH AN OVERALL SOUND, EVEN-HANDED AND HONEST ADMINISTRATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT. JIM EXON BROUGHT TO THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE WHAT WE'VE NEEDED FOR A LONG TIME . . . A SOUND BUSINESS-LIKE APPROACH TO STATE GOVERNMENT ADMINISTRATION. IT'S A FORMULA THAT HAS WORKED RATHER WELL. WE ARE SURE IT WILL WORK FOR THE NEXT 4-YEARS. THAT'S WHY WE THINK JIM EXON DOES MAKE SENSE FOR NEBRASKA AND WE HEARTILY ENDORSE HIS CANDIDACY FOR RE-ELECTION.

CBS RADIO

"While there have been many outstanding editorial comments favorable to Governor Exon, we reprint herewith a statement by one of Nebraska's outstanding news gathering and reporting media that briefly sums up our feelings."

California GOP Loss Expected

©The New York Times

San Francisco — Unless they find a miraculous formula in the next week, California Republicans are expected to take a beating on election day.

The dimensions of their problem are as follows:

— Only one of the six officers of the state government who are elected statewide is currently a Democrat, but it is expected that only one will be a Republican after next Tuesday's elections.

— U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston, a Democrat, seems certain to be re-elected over his Republican opponent, State Sen. H. L. Richardson.

— Of the state's 43 congressional seats, Democrats now hold 24, and they may expand this to a 26-to-17 margin or even wider.

— The state legislature has been in Democratic control, and this grip may be expanded.

'No Miracles'

"I have no miracles," said Paul Haerle of San Francisco, Republican state vice chairman, "but I'm an eternal optimist."

Haerle also said he believed that if Republicans could get out the vote, they could win the governorship.

Mervin D. Field, operator of the California Poll, said his judgment, based on a month-old sampling, is that "unless we're breathing each other's exhaust" many rank-and-file Republicans, dispirited in the hangover from the Watergate scandals, might not bother to vote.

Richard M. Nixon's fall, and has subsequent pardon, have been felt in subtly different ways here from elsewhere, because he is a Californian, his political career was built on votes cast here and many of his appointees who got in trouble came from this state. California Republicans feel especially marked by what happened to Nixon.

William Holtzman, executive director of the California Democratic Party, said, "We have reason to feel optimistic."

While the Democrats, and most observers, now expect Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. to win the governorship easily over State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, elusive and ill-defined indications of growing strength for Flournoy have been detected by some reporters.

Younger Vs. Norris

After the governorship, most interest has focused on the reelection campaign of Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, the only Republican leading in statewide polls. Younger is opposed by William A. Norris, former chairman of the Los Angeles police commission. Norris has charged that Younger failed to prosecute properly complaints received against an oil drilling investment scheme, since bankrupt, in which Younger was an investor.

State Sen. Mervyn Dymally, a Democrat and a black man, is expected to win the lieutenant governorship over the incumbent, John Harmer, a state senator recently appointed to the job.

Democrat Kenneth Cory leads Republican William T. Bagley in polls in the race for state controller. Both are Assembly members. Assemblywoman March K. Fong, the Democratic nominee, leads Brian Van Camp, a Republican and protege of Gov. Ronald Reagan, in their race for secretary of state.

Democrat Jess Unruh, the former Assembly speaker who lost the governorship race in 1970, leads Republican John Kehoe, formerly Reagan's director of consumer affairs, in the campaign for state treasurer.

State Patrol Gets Boost To New High

A total of 31 new troopers joined the Nebraska State Patrol Thursday morning, bringing the number of patrolmen to 383, an all-time high.

Patrol Superintendent Col. C. P. Karthauser noted that the basic seven-week academic course the troopers were graduated from Thursday is just their first step of training. Now they will have six months of in-service instruction, followed by two additional weeks of classroom study.

Norman A. Otto, administrative assistant to Gov. J. James Exon, addressed the group.

Teacher Seeks Post With Clinic

Mrs. Marie Wilson, health teacher at Lefler Junior High School, was paraphrased in Thursday's Star as saying she hopes to work with a doctor from the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kans., on side effects of bio-feedback.

The sentence should have referred to the side effects of brain wave control rather than bio-feedback.

Mrs. Wilson, who hopes someday to bring bio-feedback analysis into Lincoln schools, says there are no harmful side effects to bio-feedback, which simply uses machines to help patients recognize physical signals from their bodies to better locate and treat sickness.

CAB Supports Anything Better In Air Service

Grand Island (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) official said the CAB supports any kind of plan which would provide better air service to Kearney, Grand Island and Hastings — including a regional airport.

Jim Kolstad, director of community - congressional relations for the CAB, made the comment at a meeting of the Central Nebraska Regional Airport Commitee.

He said the federal government does not want to be involved in the site selection for an airport. He encouraged the three cities to decide among themselves on a location. He said that if the site decision is left to the federal government, local officials may not be happy with the selection made.

Tekamah Man Killed By Car

Smithland, Iowa (AP) — Freman Marsh, 62, Tekamah, Neb., was killed late Wednesday when he was struck by a car while changing a tire on his car along a Woodbury County road three miles south of Smithland.

The Iowa Highway Patrol said Marsh was struck from the rear by a car driven by June Schick, 58, Rodney, who received head injuries and bruises.

California GOP Loss Expected

©The New York Times

San Francisco — Unless they find a miraculous formula in the next week, California Republicans are expected to take a beating on election day.

The dimensions of their problem are as follows:

— Only one of the six officers of the state government who are elected statewide is currently a Democrat, but it is expected that only one will be a Republican after next Tuesday's elections.

— U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston, a Democrat, seems certain to be re-elected over his Republican opponent, State Sen. H. L. Richardson.

— Of the state's 43 congressional seats, Democrats now hold 24, and they may expand this to a 26-to-17 margin or even wider.

— The state legislature has been in Democratic control, and this grip may be expanded.

'No Miracles'

"I have no miracles," said Paul Haerle of San Francisco, Republican state vice chairman, "but I'm an eternal optimist."

Haerle also said he believed that if Republicans could get out the vote, they could win the governorship.

Mervin D. Field, operator of the California Poll, said his judgment, based on a month-old sampling, is that "unless we're breathing each other's exhaust" many rank-and-file Republicans, dispirited in the hangover from the Watergate scandals, might not bother to vote.

Richard M. Nixon's fall, and has subsequent pardon, have been felt in subtly different ways here from elsewhere, because he is a Californian, his political career was built on votes cast here and many of his appointees who got in trouble came from this state. California Republicans feel especially marked by what happened to Nixon.

William Holtzman, executive director of the California Democratic Party, said, "We have reason to feel optimistic."

While the Democrats, and most observers, now expect Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. to win the governorship easily over State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, elusive and ill-defined indications of growing strength for Flournoy have been detected by some reporters.

Younger Vs. Norris

After the governorship, most interest has focused on the re-election campaign of Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, the only Republican leading in statewide polls. Younger is opposed by William A. Norris, former chairman of the Los Angeles police commission. Norris has charged that Younger failed to prosecute properly complaints received against an oil drilling investment scheme, since bankrupt, in which Younger was an investor.

State Sen. Mervyn Dymally, a Democrat and a black man, is expected to win the lieutenant governorship over the incumbent, John Harmer, a state senator recently appointed to the job.

Democrat Kenneth Cory leads Republican William T. Bagley in polls in the race for state controller. Both are Assembly members. Assemblywoman March K. Fong, the Democratic nominee, leads Brian Van Camp, a Republican and protege of Gov. Ronald Reagan, in their race for secretary of state.

Democrat Jess Unruh, the former Assembly speaker who lost the governorship race in 1970, leads Republican John Kehoe, formerly Reagan's director of consumer affairs, in the campaign for state treasurer.

State Patrol Gets Boost To New High

A total of 31 new troopers joined the Nebraska State Patrol Thursday morning, bringing the number of patrolmen to 383, an all-time high.

Patrol Superintendent Col. C. P. Karthauser noted that the basic seven-week academic course the troopers were graduated from Thursday is just their first step of training. Now they will have six months of in-service instruction, followed by two additional weeks of classroom study.

Norman A. Otto, administrative assistant to Gov. J. James Exon, addressed the group.

Special recognition was given to Douglas E. Cover of Kearney for superior performance in academic achievement and to Stacy L. Swinney of Ainsworth for the highest score in marksmanship.

The new troopers, their home towns and assignments are:

Teacher Seeks Post With Clinic

Mrs. Marie Wilson, health teacher at Lefler Junior High School, was paraphrased in Thursday's Star as saying she hopes to work with a doctor from the Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kans., on side effects of bio-feedback.

The sentence should have referred to the side effects of brain wave control rather than bio-feedback.

Mrs. Wilson, who hopes someday to bring bio-feedback analysis into Lincoln schools, says there are no harmful side effects to bio-feedback, which simply uses machines to help patients recognize physical signals from their bodies to better locate and treat sickness.

CAB Supports Anything Better In Air Service

Grand Island (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) official said the CAB supports any kind of plan which would provide better air service to Kearney, Grand Island and Hastings — including a regional airport.

Jim Kolstad, director of community - congressional relations for the CAB, made the comment at a meeting of the Central Nebraska Regional Airport Commitee.

He said the federal government does not want to be involved in the site selection for an airport. He encouraged the three cities to decide among themselves on a location. He said that if the site decision is left to the federal government, local officials may not be happy with the selection made.

Tekamah Man Killed By Car

Smithland, Iowa (AP) — Freman Marsh, 62, Tekamah, Neb., was killed late Wednesday when he was struck by a car while changing a tire on his car along a Woodbury County road three miles south of Smithland.

The Iowa Highway Patrol said Marsh was struck from the rear by a car driven by June Schick, 58, Rodney, who received head injuries and bruises.

Dental Hygiene Program

'Just Brush Away The Red'

By NANCY HICKS
Star Women's Editor

The kindergartners, red juice dribbling down their chins, scrubbed away with their toothbrushes. Mouths open wide, they peeked into their small mirrors and scrubbed away again.

The children at Yankee Hill School were showing off their teeth cleaning skills to a group of Headstart coordinators who had come from all parts of the state to learn about the Dental Hygiene Program.

Every morning kindergartners through second graders at Yankee Hill School spend about 15 minutes brushing their teeth as a part of the program, sponsored by the University of Nebraska Department of Preventative Dentistry and Community Health.

First the children chew half of a "disclosure" tablet, made of food coloring. The red in the pill adheres to the bacteria on the teeth and turns these areas red. Then the youngsters brush the red away.

No certain method of holding the brush or of brushing are taught, according to Dr. Robert Wood, department chairman. The children simply find out for themselves the best way for them to get rid of the red and thus the bacteria.

This program, aimed at preventing dental problems by teaching young children about dental hygiene, is currently operating in three county schools and three Lincoln schools, according to Dr. Wood.

The program started last year at the Yankee Hill School with the kindergartners, first and second graders. As the youngsters move up a grade they continue brushing, and each year the new crop of kindergartners are introduced to the program. In just a few years the entire school will be brushing the red away each morning.

The only way to make a dent in the dental health problems is to start early with the children and to operate a program on a regular basis, explained Dr. Wood.

The parents are also introduced to the program and children whose parents continue the program at home are the ones who most successfully avoid dental problems.

Parents can even begin their own program. The disclosure tablets, which simply show whether teeth are actually clean, are available at local drug stores, according to Dr. Wood.

During a daylong workshop held at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln this week, the 23 Headstart coordinators had a chance to role play youngsters just learning the tooth brushing techniques. They, too, brushed the red away.

The dental hygiene program is not the first nor the only hygiene program in the school system. The Lincoln Dental Society has actively supported dental health programs in the school, said Dr. Wood.

As parents of Yankee Hill School youngsters and Headstart coordinators look on, the kindergarten students try to brush away the red. This activity was part of a current Dental Hygiene Program, sponsored by the University of Nebraska Department of Preventative Dentistry and Community Health.

It's Never Too Late To Learn Defensive Driving

By GRACIA McANDREW
Star Staff Writer

Armed with lesson booklets, notebooks and pencils, 21 retired persons were back in the classroom Wednesday and Thursday mornings for defensive driving classes sponsored by the National Retired Teachers Association (NRTA) and the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

The course, which consists of two four-hour sessions or four two-hour sessions, was developed and provided by the National Safety Council.

Jay Kucera of the Nebraska Safety Council praised the group of retired persons conducting the classes for those 55 and older.

"They're doing a great job," he said.

Kucera stressed that the standardized course was designed to help people drive defensively and prevent accidents "in spite of the incorrect actions of others and adverse conditions.

"The National Safety Council recently made a study revealing that 90% of the adult driving population has never had formal education for driving," Kucera explained. "And, 80% of the accidents are caused by driving error."

The course consists of eight units which include various accident statistics, several films and lessons on avoiding the most common accidents.

"We stress preventive driving rather than blame," Kucera added. "People have to keep safety in their heads.

"Driving is a privilege not a right "

"The response to the class has been real good. We usually have from 25 to 40 people in each class," said instructor Harlan Taylor, who feels at home in the classroom situation, since he is a retired teacher and former principal of Northeast High School.

Initially, Taylor was a student in the defensive driving class and "then the inevitable happened" — he participated in the training program and became an instructor certified by the Nebraska Safety Council

"In this course we are teaching attitude," he explained. "We are trying to get them (class participants) to feel right about driving.

"The mature people take this because they want to increase their sense of security in driving "

A new member of the teaching team, Erven O. Brecina, also became interested in being an instructor after he enrolled in the course

"I've driven many, many miles in just about every condition you can think of," said Brecina, retired representative of the Boy Scouts of America.

"I think it (the class) is important because of the slaughter we have on the highways," he said. "And if there is anything that I can do, that is the thing to do.

"The course really helps, because you develop bad habits, as time goes on, that you don't realize you have "

"I thought I'd do everything possible to improve my driving and to see if there are any little flaws I've been overlooking," said one class participant, explaining her reasons for taking the defensive driving course.

"I think older people get kind of careless sometimes and I think they really need something like this," she added "I really do."

Former Adjutant General of Nebraska, Maj. Gen. (Ret.) Guy Henninger, who was also the state director of the Selective Service, was a participant in this week's two-day course. He indicated that he was hoping to become a better driver — one that would be able to avoid accidents.

"I'm getting to be an old man and old people's reaction time slows down," he said "I have never had an accident, but I have had a couple of close calls the last six months and this gave me some concern.

"I thought I might learn how to be more cautious "

Retired school teacher, Hazel L. Smith, hopes "to learn to be a more efficient defensive driver.

"I think this is something that every driver should have a knowledge of."

Besides, she said, "I don't like to sit at home in a rocking chair I like to meet people."

Opening lead - ten of spades.

Let's assume you're in three notrump and West leads the ten of spades. When you follow low from dummy, East signals with the eight and you win the trick with the king. You have eight winning tricks and the big question is what to do at trick two, remembering of course that you see only the North-South cards.

Two methods of play are worthy of consideration. One is to lead the king or queen of hearts, discarding a diamond from dummy, and the other is to lead the nine or jack of diamonds, planning to finesse.

The fact is that one of these plays is clearly correct and the other is clearly wrong. All the same, it is perfectly possible to make the wrong play, which is to lead a diamond instead of a heart at trick two.

The superficial attraction of leading a diamond is that you plan to finesse into the non-dangerous hand, East, who cannot advantageously return a spade. This reasoning is fallacious, as is demonstrated when West plays the queen of diamonds at trick two and knocks you right out of the box. As the cards lie, you are doomed, whatever you do next.

The correct view is that the contract cannot be made against proper defense unless East has the ace of hearts. The diamond setup is a snare and a delusion.

A diamond play at trick two contributes nothing of value to making the contract. Even if the diamonds are favorably placed, the contract will still be defeated with proper defense if West has the ace of hearts.

Leading the king or queen of hearts offers a much better chance for the contract and, in the actual case, settles the issue when it turns out that East has the ace.

It's Never Too Late To Learn Defensive Driving

By GRACIA McANDREW
Star Staff Writer

Armed with lesson booklets, notebooks and pencils, 21 retired persons were back in the classroom Wednesday and Thursday mornings for defensive driving classes sponsored by the National Retired Teachers Association (NRTA) and the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

The course, which consists of two four-hour sessions or four two-hour sessions, was developed and provided by the National Safety Council.

Jay Kucera of the Nebraska Safety Council praised the group of retired persons conducting the classes for those 55 and older.

"They're doing a great job," he said.

Kucera stressed that the standardized course was designed to help people drive defensively and prevent accidents "in spite of the incorrect actions of others and adverse conditions.

"The National Safety Council recently made a study revealing that 90% of the adult driving population has never had formal education for driving," Kucera explained. "And, 80% of the accidents are caused by driving error."

The course consists of eight units which include various accident statistics, several films and lessons on avoiding the most common accidents.

"We stress preventive driving rather than blame," Kucera added. "People have to keep safety in their heads.

"Driving is a privilege not a right."

"The response to the class has been real good. We usually have from 25 to 40 people in each class," said instructor Harlan Taylor, who feels at home in the classroom situation, since he is a retired teacher and former principal of Northeast High School.

Dental Hygiene Program

'Just Brush Away The Red'

By NANCY HICKS
Star Women's Editor

The kindergartners, red juice dribbling down their chins, scrubbed away with their toothbrushes. Mouths open wide, they peeked into their small mirrors and scrubbed away again.

The children at Yankee Hill School were showing off their teeth cleaning skills to a group of Headstart coordinators who had come from all parts of the state to learn about the Dental Hygiene Program.

Every morning kindergartners through second graders at Yankee Hill School spend about 15 minutes brushing their teeth as a part of the program, sponsored by the University of Nebraska Department of Preventative Dentistry and Community Health.

First the children chew half of a "disclosure" tablet, made of food coloring. The red in the pill adheres to the bacteria on the teeth and turns these areas red. Then the youngsters brush the red away.

No certain method of holding the brush or of brushing are taught, according to Dr. Robert Wood, department chairman. The children simply find out for themselves the best way for them to get rid of the red and thus the bacteria.

This program, aimed at preventing dental problems by teaching young children about dental hygiene, is currently operating in three county schools and three Lincoln schools, according to Dr. Wood.

The program started last year at the Yankee Hill School with the kindergartners, first and second graders. As the youngsters move up a grade they continue brushing, and each year the new crop of kindergartners are introduced to the program. In just a few years the entire school will be brushing the red away each morning.

The only way to make a dent in the dental health problems is to start early with the children and to operate a program on a regular basis, explained Dr. Wood.

The parents are also introduced to the program and children whose parents continue the program at home are the ones who most successfully avoid dental problems.

Parents can even begin their own program. The disclosure tablets, which simply show whether teeth are actually clean, are available at local drug stores, according to Dr. Wood.

During a daylong workshop held at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln this week, the 23 Headstart coordinators had a chance to role play youngsters just learning the tooth brushing techniques. They, too, brushed the red away.

The dental hygiene program is not the first nor the only hygiene program in the school system. The Lincoln Dental Society has actively supported dental health programs in the school, said Dr. Wood.

As parents of Yankee Hill School youngsters and Headstart coordinators look on, the kindergarten students try to brush away the red. This activity was part of a current Dental Hygiene Program, sponsored by the University of Nebraska Department of Preventative Dentistry and Community Health.

NEBRASKA
Re-elect a great Governor: Jim Exon

dear abby

Each Must Stand On His Own Record

DEAR ABBY: I've always been very proud of the fact that my family came to Massachusetts from England in 1637. My husband says it's nothing to brag about because the people who came here then were all criminals who had been run out of England.

My husband is of Italian descent. His parents didn't come here until 1900, but he claims he came from "royalty." He says that years ago when an Italian nobleman would get a peasant girl pregnant, the girl would leave her illegitimate baby on someone's doorstep. My husband says that he was such a child because his name, when translated, is the one given to those abandoned babies.

Anyway, I want to know whether I should be proud of my ancestry or ashamed? And how about my husband?

NEW ENGLANDER

DEAR NEW: Intelligent, discerning people don't judge others by what their ancestors did, so don't take any bows, or accept any blame for yours.

As I see it, the only aristocracy worth bragging about is the aristocracy of achievement. Everyone must stand on his own record.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's secretary has given him many costly gifts, ranging from travel accessories to art during the two years she has worked for him.

Some of the cards she has enclosed with these gifts have been embarrassingly personal.

I feel certain she is pursuing him, although he says he thinks I'm mistaken.

This young woman is divorced and has two children, and I know she could put her money to better use than buying gifts for my husband.

And I wish she would. How do we let her know?

PUZZLED IN N.J.

DEAR PUZZLED: This is not a job for "we" — your husband should handle it alone. And if he really wants to discourage further gift giving, he will — toot sweet!

DEAR ABBY: About six weeks ago, I met an insurance agent who happened to call at my door. I don't usually invite strangers in, but this man seemed exceptionally nice. Also, being single, I was more interested in him than I was in insurance.

After talking to him, I learned that he is new in town, and recently divorced.

First I invited him to my home for dinner, then he invited me out, and we've been dating ever since. After six weeks of enjoying each other's company he still hasn't invited me to see where he lives. I've hinted, but he hasn't offered. He spends too much time with me to be married, so that can't be the reason. Abby, why doesn't he want me to see where he lives?

I enjoy his company, and he takes me out a lot, but should I continue to invite him to my home when he never invites me to his?

BOTHERED

DEAR BOTHERED: He could be living in a cheap rooming house or an apartment of which he isn't very proud. As a newly divorced man he may have taken a financial beating, and is trying to get on his feet again. Don't fault him. You've known him only six weeks. Give him more time.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Type A Person Must Win, Win

Are you a Type A or a Type B personality? Depending on your answer, you may be preparing for a heart attack, according to Dr. Ron Daly, Extension family life specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Dr. Daly reported on some research which was carried on for the past 15 years, involving thousands of cases. The research studied behavior rather than diet.

Type A personalities were defined as those people with excessive ambition, overwhelming aggression, impatience and a slave to the clock. They were also compulsive and concerned with material gain. Type A persons are never really satisfied with their achievements, and are competing constantly, even in situations where it is meaningless. They want to win, win, win.

Dr. Daly said the research showed that the Type A personality was two and one-half times as prone to heart attacks as the Type B. The Type B personality was relaxed, easy going and not caught up in the routine of life.

Exercise Dampens Mealtime Appetite

In contrast to the belief that exercise makes you so hungry that you'll eat more than usual and put on weight, an October Reader's Digest article reveals that physically taxing exercise just before a meal can dull the appetite and cause caloric intake to fall below expenditure. Quoting the Harvard School of Public Health, the article notes that as little as one half-hour of moderate exercise each day can take off as much as 26 pounds in a year if you don't increase your caloric intake.

Osborne Says Humm Better, To Start Against Colorado

By KEN HAMBLETON
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska quarterback Dave Humm is going to start in Saturday's game against the Colorado Buffaloes, Husker head coach Tom Osborne said.

Humm didn't throw a pass in Wednesday's practice when the Huskers worked indoors due to rain and he apparently is still suffering somewhat from a back injury received in last weekend's game against Oklahoma State.

But Osborne said following Thursday's practice, "Humm looks better and will start."

Osborne also said that linebacker John Starkebaum, who suffered a knee strain he received in the OSU tilt, "should be ready and able to play. I'm certain he will see a lot of action Saturday," added Osborne.

As to the weather in Boulder, Osborne commented, "Anything can happen with the weather in Boulder. But, if it rains, it's going to rain on both teams."

One of the biggest threats to the Huskers this weekend will be tailback Bill Waddy, a 5-11, 180 pound sophomore, and fullback Terry Kunz, a 6-2, 210 junior.

"We hope to contain Waddy and Kunz. We have good quickness on defense and will do the best job we can," said Osborne.

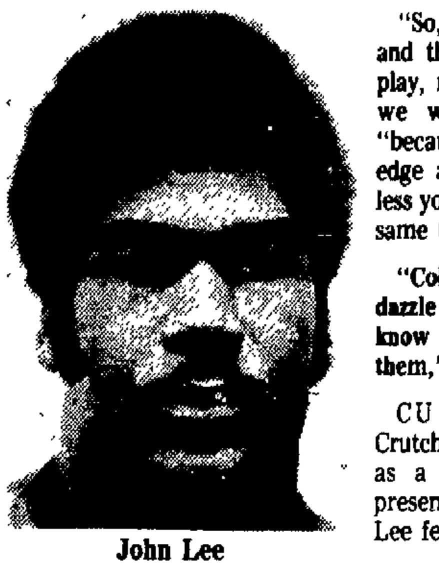
Waddy has rushed for 578 yards this season despite being held to only 17 yards against Missouri last week had gained over 100 yards in the three games previous to meeting the Tigers.

"Waddy is one of those runners that can have a good first and second quarter and then break loose," said Osborne referring to last year's top freshman in the Big Eight.

NU middle guard John Lee should give the Buffs some headaches, as he is one of the leading tacklers on the Nebraska squad, with a total of 50, including 24 unassisted tackles, and seven tackles for losses.

"Our defense is designed to allow the middle guard to get more tackles," said Lee, a 6-2, 252-pounder from Red Bank, N.J.

"You never know how good the opposing linemen will be until you play against him," Lee continued, "We only see the films once, and the coaches tell you to watch your position. Then we practice all week against the scout squad that tries to resemble the offense of the team we are going to play."



John Lee

"So, we get up for the game and the team we are going to play, rather than the individual we will face," he added, "because you can't gain any real edge against another team unless you are sure they will do the same thing every week."

"Colorado tries a lot of razzle-dazzle plays so you never really know just what to expect from them," said Lee.

CU quarterback Clyde Crutchmer, who is known more as a runner than a passer, presents no special problem as Lee feels.

"When a quarterback scrambles, you just go to the ball. The tackles are supposed to contain the offense, and the middle guard should force the plays," Lee said.

"I think that the wishbone is harder to work against, though, because they come off the ball quicker than other teams, Lee added, "But Colorado has some pretty quick linemen too."

Lee, who injured his ankle two weeks ago in practice states that playing middle guard can be dangerous.

"Sometimes you have four or more guys hitting you, or you may have to stop and come back to get the ball carrier and the chances of injury are great."

"To play middle guard at Nebraska you have to be in shape or you'll get killed," Lee concluded.

"Coach Kiffin gets everybody up for these games at once so we'll be watching for certain things and people. So we are all prepared for every game," said Lee.

Televised Game

The kickoff is set for 1 p.m. (CST) and a capacity crowd of more than 51,000 is expected for the tilt. ABC-TV will broadcast the game regionally to the western half of the U.S.

The 55-man travel squad will leave Lincoln at 1 p.m. Friday and return at Lincoln Municipal Airport at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

NFL Takes Hard Line Against Rival WFL

New York (UPI) — Amid increased speculation that several World Football League franchises are near collapse, the National Football League owners have decided to take a hard line, hoping the WFL will fall on its own.

"There will be no complete nor partial merger with the WFL" said NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle Thursday, "nor will any of its teams be taken in the NFL. I say this very strongly and with complete certainty, even more certainly than I said it about the American Football League."

Rozelle announced plans for the addition of four teams, two in 1976 and two more that year or later, bringing the league to 30 teams but insisted that none of these teams would come from the WFL.

Tampa, Fla., and Seattle were chosen to begin operation in 1976. Tom McCloskey, a builder and realtor, was selected to head the Tampa franchise but the owners failed to agree upon an owner for the Seattle franchise Thursday.

A group headed by Herman Sarkowsky, owner of the NBA's Portland Trailblazers, is considered to be the leading contender for that Seattle team.

"We've got our own expansion plans," Rozelle said. "There would be just nothing in it for the NFL to take two of the WFL's teams. They're either going to make it or not make it on their own. They're not going to get any help from us."

The WFL has not filed any major suits against the NFL yet as the AFL did when it attempted to force a merger in the early 1960s and Rozelle, with a sarcastic smile, said "They're playing it cozier this time."

Against the possibility that WFL players will attempt to join NFL clubs in mid-season, either because of the collapse of their WFL franchises or the end of the WFL season, the NFL owners, meeting here for the second day in a row, decided to reaffirm their policy of not allowing newly acquired players to join a team after the season's begun.

However, Duane Carroll, a punter from Jacksonville of the WFL who was acquired by Dallas recently and Howard Kindig, a center also from Jacksonville who was signed by the New York Jets, will be among the few WFL players allowed to remain with NFL teams this season.

Any future acquisitions from the WFL will have to wait until the 1975 season to play in the NFL.

Rozelle said he expects to announce the new Seattle owner within the next month, possibily within the next few days.

It is rumored that Sarkowsky's group and two others competing for the team, have been experiencing difficulties raising the $16 million that it costs to buy into the NFL, plus the additional money any Seattle owner will need to set up his team in the new 62,000 domed stadium under construction.

Sam Schulman, president of the Seattle Supersonics of the NBA, and Dan Martin of Los Angeles are reported to be heading the two other groups wanting to buy the Seattle club.

Links Hoping To Stop East With Techniques

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Editor

Technique, according to Lincoln High assistant football coach Marv Mueller, makes a good defensive team.

"Technique means you have to do certain things," he notes. "The tackles and nose guard may not always make the tackle, but if they do their job technique-wise, they'll tie up enough blockers to free someone else to make the tackle."

So far, during Lincoln High's 5-3 season, the Links have accomplished their "technique" goals. Not one of their eight opponents this season has scored more than 14 points.

Mueller, who calls the defensive signals, and head Lincoln High coach Jerry Ball hope that effectiveness continues Friday night when the unrated Links tackle second-ranked Lincoln East (8-0) at Seacrest Field.

"We've tried to maintain an attitude where we bend a little, but not let the big play kill us," relates Mueller, a three-year Nebraska starter at defensive back, monster and safety.

The Links run a monster defense, unlike the Cornhuskers, because "we do a lot more stunting and slanting," according to Mueller.

"I didn't create it," points out Mueller. "Jerry gathered it from several schools and comprised his own version. So far, it's worked very well for us."

Mueller coaches the linebackers and defensive backs. Ball is responsible for teaching the interior linemen technique.

Mueller, who co-captained Nebraska's 1967 football team, says all-state linebacker Mike Washington, middle guard Randy Taft, cornerback Uduak Udofia and safety Mark Rohnert have keyed the Links' defensive effort.

Lincoln High has allowed only 63.4 yards passing and 116.8 yards rushing per game for a per game total yield of 180.1 yards.

Taft just moved to middle guard from defensive tackle last week before the North Platte game.

"He gives us more speed, quickness and strength at middle guard," according to Mueller, who calls linebacker Allen Massa "our most improved defensive player. He's started every game and has gotten better every week."

Lincoln High's defense includes ends Doug Larkins and John Beaver, tackles Scott McMeen and Charlie Metzger, middle guard Taft, linebackers Washington and Massa, monster Gary Tarrence, cornerbacks Udofia and Bob McCullough and safety Mark Rohnert.

"They're real hungry this week," according to Mueller. "They're anxious to win that first city game. They haven't been hungry all the time, but they are this week for East. I hope that's a good sign."

The East-Lincoln High test will be viewed by Southeast and Northeast with added interest.

A Spartan loss to the unrated Links would mean the winner of next week's season finale Knights-Rocket game could tie East for the city championship.

Eighth-ranked Southeast's attention following last week's disappointing 17-8 loss to Millard is directed at Papillion. The Monarchs and Knights battle Saturday night at Seacrest Field in an Eastern I-80 Conference contest.

Southeast coach Frank Solich labeled the loss to Millard as "perhaps the most frustrating one in my coaching career."

While East, Lincoln High and Southeast play in the Capital City this weekend, Northeast and Pius X face road assignments.

Third-ranked Northeast (7-1) plays at Ralston (1-7) Friday night in an Eastern I-80 game and the second-ranked Class B Thunderbolts (7-1) play Omaha Cathedral (2-6) Saturday night at Benson Field in Omaha.

Benson Field is located one block north of 52nd St. and Military Ave. Fans should take I-680 to Military Ave. and continue five miles to the stadium, according to Cathedral officials.

No. 1 Benson, Iowans Tie

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)—Nebraska's top-ranked Omaha Benson ran into wet grounds and an enthusiastic Council Bluffs Abraham Lincoln team Thursday night and came away with a 6-6 tie.

Benson scored first on an eight-yard run by Bobby Bass with six seconds left in the first half. The extra point try failed.

Abraham Lincoln tied the game with six minutes left in the game as John Barber jumped on a blocked punt for a touchdown. The extra point try by Jim Currie failed.

The game was largely a defensive struggle as both teams were hampered by penalties and wet grounds.

The tie puts the first blemish on Benson's 1974 record. They are 7-0-1. Abraham Lincoln has a 5-2-1 season record.

Rockets Hand Bullets First Setback, 95-92

By United Press International

Guard Dave Wohl hit three free throws in the last 13 seconds Thursday night sparking the Houston Rockets to an upset 95-92 victory over previously unbeaten Washington Bullets.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Cleveland topped Detroit, 118-101 and New York edged Atlanta, 93-90.

Houston led 92-90 with 19 seconds left and Wohl, who scored 29 points to lead the Rockets, was fouled by Wes Unseld.

The 6-2 guard made the first of two attempts, but was fouled again and made both free throws seconds after Phil Chenier made a bucket for the bullets.

The loss was Washington's first in eight games. The Bullets shot cold in the first half and Houston ran up a 13-point lead.

The Rockets, 4-3, held a seven-point halftime lead, but the Bullets had whittled it to five by the end of the third quarter. Mike Riordan's corner shot put Washington in the lead 72-71.

The Bullets led twice more in the final period before Mike Newlin's bucket with six minutes left put the Rockets on top for good.

Chenier tied Wohl for high point honors, and Bullets guard Kevin Porter added 18.

Forward Rudy Tomjanovich got 17 points, and the Rockets counted on Zaid Abdul-Aziz for a game high 19 rebounds. Zaid helped hold Unseld to four points.

Austin Carr, who poured in 31 points, and Bobby Smith chipped in with 18 to spark the Cavaliers to a victory over the Pistons.

The Cavs, trailing by 10 points midway through the second period, shot a sizzling 65 per cent in the third quarter and went ahead to stay 61-60 on a pair of foul shots by Dick Snyder with 2:26 gone in the second half.

Detroit's Bob Lanier canned 13 of 16 from the field in the first half for a 31 point effort that gave the Pistons a 58-55 halftime lead.

But the big center was held to only 10 points in the second half as the Cleveland defense stiffened.

The victory, the first in the new coliseum for Cleveland, was the Cavs fourth in their last five games and gave them a 4-4 mark for the season. The Pistons are now 3-4.

Earl Monroe's pulled out all his tricks to penetrate the Atlanta defense and score a game high 35 points, giving the Knicks a win over the Hawks.

The Knicks' other starting guard, Walt Frazier, was injured in the first minute of play and will be out for five to seven days.

Frazier's left eye was scratched and he was sent to St. Clair's hospital for further examination.

The Hawks, sparked by Rookie John Drew who scored 27 points, led 86-84 with less than three minutes remaining in the game. A Knick burst of 9-2 in a 2:40 span insured the victory.

In the last quarter, Monroe scored 10 points including six consecutive Knick points in a minute and 45 seconds.

The game was close throughout with the biggest lead being five points, 66-61 in favor of New York midway through the third period, and in a tight first quarter the lead changed 11 times.

New York's Bill Bradley, who was scoreless until seven minutes of the second quarter had passed, then tallied seven straight points and wound up with 15 for the night.

GINW Gals Win Net Title

Crete — Grand Island Northwest won the Central 10 girls volleyball title here Thursday night by beating host Crete, 15-4, 15-11.

The Grand Island team beat Ord, 15-13, 15-6 and Crete topped Central Central, 15-3, 15-5, in the semifinals.

Central City bested Ord, 14-16, 15-11 and 15-11 for consolation honors.

Massengales Lead Tourney

Lake Buena Vista, Fla. (UPI) — Two brothers from Texas corralled two eagles and six birdies Thursday for a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $250,000 National Team Golf Championship at Walt Disney World.

Don and Rik Massengale, saying it helps to be kin, posted a 10-under-par 62 in best ball competition on Disney's 7,162-yard Magnolia Course.

"We basically know what each other is doing and I think that helps in a situation like this," said Don, the elder brother who quit the tour in 1970 and today is club pro at April Sound North of Houston.

It was Rik Massengale, 27, four years on the tour who provided the most spectacular fireworks. Winless so far in his PGA career, Rik made eagle on the 514-yard, fourth hole and the 526-yard 10th — both par fives — and sank four other birdie putts.

Finishing at 63, one stroke behind the leaders, was a group of teams including Dave Eichelberger and Steve Melnyk, But Allin and Al Geiberger, Bobby Mitchell and Gibby Gilbert, Lee Elder and Bob Murphy and Mike and Dave Hill, another team of brothers.

Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf, the pre-tournament favorites among the field of 111 teams, finished far off the pace at 67 in a round Nicklaus described as "not very exciting."

"We just didn't make the putts we should have made," added Weiskopf.

Johnny Miller, the season's top money winner with more than $300,000, pooled his talents with Grier Jones, But wound up six strokes off the pace at 68.

"It was ridiculously bad putting," Miller said. "We just didn't make any. We never did stick in there close."

And Jones added, "It really was an uneventful round."

Rik Massengale, the father of two young daughters who calls Charlotte, Tex. home, said, "This is about my worst year ever." He has pocketed only about $15,000 up to this last stop. Last year he won about $42,000.

The winners of the Disney Classic will split $50,000.

Melnyk, who sank only two of his team's nine birdies, commented, "Dave did all the playing and I just tried to hold on."

And Eichelberger, who dropped one 50-footer, said, "you feel more pressure in team play because you don't want to let your partner down."

Mitchell, playing on the tighter palm course, eagled the 588-yard, par five 14th and got a lot of help from Gilbert in collecting seven other birdies with no bogeys.

Nicklaus said in team play, "The big thing is a guy has to do is play his own game and not worry about what his partner is doing."

Grace Scores 2nd Knockout

Omaha — Easterday Boxing Club's Don Grace, 166, has made a good beginning for an amateur fighter, scoring a knockout over Terry Dewall of Foxhole Boxing Club.

Grace KO'd the heavier Dewall in :53 of the second round. In his first fight, he knocked out Howard Williams in the same round.

The only upset of Lincoln fighters on the Omaha card was defending Southeast District Golden Gloves boxer Ray Menefee who lost a close three round decision to Wayne Grant.

Foreman Claims To Be Victim Of Quick Count

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — George Foreman, his face still puffy but unmarked from the battering administered by Muhammad Ali in their heavyweight title fight, said Thursday he was the victim of a quick count.

The dethroned champion, counted out at 2:58 of the eighth round of the scheduled 15-round bout Wednesday, said belatedly, "In my mind I heard the count and beat it. I started hearing the referee (Zach Clayton of Philadelphia) at four and then looked for my corner. They told me to stay down. I was so embarrased when I went down that I wanted to get up right away. I was amazed when I did get up to hear the referee say it was over.

"I hope someone times the knockdown from the tapes to see if I am right because I am convinced of it."

A veteran Associated Press boxing writer in New York did exactly as Foreman requested—and he did it right after the fight while watching a rerun of the round on closed circuit television.

However, he did not agree with Foreman's contention of a quick count. His check of a stopwatch of the entire eighth round confirmed that Foreman had been counted out fairly.

George Foreman
Eye Swollen

When Foreman hit the canvas from a volley of punches at 2:48 of the eighth round, Clayton moved Ali to a neutral corner, taking two seconds, and picked up the count at three.

Seconds later, when the count reached 10, confusion and chaos reigned in the ring, and it was uncertain that the fight officially was over.

"I didn't know the fight was over until until I saw Ali's handlers in the ring," Foreman said.

While Foreman was critical of the decision and insisted he could have continued if the count had been otherwise, his manager, Dick Sadler, brushed aside any allegations of a quick count.

"The decision rendered was satisfactory," said Sadler.

However, judge Nouriddine Adalla of Tunisia, satting at ringside, agreed with Foreman.

"I do not want to criticize a colleague in a difficult job," said Adalla. "But gi think the count did go a little too fast. It seemed that way to me. I think he may have picked up the count two seconds off."

Foreman also indicated that Sadler should have been tougher in supervising ring conditions. He charged that Ali's seconds loosened the ring ropes before and during the fight, giving Muhammad more room to lean away. "It was a hustle," Foreman charged.

He also said the canvas was too soft. "Dick didn't pay much attention to it," he added. "But when you sunk into that stuff, it was like quick sand and it was hard to get your punches off."

Foreman then said he would like to fight Ali again and redeem himself.

"If the opportunity ever presents itself again, the story will be different," Foreman promised. "I didn't think he was the best man I have ever fought. I'm not going to give any names and I know what I'm saying defies logic, but that's the way I feel."

Osborne Says Humm Better, To Start Against Colorado

By KEN HAMBLETON
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska quarterback Dave Humm is going to start in Saturday's game against the Colorado Buffaloes, Husker head coach Tom Osborne said.

Humm didn't throw a pass in Wednesday's practice when the Huskers worked indoors due to rain and he apparently is still suffering somewhat from a back injury received in last weekend's game against Oklahoma State.

But Osborne said following Thursday's practice, "Humm looks better and will start."

Osborne also said that linebacker John Starkebaum, who suffered a knee strain he received in the OSU tilt, "should be ready and able to play. I'm certain he will see a lot of action Saturday," added Osborne.

As to the weather in Boulder, Osborne commented, "Anything can happen with the weather in Boulder. But, if it rains, it's going to rain on both teams."

One of the biggest threats to the Huskers this weekend will be tailback Bill Waddy, a 5-11, 180 pound sophomore, and fullback Terry Kunz, a 6-2, 210 junior.

"We hope to contain Waddy and Kunz. We have good quickness on defense and will do the best job we can," said Osborne.

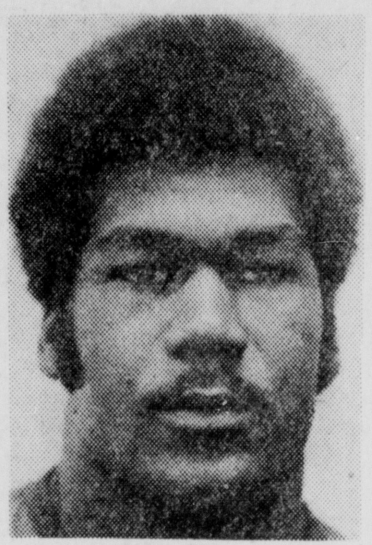
Waddy has rushed for 578 yards this season despite being held to only 17 yards against Missouri last week had gained over 100 yards in the three games previous to meeting the Tigers.

"Waddy is one of those runners that can have a good first and second quarter and then break loose," said Osborne referring to last year's top freshman in the Big Eight.

NU middle guard John Lee should give the Buffs some headaches, as he is one of the leading tacklers on the Nebraska squad, with a total of 50, including 24 unassisted tackles, and seven tackles for losses.

"Our defense is designed to allow the middle guard to get more tackles," said Lee, a 6-2, 252-pounder from Red Bank, N.J.

"You never know how good the opposing linemen will be until you play against him," Lee continued, "We only see the films once, and the coaches tell you to watch your position. Then we practice all week against the scout squad that tries to resemble the offense of the team we are going to play."



John Lee

"So, we get up for the game and the team we are going to play, rather than the individual we will face," he added, "because you can't gain any real edge against another team unless you are sure they will do the same thing every week."

"Colorado tries a lot of razzle-dazzle plays so you never really know just what to expect from them," said Lee.

CU quarterback Clyde Crutchmer, who is known more as a runner than a passer, presents no special problem as Lee feels.

"When a quarterback scrambles, you just go to the ball. The tackles are supposed to contain the offense, and the middle guard should force the plays," Lee said.

"I think that the wishbone is harder to work against, though, because they come off the ball quicker than other teams, Lee added, "But Colorado has some pretty quick linemen too."

Lee, who injured his ankle two weeks ago in practice states that playing middle guard can be dangerous.

"Sometimes you have four or more guys hitting you, or you may have to stop and come back to get the ball carrier and the chances of injury are great."

"To play middle guard at Nebraska you have to be in shape or you'll get killed," Lee concluded.

"Coach Kiffin gets everybody up for these games at once so we'll be watching for certain things and people. So we are all prepared for every game," said Lee.

Televised Game

The kickoff is set for 1 p.m. (CST) and a capacity crowd of more than 51,000 is expected for the tilt. ABC-TV will broadcast the game regionally to the western half of the U.S.

The 55-man travel squad will leave Lincoln at 1 p.m. Friday and return at Lincoln Municipal Airport at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

NFL Takes Hard Line Against Rival WFL

New York (UPI) — Amid increased speculation that several World Football League franchises are near collapse, the National Football League owners have decided to take a hard line, hoping the WFL will fall on its own.

"There will be no complete nor partial merger with the WFL" said NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle Thursday, "nor will any of its teams be taken in the NFL. I say this very strongly and with complete certainty, even more certainly than I said it about the American Football League."

Rozelle announced plans for the addition of four teams, two in 1976 and two more that year or later, bringing the league to 30 teams but insisted that none of these teams would come from the WFL.

Tampa, Fla., and Seattle were chosen to begin operation in 1976. Tom McCloskey, a builder and realtor, was selected to head the Tampa franchise but the owners failed to agree upon an owner for the Seattle franchise Thursday.

A group headed by Herman Sarkowsky, owner of the NBA's Portland Trailblazers, is considered to be the leading contender for that Seattle team.

"We've got our own expansion plans," Rozelle said. "There would be just nothing in it for the NFL to take two of the WFL's teams. They're either going to make it or not make it on their own. They're not going to get any help from us."

The WFL has not filed any major suits against the NFL yet as the AFL did when it attempted to force a merger in the early 1960s and Rozelle, with a sarcastic smile, said "They're playing it cozier this time."

Against the possibility that WFL players will attempt to join NFL clubs in mid-season, either because of the collapse of their WFL franchises or the end of the WFL season, the NFL owners, meeting here for the second day in a row, decided to reaffirm their policy of not allowing newly acquired players to join a team after the season's begun.

However, Duane Carroll, a punter from Jacksonville of the WFL who was acquired by Dallas recently and Howard Kindig, a center also from Jacksonville who was signed by the New York Jets, will be among the few WFL players allowed to remain with NFL teams this season.

Any future acquisitions from the WFL will have to wait until the 1975 season to play in the NFL.

Rozelle said he expects to announce the new Seattle owner within the next month, possibily within the next few days.

It is rumored that Sarkowsky's group and two others competing for the team, have been experiencing difficulties raising the $16 million that it costs to buy into the NFL, plus the additional money any Seattle owner will need to set up his team in the new 62,000 domed stadium under construction.

Sam Schulman, president of the Seattle Supersonics of the NBA, and Dan Martin of Los Angleles are reported to be heading the two other groups wanting to buy the Seattle club.

Rockets Hand Bullets First Setback, 95-92

By United Press International

Guard Dave Wohl hit three free throws in the last 13 seconds Thursday night sparking the Houston Rockets to an upset 95-92 victory over previously unbeaten Washington Bullets.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Cleveland topped Detroit, 118-101 and New York edged Atlanta, 93-90.

Houston led 92-90 with 19 seconds left and Wohl, who scored 29 points to lead the Rockets, was fouled by Wes Unseld.

The 6-2 guard made the first of two attempts, but was fouled again and made both free throws seconds after Phil Chenier made a bucket for the bullets.

The loss was Washington's first in eight games. The Bullets shot cold in the first half and Houston ran up a 13-point lead.

The Rockets, 4-3, held a seven-point halftime lead, but the Bullets had whittled it to five by the end of the third quarter. Mike Riordan's corner shot put Washington in the lead 72-71.

The Bullets led twice more in the final period before Mike Newlin's bucket with six minutes left put the Rockets on top for good.

Chenier tied Wohl for high point honors, and Bullets guard Kevin Porter added 18.

Forward Rudy Tomjanovich got 17 points, and the Rockets counted on Zaid Abdul-Aziz for a game high 19 rebounds. Zaid helped hold Unseld to four points.

Austin Carr, who poured in 31 points, and Bobby Smith chipped in with 18 to spark the Cavaliers to a victory over the Pistons.

The Cavs, trailing by 10 points midway through the second period, shot a sizzling 65 per cent in the third quarter and went ahead to stay 61-60 on a pair of foul shots by Dick Snyder with 2:26 gone in the second half.

Detroit's Bob Lanier canned 13 of 16 from the field in the first half for a 31 point effort that gave the Pistons a 58-55 halftime lead.

But the big center was held to only 10 points in the second half as the Cleveland defense stiffened.

The victory, the first in the new coliseum for Cleveland, was the Cavs fourth in their last five games and gave them a 4-4 mark for the season. The Pistons are now 3-4.

Earl Monroe's pulled out all his tricks to penetrate the Atlanta defense and score a game high 35 points, giving the Knicks a win over the Hawks.

The Knicks' other starting guard, Walt Frazier, was injured in the first minute of play and will be out for five to seven days.

Frazier's left eye was scratched and he was sent to St. Clair's hospital for further examination.

The Hawks, sparked by Rookie John Drew who scored 27 points, led 86-84 with less than three minutes remaining in the game. A Knick burst of 9-2 in a 2:40 span insured the victory.

In the last quarter, Monroe scored 10 points including six consecutive Knick points in a minute and 45 seconds.

The game was close throughout with the biggest lead being five points, 66-61 in favor of New York midway through the third period, and in a tight first quarter the lead changed 11 times.

New York's Bill Bradley, who was scoreless until seven minutes of the second quarter had passed, then tallied seven straight points and wound up with 15 for the night.

GINW Gals Win Net Title

Crete — Grand Island Northwest won the Central 10 girls volleyball title here Thursday night by beating host Crete, 15-4, 15-11.

The Grand Island team beat Ord, 15-13, 15-6 and Crete topped Central Central, 15-3, 15-5, in the semifinals.

Central City bested Ord, 14-16, 15-11 and 15-11 for consolation honors.

Massengales Lead Tourney

Lake Buena Vista, Fla. (UPI) — Two brothers from Texas corralled two eagles and six birdies Thursday for a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $250,000 National Team Golf Championship at Walt Disney World.

Don and Rik Massengale, saying it helps to be kin, posted a 10-under-par 62 in best ball competition on Disney's 7,162-yard Magnolia Course.

"We basically know what each other is doing and I think that helps in a situation like this," said Don, the elder brother who quit the tour in 1970 and today is club pro at April Sound North of Houston.

It was Rik Massengale, 27, four years on the tour who provided the most spectacular fireworks. Winless so far in his PGA career, Rik made eagle on the 514-yard, fourth hole and the 526-yard 10th — both par fives — and sank four other birdie putts.

Finishing at 63, one stroke behind the leaders, was a group of teams including Dave Eichelberger and Steve Melnyk, But Allin and Al Geiberger, Bobby Mitchell and Gibby Gilbert, Lee Elder and Bob Murphy and Mike and Dave Hill, another team of brothers.

Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf, the pre-tournament favorites among the field of 111 teams, finished far off the pace at 67 in a round Nicklaus described as "not very exciting."

"We just didn't make the putts we should have made," added Weiskopf.

Johnny Miller, the season's top money winner with more than $300,000, pooled his talents with Grier Jones, But wound up six strokes off the pace at 68.

"It was ridiculously bad putting," Miller said. "We just didn't make any. We never did stick in there close."

And Jones added, "It really was an uneventful round."

Rik Massengale, the father of two young daughters who calls Charlotte, Tex. home, said, "This is about my worst year ever." He has pocketed only about $15,000 up to this last stop. Last year he won about $42,000.

The winners of the Disney Classic will split $50,000.

Melnyk, who sank only two of his team's nine birdies, commented, "Dave did all the playing and I just tried to hold on."

And Eichelberger, who dropped one 50-footer, said, "you feel more pressure in team play because you don't want to let your partner down."

Mitchell, playing on the tighter palm course, eagled the 588-yard, par five 14th and got a lot of help from Gilbert in collecting seven other birdies with no bogeys.

Nicklaus said in team play, "The big thing is a guy has to do is play his own game and not worry about what his partner is doing."

Links Hoping To Stop East With Techniques

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Editor

Technique, according to Lincoln High assistant football coach Marv Mueller, makes a good defensive team.

"Technique means you have to do certain things," he notes. "The tackles and nose guard may not always make the tackle, but if they do their job technique-wise, they'll tie up enough blockers to free someone else to make the tackle."

So far, during Lincoln High's 5-3 season, the Links have accomplished their "technique" goals. Not one of their eight opponents this season has scored more than 14 points.

Mueller, who calls the defensive signals, and head Lincoln High coach Jerry Ball hope that effectiveness continues Friday night when the unrated Links tackle second-ranked Lincoln East (8-0) at Seacrest Field.

"We've tried to maintain an attitude where we bend a little, but not let the big play kill us," relates Mueller, a three-year Nebraska starter at defensive back, monster and safety.

The Links run a monster defense, unlike the Cornhuskers, because "we do a lot more stunting and slanting," according to Mueller.

"I didn't create it," points out Mueller. "Jerry gathered it from several schools and comprised his own version. So far, it's worked very well for us."

Mueller coaches the linebackers and defensive backs. Ball is responsible for teaching the interior linemen technique.

Mueller, who co-captained Nebraska's 1967 football team, says all-state linebacker Mike Washington, middle guard Randy Taft, cornerback Uduak Udofia and safety Mark Rohnert have keyed the Links' defensive effort.

Lincoln High has allowed only 63.4 yards passing and 116.8 yards rushing per game for a per game total yield of 180.1 yards.

Taft just moved to middle guard from defensive tackle last week before the North Platte game.

"He gives us more speed, quickness and strength at middle guard," according to Mueller, who calls linebacker Allen Massa "our most improved defensive player. He's started every game and has gotten better every week."

Lincoln High's defense includes ends Doug Larkins and John Beaver, tackles Scott McMeen and Charlie Metzger, middle guard Taft, linebackers Washington and Massa, monster Gary Tarrence, cornerbacks Udofia and Bob McCullough and safety Mark Rohnert.

"They're real hungry this week," according to Mueller. "They're anxious to win that first city game. They haven't been hungry all the time, but they are this week for East. I hope that's a good sign."

The East-Lincoln High test will be viewed by Southeast and Northeast with added interest.

A Spartan loss to the unrated Links would mean the winner of next week's season finale Knights-Rocket game could tie East for the city championship.

Eighth-ranked Southeast's attention following last week's disappointing 17-8 loss to Millard is directed at Papillion. The Monarchs and Knights battle Saturday night at Seacrest Field in an Eastern I-80 Conference contest.

Southeast coach Frank Solich labeled the loss to Millard as "perhaps the most frustrating one in my coaching career."

While East, Lincoln High and Southeast play in the Capital City this weekend, Northeast and Pius X face road assignments.

Third-ranked Northeast (7-1) plays at Ralston (1-7) Friday night in an Eastern I-80 game and the second-ranked Class B Thunderbolts (7-1) play Omaha Cathedral (2-6) Saturday night at Benson Field in Omaha.

Benson Field is located one block north of 52nd St. and Military Ave. Fans should take I-680 to Military Ave. and continue five miles to the stadium, according to Cathedral officials.

No. 1 Benson, Iowans Tie

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)—Nebraska's top-ranked Omaha Benson ran into wet grounds and an enthusiastic Council Bluffs Abraham Lincoln team Thursday night and came away with a 6-6 tie.

Benson scored first on an eight-yard run by Bobby Bass with six seconds left in the first half. The extra point try failed.

Abraham Lincoln tied the game with six minutes left in the game as John Barber jumped on a blocked punt for a touchdown. The extra point try by Jim Currie failed.

The game was largely a defensive struggle as both teams were hampered by penalties and wet grounds.

The tie puts the first blemish on Benson's 1974 record. They are 7 0-1. Abraham Lincoln has a 5-2-1 season record.

Foreman Claims To Be Victim Of Quick Count

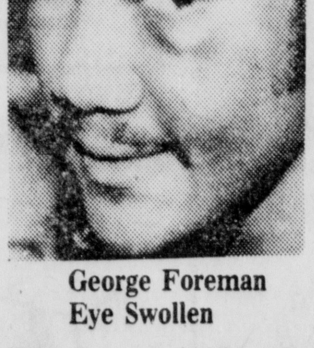
KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — George Foreman, his face still puffy but unmarked from the battering administered by Muhammad Ali in their heavyweight title fight, said Thursday he was the victim of a quick count.

The dethroned champion, counted out at 2:58 of the eighth round of the scheduled 15-round bout Wednesday, said belatedly, "In my mind I heard the count and beat it. I started hearing the referee (Zach Clayton of Philadelphia) at four and then looked for my corner. They told me to stay down. I was so embarrased when I went down that I wanted to get up right away. I was amazed when I did get up to hear the referee say it was over.

"I hope someone times the knockdown from the tapes to see if I am right because I am convinced of it."

A veteran Associated Press boxing writer in New York did exactly as Foreman requested—and he did it right after the fight while watching a rerun of the round on closed circuit television.

However, he did not agree with Foreman's contention of a quick count. His check of a stopwatch of the entire eighth round confirmed that Foreman had been counted out fairly.



George Foreman
Eye Swollen

When Foreman hit the canvas from a volley of punches at 2:48 of the eighth round, Clayton moved Ali to a neutral corner, taking two seconds, and picked up the count at three.

Seconds later, when the count reached 10, confusion and chaos reigned in the ring, and it was uncertain that the fight officially was over.

"I didn't know the fight was over until until I saw Ali's handlers in the ring," Foreman said.

While Foreman was critical of the decision and insisted he could have continued if the count had been otherwise, his manager, Dick Sadler, brushed aside any allegations of a quick count.

"The decision rendered was satisfactory," said Sadler.

However, judge Nouriddine Adalla of Tunisia, satting at ringside, agreed with Foreman.

"I do not want to criticize a colleague in a difficult job," said Adalla. "But gi think the count did go a little too fast. It seemed that way to me. I think he may have picked up the count two seconds off."

Foreman also indicated that Sadler should have been tougher in supervising ring conditions. He charged that Ali's seconds loosened the ring ropes before and during the fight, giving Muhammad more room to lean away. "It was a hustle," Foreman charged.

He also said the canvas was too soft. "Dick didn't pay much attention to it," he added. "But when you sunk into that stuff, it was like quick sand and it was hard to get your punches off."

Foreman then said he would like to fight Ali again and redeem himself.

"If the opportunity ever presents itself again, the story will be different," Foreman promised. "I didn't think he was the best man I have ever fought. I'm not going to give any names and I know what I'm saying defies logic, but that's the way I feel."

Each Must Stand On His Own Record

DEAR ABBY: I've always been very proud of the fact that my family came to Massachusetts from England in 1637. My husband says it's nothing to brag about because the people who came here then were all criminals who had been run out of England.

My husband is of Italian descent. His parents didn't come here until 1900, but he claims he came from "royalty." He says that years ago when an Italian nobleman would get a peasant girl pregnant, the girl would leave her illegitimate baby on someone's doorstep. My husband says that he was such a child because his name, when translated, is the one given to those abandoned babies.

Anyway, I want to know whether I should be proud of my ancestry or ashamed? And how about my husband?

NEW ENGLANDER

DEAR NEW: Intelligent, discerning people don't judge others by what their ancestors did, so don't take any bows, or accept any blame for yours.

As I see it, the only aristocracy worth bragging about is the aristocracy of achievement. Everyone must stand on his own record.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's secretary has given him many costly gifts, ranging from travel accessories to art during the two years she has worked for him.

Some of the cards she has enclosed with these gifts have been embarrassingly personal.

I feel certain she is pursuing him, although he says he thinks I'm mistaken.

This young woman is divorced and has two children, and I know she could put her money to better use than buying gifts for my husband.

And I wish she would. How do we let her know?

PUZZLED IN N.J.

DEAR PUZZLED: This is not a job for "we" — your husband should handle it alone. And if he really wants to discourage further gift giving, he will — toot sweet!

DEAR ABBY: About six weeks ago, I met an insurance agent who happened to call at my door. I don't usually invite strangers in, but this man seemed exceptionally nice. Also, being single, I was more interested in him than I was in insurance.

After talking to him, I learned that he is new in town, and recently divorced.

First I invited him to my home for dinner, then he invited me out, and we've been dating ever since. After six weeks of enjoying each other's company he still hasn't invited me to see where he lives. I've hinted, but he hasn't offered. He spends too much time with me to be married, so that can't be the reason. Abby, why doesn't he want me to see where he lives?

I enjoy his company, and he takes me out a lot, but should I continue to invite him to my home when he never invites me to his?

BOTHERED

DEAR BOTHERED: He could be living in a cheap rooming house or an apartment of which he isn't very proud. As a newly divorced man he may have taken a financial beating, and is trying to get on his feet again. Don't fault him. You've known him only six weeks. Give him more time.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Type A Person Must Win, Win

Are you a Type A or a Type B personality? Depending on your answer, you may be preparing for a heart attack, according to Dr. Ron Daly, Extension family life specialist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Dr. Daly reported on some research which was carried on for the past 15 years, involving thousands of cases. The research studied behavior rather than diet.

Type A personalities were defined as those people with excessive ambition, overwhelming aggression, impatience and a slave to the clock. They were also compulsive and concerned with material gain. Type A persons are never really satisfied with their achievements, and are competing constantly, even in situations where it is meaningless. They want to win, win, win.

Dr. Daly said the research showed that the Type A personality was two and one-half times as prone to heart attacks as the Type B. The Type B personality was relaxed, easy going and not caught up in the routine of life.

Exercise Dampens Mealtime Appetite

In contrast to the belief that exercise makes you so hungry that you'll eat more than usual and put on weight, an October Reader's Digest article reveals that physically taxing exercise just before a meal can dull the appetite and cause caloric intake to fall below expenditure. Quoting the Harvard School of Public Health, the article notes that as little as one half-hour of moderate exercise each day can take off as much as 26 pounds in a year if you don't increase your caloric intake.

A Big Waste of Tape?

Coaches, trainers and athletic directors may be shocked to learn they've been wasting money and time and even delaying recovery from sprains by taping ankles.

A study by the U.S. Military Academy at West Point has concluded that once an ankle sprain has been rehabilitated in an athlete nothing is to be gained by using protective taping.

The report, which is contained in the bimonthly newsletter from The Athletic Institute, was made to the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons after a study of 105 consecutive ankle sprains out of 350 injuries among cadets.

"We are not saying protective taping does not help prevent sprain," it said. "We are saying that once rehabilitation of a sprain is adequate, the chance of a re-sprain is not higher than in an untaped control group."

It was discovered ankle sprains in running competition to be less severe than those following falls from heights or in sports where bodily speed and forces are increased.

Recommended treatment is use of ice to minimize swelling. Then wrapping the ankle and elevating it. Once swelling has stabilized, bending of the ankle is begun at the patient's own pace. An intermittent pressure stocking also is used.

Following bending ability comes walking ability, including a toe rise to support the body weight. In the next phase, strengthening exercises are given, such as toe rises against a gym apparatus and turning the ankle in and out on an ankel machine.

Endurance is gained by jumping rope, stationary bicycling and running, with the injured ankle taped at the beginning of these workouts.

The final test is the ability to hop symmetrically, running a figure-8 pattern and speeding up and stopping abruptly without favoring the untaped injured ankle.

Simply put, don't sprain your ankle. You can save an awful lot of time and work.

Huskers Win Another Tight One

Nebraska goes to Colorado Saturday and the Huskers haven't lost there since 1960. The string will continue, but it will be another close finish. I'll take the Huskers by 21-14.

In other Big Eight games, Oklahoma will soften up Iowa State for Nebraska by winning by 35 points, Oklahoma State will top Kansas by 7 to end Jayhawk bowl hopes and stay alive in the conference race, and Missouri will squeeze past luckless Kansas State by 7.

Picking the rest of the games:

Southwest: Texas A & M over Arkansas, Texas over Southern Methodist, Texas Tech over Rice, Baylor over TCU.

Southeast: Auburn over Florida, Houston over Georgia, Kentucky over Tulane, Alabama over Mississippi State, LSU over Mississippi, Vanderbilt over Army.

York's Kelch Gets Changed

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Editor

York High School has been a team without an identity this season. And its quarterback, Max Kelch, was a player without an identity last August.

Kelch, a senior quarterback, reported to practice after spending two years as a second-team offensive guard, He was completely unsatisfied with the amount of football he was playing.

York, 6-0-1 this year, is a Class A team playing an exclusive Class B schedule, meaning the Dukes have not been able to muster any ratings support despite an unbeaten season.

First-year York coach Tom McClelland talked with Kelch and convinced him to try quarterback last August.

"Max picked up the footwork and ball handling very quickly," recalls McClelland, former Nebraska defensive back and assistant coach at Lincoln High.

"This left only his passing to work on," adds McClelland. "Max worked night after night after practice just throwing the ball.

"His improvement each game is very visible," according to McClelland. "He's one of the few high school athletes today totally dedicated to work and he's never satisfied with himself. He always feels he can do better."

Last week against Centennial, Kelch ran for one touchdown and passed for two more. His total offense was 180 yards, 165 of which came on a none-for-18 passing performance.

The effort vaulted Kelch into eighth place among state-wide Class A passing leaders, according to statistics compiled by the Sunday Journal and Star.

Omaha Roncalli's Kevin Quinn continues to lead the Class A passing charts with a 135.6-yard per game average. Omaha Ryan's Bruce Perdue and Lincoln Southeast's Tim Hager rank second and third, respectively.

Omaha Burke junior Tim Wurth continues his distinction as the state's leading Class A rusher with a 150.7-yard per game average in the rugged Metro Conference. Scottsbluff fullback Jim Ruzicka is second with 133.3 yards a game.

Lincoln Southeast's Randy Foster used a better than 100-yard receiving effort in a losing cause to Millard. last week to assume the state pass receiving lead. The senior slotback is averaging 57.5 reception yards a game.

Omaha Ryan's Pete Marinkovich moved into solid leadership in the Class A scoring race with 86 points. Three other players are tied for second with 60 points apiece.

NU Cagers Continue To Drill

With the basic fundamentals and techniques under its belt, Nebraska's basketball team this week is trying to "put it all together", according to Husker head coach Joe Cipriano.

"Instead of working separately with the offense and defense we're now starting to combine them," Cipriano said. "We're also getting into game situation, control scrimmages."

Veteran players, like junior All Big Eight quard Jerry Fort, are performing fairly well in practice and he attributes that to the fact the veteran players know the system better than anyone else.

Cipriano is not totally pleased with the Husker performance this week. "We need a lot more concentration from our new people," he said. "We also need better execution on offense. Overall, we just need more improvement on our weaknesses."

Sophomore center-forward Rickey Harris, who was out last week with a severe throat infection, has returned to practice, but according to Cipriano, has lost a lot of ground because of his illness.

Saturday morning, at 9:30 in the Coliseum, Cipriano and his staff will hold a free basketball clinic for all boys and girls, from the third through the sixth grades.

Tourney Being Led By U.S.

La Romana, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Florida's Gary Koch one-putted an incredible 12 greens, shot the tournament's first sub-par round, a two-under 70 and helped the United States grab a five-stroke lead Thursday after the second round of the World Amateur Golf Championship.

"I got on the putting green this morning and the putter just really felt good in my hands," said the 21-year-old Koch, a two-time Southeastern Conference champion who knocked nine shots off his first round score.

Curtis Strange of Wake Forest, whose final hole eagle last June beat Koch out of the National Collegiate title, added a 75 and George Burns had a 76 for the United States, giving it 221 for the day and a 36-hole total of 445. Alabama's Jerry Pate, the U.S. Amateur champion, was out of the scoring with a 77.

South Africa slid into second place at 450, paced by the even-par 72 of Jeff Hawkes, a University of Houston undergraduate.

Jaime Gonzalez, an Oklahoma State sophomore from Rio De Janiero who is representing Brazil, took over the individual lead with a 74 for 147.

There was a tie at 148 between first-round leader Robbie Meier of South Africa, who needed 37 putts in a 76 Thursday, and Satoshi Yamazaki of Japan, who had a 75.

Koch, among the first starters on another hot and breezy day at the Cajuiles Golf Course, a 6,774-yard layout on the edge of the Caribbean Sea, figures his early starting time helped him produce the first competitive sub-par round since this course was opened three years ago.

He had been among the last men out on Wednesday when he shot a first round 79.

"it was a little cooler, the wind wasn't blowing quite as hard, and it seems like I had a little more energy," he said.

Koch is without peer as the finest putter among American amateurs. In the U.S. Amateur this year, he won one of his matches after making a 500-foot putt on the 18th green, and Thursday he got it "up-and-down" to save pars eight of the nine times he missed a green.

There were four birdies and two bogeys in his round. The longest of the birdie putts was 300 feet. One of the bogeys in resulted from a three-putt at No. 8 where he missed from 18 inches — the only putt he missed all day from inside six feet.

Burns did not fare quite as well with his putter, missing five times from within 30 inches. But he did sink an 80-foot bunker shot for an eagle at the closing hole.

Before this competition began, Koch was the only member of the U.S. team to have represented the country in international competition, playing for the winning side in last year's Walker Cup matches.

He'll graduate from the University of Florida in December and plans to take a public relations job in Tampa, Fla., that will enable him to continue playing amateur golf.

Winter is when most batteries fail.
When you're stuck with a dead battery . . . you're stuck.
That's when you pay emergency prices . . . top dollar.
Now, during our battery sale, you can buy at our special prices—on a planned basis . . . not when you're stuck.
If you need a battery, buy one now when you still have a choice.

Tourney Being Led By U.S.

La Romana, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Florida's Gary Koch one-putted an incredible 12 greens, shot the tournament's first sub-par round, a two-under 70 and helped the United States grab a five-stroke lead Thursday after the second round of the World Amateur Golf Championship.

"I got on the putting green this morning and the putter just really felt good in my hands," said the 21-year-old Koch, a two-time Southeastern Conference champion who knocked nine shots off his first round score.

Curtis Strange of Wake Forest, whose final hole eagle last June beat Koch out of the National Collegiate title, added a 75 and George Burns had a 76 for the United States, giving it 221 for the day and a 36-hole total of 445. Alabama's Jerry Pate, the U.S. Amateur champion, was out of the scoring with a 77.

South Africa slid into second place at 450, paced by the even-par 72 of Jeff Hawkes, a University of Houston undergraduate.

Jaime Gonzalez, an Oklahoma State sophomore from Rio De Janiero who is representing Brazil, took over the individual lead with a 74 for 147.

There was a tie at 148 between first-round leader Robbie Meier of South Africa, who needed 37 putts in a 76 Thursday, and Satoshi Yamazaki of Japan, who had a 75.

Koch, among the first starters on another hot and breezy day at the Cajuiles Golf Course, a 6,774-yard layout on the edge of the Caribbean Sea, figures his early starting time helped him produce the first competitive sub-par round since this course was opened three years ago.

He had been among the last men out on Wednesday when he shot a first round 79.

"it was a little cooler, the wind wasn't blowing quite as hard, and it seems like I had a little more energy," he said.

Koch is without peer as the finest putter among American amateurs. In the U.S. Amateur this year, he won one of his matches after making a 500-foot putt on the 18th green, and Thursday he got it "up-and-down" to save pars eight of the nine times he missed a green.

There were four birdies and two bogeys in his round. The longest of the birdie putts was 300 feet. One of the bogeys in resulted from a three-putt at No. 8 where he missed from 18 inches — the only putt he missed all day from inside six feet.

Burns did not fare quite as well with his putter, missing five times from within 30 inches. But he did sink an 80-foot bunker shot for an eagle at the closing hole.

Before this competition began, Koch was the only member of the U.S. team to have represented the country in international competition, playing for the winning side in last year's Walker Cup matches.

He'll graduate from the University of Florida in December and plans to take a public relations job in Tampa, Fla., that will enable him to continue playing amateur golf.

Frillman Third In Tournament

Southern Pines, N.C. (AP) — Omaha Happy Hollow pro John Frillman finished third here Thursday in the $10,000 Izod International Invitational Golf Tournament at the Mid-Pines Club.

Frillman won $710 for his efforts, which included 71-73-73-74—291 for the 72-hole tournament.

A Big Waste of Tape?

Coaches, trainers and athletic directors may be shocked to learn they've been wasting money and time and even delaying recovery from sprains by taping ankles.

A study by the U.S. Military Academy at West Point has concluded that once an ankle sprain has been rehabilitated in an athlete nothing is to be gained by using protective taping.

The report, which is contained in the bimonthly newsletter from The Athletic Institute, was made to the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons after a study of 105 consecutive ankle sprains out of 350 injuries among cadets.

"We are not saying protective taping does not help prevent sprain," it said. "We are saying that once rehabilitation of a sprain is adequate, the chance of a re-sprain is not higher than in an untaped control group."

It was discovered ankle sprains in running competition to be less severe than those following falls from heights or in sports where bodily speed and forces are increased.

Recommended treatment is use of ice to minimize swelling. Then wrapping the ankle and elevating it. Once swelling has stabilized, bending of the ankle is begun at the patient's own pace. An intermittent pressure stocking also is used.

Following bending ability comes walking ability, including a toe rise to support the body weight. In the next phase, strengthening exercises are given, such as toe rises against a gym apparatus and turning the ankle in and out on an ankel machine.

Endurance is gained by jumping rope, stationary bicycling and running, with the injured ankle taped at the beginning of these workouts.

The final test is the ability to hop symmetrically, running a figure-8 pattern and speeding up and stopping abruptly without favoring the untaped injured ankle.

Simply put, don't sprain your ankle. You can save an awful lot of time and work.

Huskers Win Another Tight One

Nebraska goes to Colorado Saturday and the Huskers haven't lost there since 1960. The string will continue, but it will be another close finish. I'll take the Huskers by 21-14.

In other Big Eight games, Oklahoma will soften up Iowa State for Nebraska by winning by 35 points, Oklahoma State will top Kansas by 7 to end Jayhawk bowl hopes and stay alive in the conference race, and Missouri will squeeze past luckless Kansas State by 7.

Picking the rest of the games:

Southwest: Texas A & M over Arkansas, Texas over Southern Methodist, Texas Tech over Rice, Baylor over TCU

Southeast: Auburn over Florida, Houston over Georgia, Kentucky over Tulane, Alabama over Mississippi State, LSU over Mississippi, Vanderbilt over Army

Pacific-8: Southern Cal over California, Stanford over Oregon State, Washington over UCLA, Washington State over Oregon

York's Kelch Gets Changed

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Editor

York High School has been a team without an identity this season. And its quarterback, Max Kelch, was a player without an identity last August.

Kelch, a senior quarterback, reported to practice after spending two years as a second-team offensive guard, He was completely unsatisfied with the amount of football he was playing.

York, 6-0-1 this year, is a Class A team playing an exclusive Class B schedule, meaning the Dukes have not been able to muster any ratings support despite an unbeaten season.

First-year York coach Tom McClelland talked with Kelch and convinced him to try quarterback last August.

"Max picked up the footwork and ball handling very quickly," recalls McClelland, former Nebraska defensive back and assistant coach at Lincoln High.

"This left only his passing to work on," adds McClelland. "Max worked night after night after practice just throwing the ball.

"His improvement each game is very visible," according to McClelland. "He's one of the few high school athletes today totally dedicated to work and he's never satisfied with himself. He always feels he can do better."

Last week against Centennial, Kelch ran for one touchdown and passed for two more. His total offense was 180 yards, 165 of which came on a none-for-18 passing performance.

The effort vaulted Kelch into eighth place among state-wide Class A passing leaders, according to statistics compiled by the Sunday Journal and Star.

Omaha Roncalli's Kevin Quinn continues to lead the Class A passing charts with a 135.6-yard per game average. Omaha Ryan's Bruce Perdue and Lincoln Southeast's Tim Hager rank second and third, respectively.

Omaha Burke junior Tim Wurth continues his distinction as the state's leading Class A rusher with a 150.7-yard per game average in the rugged Metro Conference. Scottsbluff fullback Jim Ruzicka is second with 133.3 yards a game.

Lincoln Southeast's Randy Foster used a better than 100-yard receiving effort in a losing cause to Millard. last week to assume the state pass receiving lead. The senior slotback is averaging 57.5 reception yards a game.

Omaha Ryan's Pete Marinkovich moved into solid leadership in the Class A scoring race with 86 points. Three other players are tied for second with 60 points apiece.

NU Cagers Continue To Drill

With the basic fundamentals and techniques under its belt, Nebraska's basketball team this week is trying to "put it all together", according to Husker head coach Joe Cipriano.

"Instead of working separately with the offense and defense we're now starting to combine them," Cipriano said. "We're also getting into game situation, control scrimmages."

Veteran players, like junior All Big Eight guard Jerry Fort, are performing fairly well in practice and he attributes that to the fact the veteran players know the system better than anyone else.

Cipriano is not totally pleased with the Husker performance this week. "We need a lot more concentration from our new people," he said. "We also need better execution on offense. Overall, we just need more improvement on our weaknesses."

Sophomore center-forward Rickey Harris, who was out last week with a severe throat infection, has returned to practice, but according to Cipriano, has lost a lot of ground because of his illness.

Saturday morning, at 9:30 in the Coliseum, Cipriano and his staff will hold a free basketball clinic for all boys and girls, from the third through the sixth grades.

Centrum Hearing Set For Nov. 18

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

Merits and minuses of building the Centrum will come before Lincoln's City Council for a Public hearing No. 18.

That is the day when the lawmakers will hear what the people have to say about the parking garage-retail complex proposed for the downtown block from 11th to 12th, N to O.

To aid the council in its deliberations, city consultants Barton-Aschman Associates have put together the Centrum Redevelopment plan — in the form of a 172-page document.

Part of Contract

The plan was drafted as part of Barton-Aschman's $25,000 contract with the city, which also included a survey of the buildings in the block and a report on their condition.

It was from that survey that the City Council determined that the block was "blighted" and substandard" and fit for an overhaul under the state's urban redevelopment law.

In addition to giving documentation on the block's condition, the redevelopment plan also outlines the step-by-step procedure the city should follow in obtaining a developer for the merchandising section of the block, how to review developers' proposals, relocation assistance procedures for property owners and a financial plan.

The firm is suggesting that all potential developers be invited to submit proposals. And to make the job a little easier for the developer, Barton-Aschman suggests that a "Developer's Kit" be made available for a small fee —$25.

Negotiation Urged

The consultants also suggest that the city make "every reasonable effort" to acquire the land in the block by negotiation. Two appraisals of the property will be made.

Barton-Aschman also is recommending that the city agree not to take any action coercing the property owners into agreeing on a price.

But, the consultants say, if no price can be reached, the city should institute formal condemnation proceedings.

The Centrum's price-tag is set at $7,785,400.

That figure includes: $3,450,000 for the garage, $160,000 for public improvements, $150,000 for utilities, $200,000 to borrow money and $381,000 for other costs.

The city is proposing to finance the centrum through $2,300,000 in highway allocation funds, $4,012,900 in parking revenue bonds for the garage, $835,000 from general revenue sharing funds and $637,500 from selling the northern half of the block to a private developer.

Car Occupants Survive Lightning Bolt

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

They say a car is the safest place to be when lightning strikes.

Four members of an Omaha to Lincoln car pool can testify that it's true. Their car was struck by lightning and they're still around to tell about it.

"It sounded like an explosion and there was a flash of light. We thought the car blew up, but it was still running. There was a little piece of metal right in the middle of the hood burning fiercely.

"Finally one of the guys sitting up front with me noticed that the antenna was missing." All that was left was a melted stub.

That was the story told by Polly Culling, a research analyst for the State Department of Welfare, who was doing the driving Wednesday morning. With her were three other welfare department employes.

She said the "explosion" occurred at about 7:45 as the car traveled over the Interstate 80 overpass at Hwy. 77.

Culling said that a hubcap rolled off the car as they drove down the Interstate 180 ramp onto 9th St. and that on the trip back to Omaha a turn signal went out.

Other than those things, she said, nothing has happened to the car that could be attributed to the lightning.

"The radio even works," she said. It was turned off when the lightning struck.

The U.S. Weather Service said Culling's car probably happened to be in the path of a lightning bolt, but never acted as a conductor for the electricity.

If it had acted as a conductor, a weather service spokesman said, the car pool riders would probably be dead. People are traditionally advised to get in cars during lightning storms because rubber tires act as insulation.

What happened with the Culling auto is similar to what happens when an airplane is struck by lightning while in midflight, the spokesman said. Although occupants of the plane receive no shock, the electricity sometimes burns parts of the aircraft.

Cairo Collision Kills 3

Cairo (AP) — Three persons were killed Thursday night in the crash of a small car and a semi-truck tractor four miles east of here on Highway 2.

Authorities said the collision occurred on a straight stretch of road and apparently was caused when the truck went out of control, smashed into the car and rolled on top of it. All victims were in the car.

The identities of the victims were not immediately available. One of the victims was a young child.

The driver of the truck tractor was taken to a hsopital. No report of his condition was available.

The deaths bring the 1974 Nebraska traffic fatality count to 327, compared with 369 on this date last year.

Vandalism At A Minimum

Halloween vandalism was at a minimum this year, according to the Lincoln Police Department and the Lancaster County Sheriff's office.

Police said there were a few cases of toilet paper in trees and a few "eggings" but there were no reports of property damage.

The sheriff's office echoed the police, reporting that there was "no real property damage" in the outlying villages.

Deputies said there was the usual dragging of tree limbs and other things into the streets and eggs and vegetables thrown, but there were no incidents reported of property being damaged.

Although not reported to police a Halloween celebrant appeared at Reuben's restaurant attired in only a cowboy hat and false ears and streaked through the lounge.

44 Killed In Train Fire

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A man dropped a cigarette in a crowded train Thursday, setting off firecrackers and starting a fire that left 44 persons dead and 36 critically injured, officials said.

"The entire compartment was engulfed in flames," said one survivor. "It was all over in minutes."

Railway Ministry authorities said many of the victims died when they jumped from the blazing train as it sped from New Delhi to Calcutta, 800 miles to the southeast.

Authorities said investigations showed the fire started when a man flicked a cigarette in the direction of three women passengers who were carrying bags of firecrackers that exploded.

Harlan Rejects All Yard Signs

Ralph Harlan, who is seeking the county commissioner post from the second district, said Thursday that for ecology reasons he is not making use of campaign yard signs within the city of Lincoln.

He said he feels they add nothing to a campaign and merely clutter up yards and the entire appearance of the city and county.

Harlan, who served as county commissioner for 12 years, is seeking the post now held by Robert Colin.

World Population Control Measures Proposed

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Jules Abend, the manager of news operations for McGraw-Hill World News, reports on the opinions of a Duke University economist who believes that the 'natural right' to have children should be closely controlled.)

By JULES ABEND

New York — "Neither the world as a whole nor its parts can long support the burden of continuing population growth at present levels, and it is going to require state intervention in many nations to bring births under control," says Duke University economist Joseph J. Spengler.

In an interview with Spengler, who wrote the book, "Population Change, Modernization and Welfare," the economist emphasized that he is not worried about the United States and western Europe, where zero population growth is almost a reality.

But he does see continuing population growth in the underdeveloped "third world" at present levels as possibly dangerous to the West. Spengler says: "As it is harder for people in these countries to realize their expectations we are going to have more instability in the world and this is always costly to the West."

Intense Competition

The economist envisions intense world competition as the over-populated, oil-short countries scramble for currency to maintain themselves.

Specifically, Spengler believes that drastic steps must be taken by India, Africa, the tropical parts of Latin America and some areas of Asia. He is "loath to include China now because it seems to be bringing its rate of population under control, probably by strong social pressure."

The economist warns underdeveloped nations that they are facing the precipice and they must make some tough decisions soon to curb the growth of their populations.

He knows that many of them resent gratuitious advice from westerners and believe that they can handle the problem themselves. He sincerely hopes so, for he estimates that fertility is under control in less than 25% of the world population, and if something isn't done about it, by the year 2060 world population density could hit 136 people per square kilometer. Current world population is put at four billion. Spengler points to statistics showing a population rise in some nations of 2.75% showing a population rise in some nations of 2.75% annually.

Suggestions Detailed

Spengler advocates institutionalizing population control pressures on individuals and families "in an orderly fashion."

"This may be done," he explains, "through tax reform or other methods that make parents pay more of the actual and hidden costs of rearing a child and by creating social security plans to care for the elderly so they don't have to rely on many children to support them later in life."

Spengler says governments should promote zero population growth, or at least a very low rate of growth, by stressing the social and economic benefits that could accompany a stabilized population.

The economist takes vigorous exception to the United Nations' endorsement of the basic right of couples to "decide freely and responsibly" on the number and spacing of their children. The organization should have "stayed quiet," he feels.

Eagleton Running Briskly

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP) Two years after his swift rise and fall from the Democratic national ticket, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton says his health is neither an election issue nor a personal concern as he campaigns hard for a second term in the Senate.

When Thomas B. Curtis, Eagleton's Republican challenger, recently broke his silence on the subject and raised the health question, the senator shrugged it off as "desperation politics."

"My health record is as well-known as Nixon's phlebitis," said Eagleton, who was dropped as Democratic vice presidential nominee after disclosure that he had been hospitalized three times in the 1960s for fatigue and depression and had undergone electric shock treatment.

Eagleton beat Curtis by some 37,000 votes in 1968, and most observers expect his margin to be far bigger this year. Still, the 45-year-old Eagleton has set himself a taxing pace.

The senator says he can take it, that his past problems aren't inhibiting his life now.

Curtis, an 18-year veteran of the House until he gave up the seat to challenge Eagleton, also sets a brisk pace. At age 64, he has pursued a full campaign schedule each day since he announced for the rematch try in the spring.

The main issue in Missouri as elsewhere, is the economy. Wherever he goes, Eagleton attacks administration policies and policy-makers, calling Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, chief economic adviser Alan Greenspan and budget director Roy L. Ash, "the three blind mice" of the Ford administration.

Curtis has aimed most of his attack at Eagleton's voting record, which he argues is too liberal for Missouri. He says Eagleton has a record of "big spending." But he also has opposed President Ford's proposed 5 per cent surtax.

World Population Control Measures Proposed

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Jules Abend, the manager of news operations for McGraw-Hill World News, reports on the opinions of a Duke University economist who believes that the 'natural right' to have children should be closely controlled.)

By JULES ABEND

New York — "Neither the world as a whole nor its parts can long support the burden of continuing population growth at present levels, and it is going to require state intervention in many nations to bring births under control," says Duke University economist Joseph J. Spengler.

In an interview with Spengler, who wrote the book, "Population Change, Modernization and Welfare," the economist emphasized that he is not worried about the United States and western Europe, where zero population growth is almost a reality.

But he does see continuing population growth in the underdeveloped "third world" at present levels as possibly dangerous to the West. Spengler says: "As it is harder for people in these countries to realize their expectations we are going to have more instability in the world and this is always costly to the West."

Intense Competition

The economist envisions intense world competition as the over-populated, oil-short countries scramble for currency to maintain themselves.

Specifically, Spengler believes that drastic steps must be taken by India, Africa, the tropical parts of Latin America and some areas of Asia. He is "loath to include China now because it seems to be bringing its rate of population under control, probably by strong social pressure."

The economist warns underdeveloped nations that they are facing the precipice and they must make some tough decisions soon to curb the growth of their populations.

He knows that many of them resent gratuitious advice from westerners and believe that they can handle the problem themselves. He sincerely hopes so, for he estimates that fertility is under control in less than 25% of the world population, and if something isn't done about it, by the year 2060 world population density could hit 136 people per square kilometer. Current world population is put at four billion. Spengler points to statistics showing a population rise in some nations of 2.75% showing a population rise in some nations of 2.75% annually.

Centrum Hearing Set For Nov. 18

By LYNN ZERSCHLING
Star Staff Writer

Merits and minuses of building the Centrum will come before Lincoln's City Council for a Public hearing No. 18.

That is the day when the lawmakers will hear what the people have to say about the parking garage-retail complex proposed for the downtown block from 11th to 12th, N to O

To aid the council in its deliberations, city consultants Barton-Aschman Associates have put together the Centrum Redevelopment plan — in the form of a 172-page document.

Part of Contract

The plan was drafted as part of Barton-Aschman's $25,000 contract with the city, which also included a survey of the buildings in the block and a report on their condition.

It was from that survey that the City Council determined that the block was "blighted" and substandard" and fit for an overhaul under the state's urban redevelopment law.

In addition to giving documentation on the block's condition, the redevelopment plan also outlines the step-by-step procedure the city should follow in obtaining a developer for the merchandising section of the block, how to review developers' proposals, relocation assistance procedures for property owners and a financial plan.

The firm is suggesting that all potential developers be invited to submit proposals. And to make the job a little easier for the developer, Barton-Aschman suggests that a "Developer's Kit" be made available for a small fee —$25.

Negotiation Urged

The consultants also suggest that the city make "every reasonable effort" to acquire the land in the block by negotiation. Two appraisals of the property will be made.

Barton-Aschman also is recommending that the city agree not to take any action coercing the property owners into agreeing on a price.

But, the consultants say, if no price can be reached, the city should institute formal condemnation proceedings.

The Centrum's price-tag is set at $7,785,400.

That figure includes: $3,450,000 for the garage, $160,000 for public improvements, $150,000 for utilities, $200,000 to borrow money and $381,000 for other costs.

The city is proposing to finance the centrum through $2,300,000 in highway allocation funds, $4,012,900 in parking revenue bonds for the garage, $835,000 from general revenue sharing funds and $637,500 from selling the northern half of the block to a private developer.

Car Occupants Survive Lightning Bolt

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

They say a car is the safest place to be when lightning strikes.

Four members of an Omaha to Lincoln car pool can testify that it's true. Their car was struck by lightning and they're still around to tell about it.

"It sounded like an explosion and there was a flash of light. We thought the car blew up, but it was still running. There was a little piece of metal right in the middle of the hood burning fiercely.

"Finally one of the guys sitting up front with me noticed that the antenna was missing." All that was left was a melted stub.

That was the story told by Polly Culling, a research analyst for the State Department of Welfare, who was doing the driving Wednesday morning. With her were three other welfare department employes.

She said the "explosion" occurred at about 7·45 as the car traveled over the Interstate 80 overpass at Hwy. 77.

Culling said that a hubcap rolled off the car as they drove down the Interstate 180 ramp onto 9th St. and that on the trip back to Omaha a turn signal went out.

Other than those things, she said, nothing has happened to the car that could be attributed to the lightning.

"The radio even works," she said. It was turned off when the lightning struck.

The U.S. Weather Service said Culling's car probably happened to be in the path of a lightning bolt, but never acted as a conductor for the electricity.

If it had acted as a conductor, a weather service spokesman said, the car pool riders would probably be dead. People are traditionally advised to get in cars during lightning storms because rubber tires act as insulation.

What happened with the Culling auto is similar to what happens when an airplane is struck by lightning while in midflight, the spokesman said. Although occupants of the plane receive no shock, the electricity sometimes burns parts of the aircraft.

Cairo Collision Kills 3

Cairo (AP) — Three persons were killed Thursday night in the crash of a small car and a semi-truck tractor four miles east of here on Highway 2.

Authorities said the collision occurred on a straight stretch of road and apparently was caused when the truck went out of control, smashed into the car and rolled on top of it. All victims were in the car.

The identities of the victims were not immediately available. One of the victims was a young child.

The driver of the truck tractor was taken to a hsopital. No report of his condition was available.

The deaths bring the 1974 Nebraska traffic fatality count to 327, compared with 369 on this date last year.

Vandalism At A Minimum

Halloween vandalism was at a minimum this year, according to the Lincoln Police Department and the Lancaster County Sheriff's office.

Police said there were a few cases of toilet paper in trees and a few "eggings" but there were no reports of property damage.

The sheriff's office echoed the police, reporting that there was "no real property damage" in the outlying villages.

Deputies said there was the usual dragging of tree limbs and other things into the streets and eggs and vegetables thrown, but there were no incidents reported of property being damaged.

Although not reported to police a Halloween celebrant appeared at Reuben's restaurant attired in only a cowboy hat and false ears and streaked through the lounge.

44 Killed In Train Fire

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A man dropped a cigarette in a crowded train Thursday, setting off firecrackers and starting a fire that left 44 persons dead and 36 critically injured, officials said.

"The entire compartment was engulfed in flames," said one survivor. "It was all over in minutes."

Railway Ministry authorities said many of the victims died when they jumped from the blazing train as it sped from New Delhi to Calcutta, 800 miles to the southeast.

Authorities said investigations showed the fire started when a man flicked a cigarette in the direction of three women passengers who were carrying bags of firecrackers that exploded.

Harlan Rejects All Yard Signs

Ralph Harlan, who is seeking the county commissioner post from the second district, said Thursday that for ecology reasons he is not making use of campaign yard signs within the city of Lincoln.

He said he feels they add nothing to a campaign and merely clutter up yards and the entire appearance of the city and county

Harlan, who served as county commissioner for 12 years, is seeking the post now held by Robert Cohn.

Lahners Release Stresses Qualification, Experience

Qualifications and experience are the major issues in the county attorney's race, Chief Deputy County Atty. Ronald Lahners said Thursday.

In a prepared release, the Republican candidate for county attorney said that as a resident of Lancaster County since 1951 he knows the problems of law enforcement in the county.

He said he has not only been concerned about the problems but has been actively engaged in solving those problems.

Lahners reaffirmed his previous statements concerning the devoting of full time to the duties of county attorney.

He said in the 13 years he has been in the county attorney's office, he has always worked overtime in the performance of his official duties.

Lahners noted that a law which takes effect in January, 1979, prohibits private law practice by the Lancaster County attorney and that any minimal private practice by the county attorney would have to be phased out by that time.

Innocent Plea Made In Omaha By Rasmussen

Omaha (UPI) — The Democratic nominee for state treasurer Thursday pleaded innocent in Municipal Court to a charge of "failing to obey a request to leave" under the city's trespassing ordinance.

Kurt Rasmussen was arrested at the Westroads Shopping Center Oct. 19 where he had been passing out campaign literature. He refused several requests to cease, and later refused a request to leave, police said.

Attorney Thomas Kelley, representing Rasmussen, asked Municipal Court Judge William Ryan to dismiss the charge on the grounds that no adequate investigation was made and that Rasmussen's civil rights were violated.

Ryan refused the dismissal and scheduled a trial for Jan. 2.

The city prosecutor's office said the charge was a misdemeanor.

Candidate For Sheriff Is Fined

Ed Pierce, Democratic candidate for Lancaster County sheriff, was fined $75 in Lincoln Municipal Court Thursday for displaying a fraudulent inspection sticker.

Pierce, who was arrested by the State Patrol on Sept. 1, was specifically charged with displaying a fraudulently issued certificate of inspection without the inspection being made.

Legal Aid Will Offer Rural People Service

The Legal Aid Society of Lincoln will be offering legal services at the Martell United Methodist Church the first Wednesday evening of each month. The sessions, which will last from 7:30-9:30 p.m., are designed to make the society's services more accessible to rural Lancaster County residents.

Golden Says County Has 82% Invested

Lancaster County has 82% of its monies invested, according to figures released Thursday by Lancaster County Treasurer Frank Golden.

Golden said that some erroneous figures have been published regarding the investments "so I wanted to set the record straight."

He said "through a judicial and attentive program of investing county monies, we have increased the earnings on these monies from a total of $457,808 during the 7½ years prior to my taking office to a total of $1,119,004 for the four years I have served as county treasurer."

He listed the following percentages of county monies invested each month to date for 1974:

January, 66%; February, 75%; March, 77%; April, 75%; May, 70%; June, 62%; July, 68%; July, 68%; August, 78%; September, 76%; October, 82%.

Golden explained that in some months it is possible to have a higher percentage invested because the flow of funds permits it.

"My policy is and always has been to maintain enough in checking accounts so we can be sure to meet day-to-day demands and then to invest the remainder of the funds at the most favorable rate consistent with safety for the people's money," he said.

Gubernatorial Candidates File Finance Reports

By The Associated Press

The candidates for governor filed their final pre-election campaign reports Thursday, showing Gov. J. James Exon and his running mate with more money, but spending less than their Republican challengers.

The reports showed that Exon and Gerald Whelan received $79,417 for their general election campaign. Of that, they spent $48,997, leaving a balance of more than $30,000.

The Republican challengers, Richard Marvel and Anne Batchelder, received $73,059, according to their general election reports, and spent $64,680.

Secretary of State Allen Beermann said the candidates could be billed for such things as telephone expense later, which would reduce the balances in their campaign funds.

Gov. Wilson Trails Carey In New York Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Malcolm Wilson made a series of television commercials this week pleading with New York voters to ignore the gifts of Nelson A. Rockefeller to associates.

Voters also should not consider Watergate, President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon, and Ford's amnesty program for draft evaders in casting their ballots in the Nov. 5 election, he said.

His advisers say the issues are damaging Wilson's campaign for election to a full term.

Almost every poll shows the Republican incumbent trailing far behind the Democratic challenger, U.S. Rep. Hugh Carey of Brooklyn. Carey is so confident of winning that he is talking about the people he will appoint to his cabinet.

Democrats are running strongly in other races as well.

Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, a transplanted Texan, is threatening U.S. Sen. Jacob Javits, a Republican seeking his fourth six-year term. The bitter campaign is marked by charges of lying and illegal campaign contributions.

Democratic leaders are optimistic about increasing the party's majority in the state's congressional delegation and in capturing control of at least one house of the state legislature.

Lahners Release Stresses Qualification, Experience

Qualifications and experience are the major issues in the county attorney's race, Chief Deputy County Atty. Ronald Lahners said Thursday.

In a prepared release, the Republican candidate for county attorney said that as a resident of Lancaster County since 1951 he knows the problems of law enforcement in the county.

He said he has not only been concerned about the problems but has been actively engaged in solving those problems.

Lahners reaffirmed his previous statements concerning the devoting of full time to the duties of county attorney.

He said in the 13 years he has been in the county attorney's office, he has always worked overtime in the performance of his official duties.

Lahners noted that a law which takes effect in January, 1979, prohibits private law practice by the Lancaster County attorney and that any minimal private practice by the county attorney would have to be phased out by that time.

Innocent Plea Made In Omaha By Rasmussen

Omaha (UPI) — The Democratic nominee for state treasurer Thursday pleaded innocent in Municipal Court to a charge of "failing to obey a request to leave" under the city's trespassing ordinance.

Kurt Rasmussen was arrested at the Westroads Shopping Center Oct. 19 where he had been passing out campaign literature. He refused several requests to cease, and later refused a request to leave, police said.

Attorney Thomas Kelley, representing Rasmussen, asked Municipal Court Judge William Ryan to dismiss the charge on the grounds that no adequate investigation was made and that Rasmussen's civil rights were violated.

Ryan refused the dismissal and scheduled a trial for Jan. 2.

The city prosecutor's office said the charge was a misdemeanor.

Candidate For Sheriff Is Fined

Ed Pierce, Democratic candidate for Lancaster County sheriff, was fined $75 in Lincoln Municipal Court Thursday for displaying a fraudulent inspection sticker.

Pierce, who was arrested by the State Patrol on Sept. 1, was specifically charged with displaying a fraudulently issued certificate of inspection without the inspection being made.

Legal Aid Will Offer Rural People Service

The Legal Aid Society of Lincoln will be offering legal services at the Martell United Methodist Church the first Wednesday evening of each month. The sessions, which will last from 7:30-9:30 p.m., are designed to make the society's services more accessible to rural Lancaster County residents.

Golden Says County Has 82% Invested

Lancaster County has 82% of its monies invested, according to figures released Thursday by Lancaster County Treasurer Frank Golden.

Golden said that some erroneous figures have been published regarding the investments "so I wanted to set the record straight."

He said "through a judicial and attentive program of investing county monies, we have increased the earnings on these monies from a total of $457,808 during the 7½ years prior to my taking office to a total of $1,119,004 for the four years I have served as county treasurer."

He listed the following percentages of county monies invested each month to date for 1974:

January, 66%; February, 75%; March, 77%; April, 75%; May, 70%; June, 62%; July, 68%; July, 68%; August, 78%; September, 76%; October, 82%.

Golden explained that in some months it is possible to have a higher percentage invested because the flow of funds permits it.

"My policy is and always has been to maintain enough in checking accounts so we can be sure to meet day-to-day demands and then to invest the remainder of the funds at the most favorable rate consistent with safety for the people's money," he said.

Gubernatorial Candidates File Finance Reports

By The Associated Press

The candidates for governor filed their final pre-election campaign reports Thursday, showing Gov. J. James Exon and his running mate with more money, but spending less than their Republican challengers.

The reports showed that Exon and Gerald Whelan received $79,417 for their general election campaign. Of that, they spent $48,997, leaving a balance of more than $30,000.

The Republican challengers, Richard Marvel and Anne Batchelder, received $73,050, according to their general election reports, and spent $64,680.

Secretary of State Allen Beermann said the candidates could be billed for such things as telephone expense later, which would reduce the balances in their campaign funds.

OPPD Awards Contract For Flue Gas System

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Public Power District board of directors Thursday awarded a $3,279,000 contract to Foster-Smetana Co. of Omaha for general construction work on the North Omaha power station's flue gas treatment system.

Construction of the system is scheduled for completion by the end of next year.

At a special meeting, the board also awarded a $484,000 contract to Peter Kiewit Sons' Co. of Omaha for construction of seven-tenths of a mile of railroad track at the North Omaha power station. OPPD purchased materials for the additional track from the Union Pacific Railroad for $98,676.

OPPD President Richard T. Dugdale said construction of the spur track will save the district more than $1 per ton on coal delivery costs. He said OPPD expects to save $6 million in five years.

Dugdale said the new flue gas treatment system will remove more than 99% of the particulate emissions from the station's stacks.

Boys Town Tells Low Bid

Omaha (UPI) — An Omaha-based construction firm has submitted the apparent low bid of $10.1 million for construction of the Boys Town Institute for Communication Disorders in Children.

A Boys Town spokesman said Hawkins Construction Co., Omaha, submitted one of four bids which will be reviewed before a contract is awarded.

The center will be located adjacent to and built in conjunction with the Creighton-Omaha Medical Center on the Creighton University campus.

The institute, expected to be opened and operational by mid 1977, is the first of two major new projects sponsored by Boys Town. The second, the Boys Town Center for the Study of Youth Development, is in the planning stages with construction slated to be underway by the fall of 1975.

General Claims Bomber Needed

Chicago (UPI)—The United States now has the ability to produce the "bomber of the future," and the nation cannot afford to be without it, and Air Force general said.

Maj. Gen. H. M. Darmstandler, special assistant to the chief of staff for all matters concerning production of the supersonic B1 bomber, told a news conference the new airplane, whose prototype rolled out of its California hangar Saturday, will keep the United States ahead of the rest of the world in attack capability until at least the turn of the century.

Harvey Williams gives you some expert advice about . . .

Fall Planting of Nursery Stock

Fall planting IS successful if certain precautions are followed. We have passed thru a hostile summer and, as of the middle of October in Lincoln, we are about 7 inches below normal in rainfall.

In planting, it would be well to leave a basin around each tree to hold water.

Be sure to water thoroughly at planting time. When the ground begins to freeze heavily, possibly about Thanksgiving time, it would help to water heavily again and then mulch quite heavily with a mulch of leaves or straw so that the roots of the newly planted tree do not freeze as soon and so heavily. Winter killing of a Fall planted tree is sometimes a situation where the top is exposed to cold drying winds which evaporate moisture from the top and, the ground being frozen, the roots cannot replace this moisture. Heavy mulching and heavy watering will go a long way to correct this situation.

By all means water several times during the winter, especially if we have an open dry winter. Shower the tops frequently. This, of course, should not be done when it is cold enough to cause ice to form on the tops.

Late winter or real early spring is a critical time. Be sure that watering is done at this time.

We have run across many lawns this past summer that have passed out, usually from lack of water. We have also seen many trees that are about to die because the owner was so poorly informed about moisture requirements.

If you lose a lawn, you can replace it in a matter of just a few weeks, but if you lose a 25 year old tree then that's a disaster and you are a delinquent. We do hope you are not in that category. Please call one of the PROS at WILLIAMS GARDEN CENTER & NURSERY if we can be of further help.

Stock Market Weakens But Monthly Gain Sizable

New York (AP) — The stock market weakened a bit Thursday but nevertheless managed to finish October with its best monthly gain in more than a year.

Some late profit taking pushed the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 7 points at its best level of the day, to a 7.51 loss at 665.52.

The New York Stock Exchange's composite index also posted a decline, losing .15 to 38.97.

In the over-all tally, however, gainers hung onto a 699-to-685 plurality over losers among the 1,790 issues traded on the Big Board.

NYSE volume remained active at 18.84 million shares, although it fell little short of Wednesday's 20.13 million total.

The Dow wound up the month with a 57.65 advance. Not since last December had the closely followed average posted any significant gain over a calendar month, and it last did better in September, 1973, when it was up 59.53.

In the intervening months, of course, stocks went through one of their sharpest selloffs in modern times.

The market spent the early part of Thursday's session building on its gains of the past few days. But it clearly was encountering more resistance than it had Tuesday and Wednesday, when the Dow rolled up a total advance of more than 39 points.

The average was clinging to about a 1-point gain at midafternoon when a Federal Reserve report crossed newswires that the nation's money supply had dropped $2.1 billion in the week ended Oct. 23.

Fed watchers, and the Fed itself for that matter, frequently warn against placing too much significance on its weekly data since they can show wide and temporary swings that do not necessarily reflect trends.

But the market had responded favorably last week to the central bank's report of a $3-billion jump in the money available to the economy, apparently interpreting it as a signal of relaxed credit policy on the part of the Fed.

If nothing else, the latest figure was evidently enough to dampen that enthusiasm.

"The market was looking for an excuse to do some profit taking," remarked Robert Stovall at Reynolds Securities, "and it found it in the money supply figure."

Howard Johnson was the day's most-active stock, unchanged at 4¾. A 433,300-share block at 4¾ accounted for most of the turnover in the issue.

A full two-thirds of the Dow's decline occurred in two stocks-Procter & Gamble, down 5⅛ at 86¾, and Eastman Kodak, off 3⅛ at 71⅝ as profit takers concentrated particularly on some of the big-name growth issues.

Dividend cuts depressed Peter Paul 1½ to 8¼ and Zenith Radio 1⅞ to 12⅞.

Rymond International climbed 1⅛ to 8⅜. The company posted higher third-quarter earnings and reported a record backlog as of Sept. 30.

Houston Oil & Minerals, the American Stock Exchange volume leader, gave up ⅝ to 27⅜. The Amex market-value index slipped .03 to 69.45.

In the over-the-counter market, the NASDAQ composite closed at 65.23, up .35.

Workers To Be Cut

Missouri River Traffic Closing Slated Nov. 22

St. Louis, Mo. (UPI) — The U.S. Coast Guard said Thursday closing operations for Missouri River traffic during the winter will begin Nov. 22 at Sioux City, Iowa.

At that time, the coast guard said, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will begin limiting the water flow in the river.

The Omaha-based Coast Guard cutter Gasconade will begin the closing operation on the 732 miles of water and the cutter Cheyenne will remove the last of 1,100 bouys 10 days later near St. Louis.

The bouys and electrical equipment will be removed from 322 shore aides to navigation which could be lost to winter ice or spring flooding.

The Corps of Engineers said earlier that this year's river tonnage could break the 1971 record of 2.8 million tons. As of mid-October this year, just over 2 million tons had been shipped on the Missouri.

Hog Prices Are Higher

Omaha (AP) (USDA) — Butcher hogs sold unevenly higher at Omaha Thursday in forced trading.

Buyers were needing hog numbers and were not anxious to pay as high as they did, but recent rains in much of the trade area had trimmed marketings to the point where volume was needed Thursday.

Barrows and gilts under 260 lb were 1.00-1.25 higher and heavier weights, although in short supply, cleared at prices 1.25-2.25 up.

Slaughter cattle were scarce as the trade geared down for the weekend. Cows were 50-75 cents lower in slow trading.

A few wooled lambs at steady tickets made up the sheep count.

Strong Demand Lifts Soybeans

Chicago (AP) — A strong demand for commodity futures in the soybean complex lifted prices sharply in all three pits with a limit gain of 20 cents posted in soybeans on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday.

Soybean oil advanced to within 5 points of the 100 point limit, but closed with an overall gain of about 80 points. Soybean meal gained about $5 a ton for the session.

Corn futures benefitted from some of the buying activity in the soybean complex, gaining up to 6 cents a bushel. One most distant option, however, was weak. Oats prices were up 3½ cents but wheat prices were uneven. Iced broilers closed ½ cent a pound lower to ½ higher in relatively active trade.

OPPD Awards Contract For Flue Gas System

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Public Power District board of directors Thursday awarded a $3,279,000 contract to Foster-Smetana Co. of Omaha for general construction work on the North Omaha power station's flue gas treatment system.

Construction of the system is scheduled for completion by the end of next year.

At a special meeting, the board also awarded a $484,000 contract to Peter Kiewit Sons' Co. of Omaha for construction of seven-tenths of a mile of railroad track at the North Omaha power station. OPPD purchased materials for the additional track from the Union Pacific Railroad for $98,676.

OPPD President Richard T. Dugdale said construction of the spur track will save the district more than $1 per ton on coal delivery costs. He said OPPD expects to save $6 million in five years.

Dugdale said the new flue gas treatment system will remove more than 99% of the particulate emissions from the station's stacks.

Boys Town Tells Low Bid

Omaha (UPI) — An Omaha-based construction firm has submitted the apparent low bid of $10.1 million for construction of the Boys Town Institute for Communication Disorders in Children.

A Boys Town spokesman said Hawkins Construction Co., Omaha, submitted one of four bids which will be reviewed before a contract is awarded.

The center will be located adjacent to and built in conjunction with the Creighton-Omaha Medical Center on the Creighton University campus.

The institute, expected to be opened and operational by mid 1977, is the first of two major new projects sponsored by Boys Town. The second, the Boys Town Center for the Study of Youth Development, is in the planning stages with construction slated to be underway by the fall of 1975.

General Claims Bomber Needed

Chicago (UPI)—The United States now has the ability to produce the "bomber of the future," and the nation cannot afford to be without it, and Air Force general said.

Maj. Gen. H. M. Darmstandler, special assistant to the chief of staff for all matters concerning production of the supersonic B1 bomber, told a news conference the new airplane, whose prototype rolled out of its California hangar Saturday, will keep the United States ahead of the rest of the world in attack capability until at least the turn of the century.

Fall Planting of Nursery Stock

Harvey Williams

Fall planting IS successful if certain precautions are followed. We have passed thru a hostile summer and, as of the middle of October in Lincoln, we are about 7 inches below normal in rainfall.

In planting, it would be well to leave a basin around each tree to hold water.

Be sure to water thoroughly at planting time. When the ground begins to freeze heavily, possibly about Thanksgiving time, it would help to water heavily again and then mulch quite heavily with a mulch of leaves or straw so that the roots of the newly planted tree do not freeze as soon and so heavily. Winter killing of a Fall planted tree is sometimes a situation where the top is exposed to cold drying winds which evaporate moisture from the top and, the ground being frozen, the roots cannot replace this moisture. Heavy mulching and heavy watering will go a long way to correct this situation.

By all means water several times during the winter, especially if we have an open dry winter. Shower the tops frequently. This, of course, should not be done when it is cold enough to cause ice to form on the tops.

Late winter or real early spring is a critical time. Be sure that watering is done at this time.

We have run across many lawns this past summer that have passed out, usually from lack of water. We have also seen many trees that are about to die because the owner was so poorly informed about moisture requirements.

If you lose a lawn, you can replace it in a matter of just a few weeks, but if you lose a 25 year old tree then that's a disaster and you are a delinquent. We do hope you are not in that category. Please call one of the PROS at WILLIAMS GARDEN CENTER & NURSERY if we can be of further help.

Stock Market Weakens But Monthly Gain Sizable

New York (AP) — The stock market weakened a bit Thursday but nevertheless managed to finish October with its best monthly gain in more than a year.

Some late profit taking pushed the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 7 points at its best level of the day, to a 7.51 loss at 665.52.

The New York Stock Exchange's composite index also posted a decline, losing .15 to 38.97.

In the over-all tally, however, gainers hung onto a 699-to-685 plurality over losers among the 1,790 issues traded on the Big Board.

NYSE volume remained active at 18.84 million shares, although it fell little short of Wednesday's 20.13 million total.

The Dow wound up the month with a 57.65 advance. Not since last December had the closely followed average posted any significant gain over a calendar month, and it last did better in September, 1973, when it was up 59.53.

In the intervening months, of course, stocks went through one of their sharpest selloffs in modern times.

The market spent the early part of Thursday's session building on its gains of the past few days. But it clearly was encountering more resistance than it had Tuesday and Wednesday, when the Dow rolled up a total advance of more than 39 points.

The average was clinging to about a 1-point gain at midafternoon when a Federal Reserve report crossed newswires that the nation's money supply had dropped $2.1 billion in the week ended Oct. 23.

Fed watchers, and the Fed itself for that matter, frequently warn against placing too much significance on its weekly data since they can show wide and temporary swings that do not necessarily reflect trends.

But the market had responded favorably last week to the central bank's report of a $3-billion jump in the money available to the economy, apparently interpreting it as a signal of relaxed credit policy on the part of the Fed.

If nothing else, the latest figure was evidently enough to dampen that enthusiasm.

"The market was looking for an excuse to do some profit taking," remarked Robert Stovall at Reynolds Securities, "and it found it in the money supply figure."

Howard Johnson was the day's most-active stock, unchanged at 4¾. A 433,300-share block at 4¾ accounted for most of the turnover in the issue.

A full two-thirds of the Dow's decline occurred in two stocks-Procter & Gamble, down 5⅛ at 86¾, and Eastman Kodak, off 3⅛ at 71⅝ as profit takers concentrated particularly on some of the big-name growth issues.

Dividend cuts depressed Peter Paul 1½ to 8¼ and Zenith Radio 1⅞ to 12⅞.

Rymond International climbed 1⅛ to 8⅜. The company posted higher third-quarter earnings and reported a record backlog as of Sept. 30.

Houston Oil & Minerals, the American Stock Exchange volume leader, gave up ⅝ to 27⅜. The Amex market-value index slipped .03 to 69.45.

In the over-the-counter market, the NASDAQ composite closed at 65.23, up .35.

Workers To Be Cut

Missouri River Traffic Closing Slated Nov. 22

St. Louis, Mo. (UPI) — The U.S. Coast Guard said Thursday closing operations for Missouri River traffic during the winter will begin Nov. 22 at Sioux City, Iowa.

At that time, the coast guard said, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will begin limiting the water flow in the river.

The Omaha-based Coast Guard cutter Gasconade will begin the closing operation on the 732 miles of water and the cutter Cheyenne will remove the last of 1,100 bouys 10 days later near St. Louis.

The bouys and electrical equipment will be removed from 322 shore aides to navigation which could be lost to winter ice or spring flooding.

The Corps of Engineers said earlier that this year's river tonnage could break the 1971 record of 2.8 million tons. As of mid-October this year, just over 2 million tons had been shipped on the Missouri.

Hog Prices Are Higher

Omaha (AP) (USDA) — Butcher hogs sold unevenly higher at Omaha Thursday in forced trading.

Buyers were needing hog numbers and were not anxious to pay as high as they did, but recent rains in much of the trade area had trimmed marketings to the point where volume was needed Thursday.

Barrows and gilts under 260 lb were 1.00-1.25 higher and heavier weights, although in short supply, cleared at prices 1.25-2.25 up.

Slaughter cattle were scarce as the trade geared down for the weekend. Cows were 50-75 cents lower in slow trading.

A few wooled lambs at steady tickets made up the sheep count.

Strong Demand Lifts Soybeans

Chicago (AP) — A strong demand for commodity futures in the soybean complex lifted prices sharply in all three pits with a limit gain of 20 cents posted in soybeans on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday.

Soybean oil advanced to within 5 points of the 100 point limit, but closed with an overall gain of about 80 points. Soybean meal gained about $5 a ton for the session.

Corn futures benefitted from some of the buying activity in the soybean complex, gaining up to 6 cents a bushel. One most distant option, however, was weak. Oats prices were up 3½ cents but wheat prices were uneven. Iced broilers closed ½ cent a pound lower to ½ higher in relatively active trade.

Defendant Wins Plea Argument

By The Associated Press

The state Supreme Court sent a case back to the Douglas County District Court Thursday because the court was not careful enough in accepting the plea of the defendant.

Christine Lewis pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to a charge of uttering a forged instrument, a bad check charge. She told the Supreme Court that the record of the Douglas County District Court did not show that she made her plea "voluntarily, understandingly, intelligently, and with full knowledge of the rights she was waiving." The Supreme Court accepted her argument and sent the case back so the lower court could hold a hearing to determine whether she was aware of the sentence which could be imposed on her.

She was sentenced to two to six years in prison.

In the Hall County District Court burglary case of Michael Hedglin, the Supreme Court ruled that the maximum sentence would be the sentence imposed by the judge and the minimum sentence would be the minimum sentence required by law. The court said Hedglin's sentence of six years was really a one to six year sentence because the minimum legal sentence for burglary is one year.

Judge John Newton wrote in a concurring opinion that he thought the statute which allowed prisoners to leave custody after serving the minimum sentence might be unconstitutional.

The court asked the Douglas County District Court to resentence Clifford Jones because the Surpeme Court said the sentence of 15 years was too long for possession of heroin.

The court increased a judgment of $1,400 to $3,000 against Gage County. The award was made to C.D. Danley for representing indigent defendants.

—Refused to vacate a contempt citation against Paul Rhodes. The decision upheld the action of the Morrill County District Court.

—Upheld the Cass County District Court findings in the automobile injury case of Craie Hansen versus Eileen Hasenkamp.

—Upheld the Burt County District Court findings in cases involving Lonny and Constance Brewer and Lyle and Jean Case.

—Upheld the Lancaster County District Court conviction of La Voy Orner for driving with a suspended license.

—Upheld the hashish selling conviction of Steven David Langer. The decision was appealed from the Douglas County District Court.

—Upheld Lancaster County burglary conviction of Morris Combs.

Split Custody For Braeman Children OKd

By The Associated Press

The state Supreme Court ruled Thursday that brothers and sisters could be split up when child custody was awarded in divorces.

The court said the decision to divide up the children could be made if it was in their best interest.

The couple involved in the case were Kathryn and John Braeman. He is a professor at the University of Nebraska. She was at one time a candidate for Congress.

The court said their difference of opinion on the proper way to rear children was one of the causes for the divorce.

It said she was active in many community activities and the children were often left with babysitters. She was allowed to keep a child by a previous marriage. The child had been adopted by Braeman. He was allowed to keep the other child.

The court, agreeing with the Lancaster County District Court, said the one child would be better off with him.

In another case, the Supreme Court reversed the child custody decision of a California court.

The California court had given custody of the children to Linda Dallmann. She moved to Nebraska. The legal battle for custody of the children was taken to the Scotts Bluff County District Court. The court found that she had been sexually promiscuous and returned the custody of the children to their father in California. The Supreme Court upheld the decision to give the children to the father.

Sea of Mexico — At night a warm breeze blows over the decks. A million stars you never saw before swing back and forth in a sky of black velvet. There's a smell of salt spray. A door opens and lets out a splash of light and music.

In the white leather ship's bar, a travel agent said: "Naturally, these little towns on the Sea of Cortez are not prepared yet for big cruise ships. But they'll develop fast, you'll see."

He said: "First the pharmacy will put in Lomotil — for the turista. When Americans go ashore, the first thing they think of is their internal affairs. They are sure they'll catch the bug.

" 'Can you drink the water here?' they ask the hotel manager. Of course, he says yes. He drinks the water.

"But — after a few ships have come in, he puts up signs in English: 'You can drink the water here safely. It is purified.' " The passenger is satisified and enjoys his lunch."

☆ ☆ ☆

We are cruising down to Mexico on the Island Princess — 581 passengers, 320 crew. Here, and in the Caribbean, cruise ships try to find new ports.

Not because passengers want new places. Because there are so many ships. The usual cruise ports are overcrowded.

The travel agent said: "When we drop this many people in La Paz in Baja, the town is strained at the seams. But in a year or so - - -."

He said: "They'll open boutiques and curio stores and new restaurants. And you'll find people who were on this first cruise sighting about how the town isn't like it used to be.

"Like people today who knew Puerto Vallarta before they made 'The Night of the Iguana.' "

☆ ☆ ☆

British P and O Line bought the Island Princess the other day. The Sun Princess — that used to be Spirit of London — is following four days behind us.

They've also bought the Sea Venture which will become another Princess and run on the same sea routes.

The cruise is 15 days out of Los Angeles to Acapulco. Five stops doing down. Three going back. (The line sells half cruises either way combined with a Western Air flight.)

☆ ☆ ☆

P and O will own the line but Princess Cruises will run it. P and O People have been transferred from San Francisco to the Princess offices in Los Angeles. A former P and O man said:

"In a way it's much easier to run the ships. As P and O, every time we wanted to buy a new light bulb we had to get an OK from London. Now we just go down to the supermarket, buy one and screw it in."

He said: "But how I hated to leave San Francisco. And Los Angeles — well, you know Los Angeles."

☆ ☆ ☆

The travel agent said: "P and O won't keep their hands off entirely. London loves to muck around with overseas operations — a hangover of the Empire."

On the Island Princess, the Norwegian crew leaves. A British crew takes over. The Italian chefs and waiters stay on. The room stewards say they'll be replaced by Goanese from India.

Defendant Wins Plea Argument

By The Associated Press

The state Supreme Court sent a case back to the Douglas County District Court Thursday because the court was not careful enough in accepting the plea of the defendant.

Christine Lewis pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to a charge of uttering a forged instrument, a bad check charge. She told the Supreme Court that the record of the Douglas County District Court did not show that she made her plea "voluntarily, understandingly, intelligently, and with full knowledge of the rights she was waiving." The Supreme Court accepted her argument and sent the case back so the lower court could hold a hearing to determine whether she was aware of the sentence which could be imposed on her.

She was sentenced to two to six years in prison

In the Hall County District Court burglary case of Michael Hedglin, the Supreme Court ruled that the maximum sentence would be the sentence imposed by the judge and the minimum sentence would be the minimum sentence required by law. The court said Hedglin's sentence of six years was really a one to six year sentence because the minimum legal sentence for burglary is one year.

Judge John Newton wrote in a concurring opinion that he thought the statute which allowed prisoners to leave custody after serving the minimum sentence might be unconstitutional.

The court asked the Douglas County District Court to resentence Clifford Jones because the Surpeme Court said the sentence of 15 years was too long for possession of heroin.

The court increased a judgment of $1,400 to $3,000 against Gage County. The award was made to C.D. Danley for representing indigent defendants.

—Refused to vacate a contempt citation against Paul Rhodes. The decision upheld the action of the Morrill County District Court

—Upheld the Cass County District Court findings in the automobile injury case of Craie Hansen versus Eileen Hasenkamp

—Upheld the Burt County District Court findings in cases involving Lonny and Constance Brewer and Lyle and Jean Case

—Upheld the Lancaster County District Court conviction of La Voy Orner for driving with a suspended license.

—Upheld the hashish selling conviction of Steven David Langer. The decision was appealed from the Douglas County District Court.

—Upheld Lancaster County burglary conviction of Morris Combs

Split Custody For Braeman Children OKd

By The Associated Press

The state Supreme Court ruled Thursday that brothers and sisters could be split up when child custody was awarded in divorces.

The court said the decision to divide up the children could be made if it was in their best interest.

The couple involved in the case were Kathryn and John Braeman. He is a professor at the University of Nebraska. She was at one time a candidate for Congress.

The court said their difference of opinion on the proper way to rear children was one of the causes for the divorce.

It said she was active in many community activities and the children were often left with babysitters. She was allowed to keep a child by a previous marriage. The child had been adopted by Braeman. He was allowed to keep the other child.

The court, agreeing with the Lancaster County District Court, said the one child would be better off with him.

In another case, the Supreme Court reversed the child custody decision of a California court.

The California court had given custody of the children to Linda Dallmann. She moved to Nebraska. The legal battle for custody of the children was taken to the Scotts Bluff County District Court. The court found that she had been sexually promiscuous and returned the custody of the children to their father in California. The Supreme Court upheld the decision to give the children to the father.

Thone 'Running Scared', Says He Always Does

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

Rep. Charles Thone readily concedes he's "running scared" in his First District congressional race against Democratic challenger Hess Dyas.

But that isn't unusual. "I always run scared," the 50-year-old Republican incumbent said on a recent campaign swing through Lancaster, Gage and Johnson Counties.

That's the way you win elections, he said.

"We've worked hard to cover the district thoroughly," he remarked as he glanced through papers while en route to a luncheon speech before the Beatrice Jaycees.

However, last minute congressional business has forced Thone to compact his campaigning into a dawn-to-dusk 17-day blitz just prior to the election. Earlier this year, much of his campaigning was done on weekend trips back to Nebraska.

"We've walked door-to-door in the business districts of 88 towns since May," he said after checking the total with field man John Hanlon who was driving.

"We've got 21 to go, and we'll have covered the district. That's a pretty good campaign."

Still, Thone said he managed to be present for 96% of the votes cast in the House of Representatives.

He said he would have liked some additional time in the district.

This has been to the advantage of Dyas, he said, who has been campaigning for months and is "lavishly financed." (Recent campaign finance reports show Thone has raised $49,000 to Dyas' $93,000.)

"Hess is going to spend the most of any congressional race in Nebraska's history. He will spend well over $100,000. That's unprecedented," Thone said.

Much of Dyas' backing is special interest money, mainly from unions, he said.

"I've refused all special interest money and relied on contributions of $100 or less from individuals," he said.

That approach makes it more difficult to raise money, and Thone said he was apprehensive about it at first.

"So far, I've had over 2,000 individual contributors — that's the most I've ever had. I've shown it can be done," he said.

As for charges that he purposely has avoided debates with Dyas, Thone said his schedule has had to be compacted. People, he said, know where he stands by the 1,736 votes he has cast during his two terms as a representative.

At Beatrice, Thone told a crowd of 25 that he refuses to wage a "negative campaign" as he charged Dyas has. He stressed the nation is at peace and Gerald Ford is a "good and fine president."

A chief concern he mentioned is inflation, which he called the most insidious tax of all. He promised to be an inflation-fighter, not a Ford-fighter.

The audience asked questions. What about the fact that he only voted with the majority of House Republicans 55% of the time? Thone promoted himself as an independent thinker. He said he voted to override vetoes of key agriculture bills, to halt the bombing in Cambodia and to return war powers to Congress.

Back on the road, Thone returned his thoughts to Dyas' "negative campaign."

"He's been totally negative from the word go. I have respect for my past opponents; they weren't like that."

The car pulled off the highway into Virginia, and Thone hopped out of the car with matches and folders containing the "favorite desserts from Ruthie Thone."

Thone's stiffness as a public speaker quickly melted as he briskly shook hands in the bank, the grocery store, the tavern and the grain elevator. His message was simple: "Hello, I'm Congressman Charlie Thone. I'd like your vote."

Many people recognized him and said they appreciated his newsletters.

"I have no problem with voter recognition," he said. "It took a long time to build it."

In every town, he stopped at the grain elevator; it's usually the hub of activity, he said.

At an elevator in Filley, Jim Clancey questioned Thone about what can be done to help sagging livestock prices.

"Grain is too high to feed it to cattle," Clancy said. "The farmer who was feeding 300 hogs is not feeding 20. This is hurting our schools, our businesses — everything."

Embargo Considered

Thone nodded in agreement and said the nation might have to consider an embargo on all meat imports in order to save the livestock industry.

Earlier at Norden Labs in Lincoln, Thone was told that the livestock market has caused farmers to put fewer cattle in feedlots. Norden's key veterinary products are aimed at feeder cattle. As a result, he was told, Norden's growth has been hurt.

In Tecumseh, Thone met Mrs. Ruth Sechman, a local supporter at the Campbell's Soup plant, and greeted employes as they changed shifts.

Mrs. Sechman told Thone her union representative suggested she should be supporting Dyas.

"I told him to cut it out. He knows how I feel," she said.

That encouraged him, Thone said. "We're on third and heading for home," he said.

THONE . . . says his '1,736 votes' show his stand on issues.

LAP's Future Good If All Goes Well

By LINDA OLIG
Star Staff Writer

Jesse Payne, executive director of the Lincoln Action Program (LAP), and others who head community action programs around the nation are optimistic about the future of their agencies, if . . .

— federal administration of those agencies, geared to the needs of the poor, is put in the right hands.

— strong legislation supporting the programs' concept is developed.

— the role of advocacy for the low-incomed is allowed to continue.

He expressed those thoughts upon his return from the annual convention of the National Community Action Agencies Executive Directors Association held last week in Houston, Tex.

Funding To Continue

"There seemed to be very little doubt that direct funding of community action programs will continue in the future," Payne said.

The programs have been particularly hard hit by uncertainty, and short-term — often three months at a time — funding since the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) fell into disrepute in Washington circles in 1973.

Despite Payne's optimism about receiving federal dollars to keep LAP's doors open, he is concerned about how the government will choose to have those dollars administered.

Agency executives predicted that the government will pick one of three ways of administering the programs, Payne said. Choices tossed around at the convention included: continuing OEO; submerging the programs into a larger department such as Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) or Labor; and creating a separate, independent agency.

Bill Killed OEO

Granting OEO a stay of execution may be impossible. "The bill in the House of Representatives in May literally did away with OEO," Payne said.

The bill, which passed by overwhelming majority, repealed the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, but agreed to continue funding Head Start and the community action programs by transferring them to HEW. The Senate has failed to act on the legislation, he said.

Payne said submerging the programs into HEW is potentially threatening. "There is a good chance they could get lost in a department that size.

Flexibility Main Concern

"My main concern is whether the director will have the flexibility to talk with the secretary of HEW, as far as progress for low-income people is concerned, or would have access to Congress or the President," Payne said.

"Beyond that, the programs themselves would be subject to the whims of HEW," he speculated. "I don't think it (HEW) has ever really known what participation of the client community really means."

He said most community action programs have undergone the same evolution as the Lincoln group, a change that took them from direct service to "advocacy for the poor, responsibility for social planning" and program development.

Advocacy Top Function

The advocacy role is OEO's and LAP's primary function, Payne said, adding that without strong legislation, that role "will be lost."

Advocacy is "what OEO does most actively on a national level now," he said.

Payne is fearful that current proposed legislation pertaining to CAP's "can be watered down in application and interpretation," posing a threat to their very existence and viable role in the community.

Consent Decree Asked On Suit In Price Fixing

Washington (AP) — The Justice Department Thursday proposed a consent decree settling a year-old antitrust suit against Combustion Engineering Inc. of Stamford, Conn., and the American Colloid Co. of Skokie, Ill.

The proposed judgment, filed in U.S. District Court in Philadelphia, would prohibit the two producers of chromite sand from fixing prices and allocating customers and sales territories between themselves.

The suit had accused the two companies of conspiring since 1967 to fix prices and allocate customers for chromite sand, which is imported primarily from South Africa into the United States for use in making moulds for iron and steel castings.

Indian Inmates Receive Promise Of Privileges

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

Indian inmates at the Nebraska Penal Complex will have the right to see Indian medicine men and spiritual leaders under a plan approved Thursday by U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom.

That provision is one of many in an agreement between prison officials and Indian inmates who filed a suit against prison officials in April 1972.

The agreement was reached before the case came to trial.

Church Facilities

In addition to providing access to spiritual leaders, prison officials also agreed to provide facilities for spiritual and religious services including the Native American Church.

Prison officials also agreed to set aside funds for paying fees and expenses of providing Indian religious services or ceremonies in an amount reflecting the number of Indian inmates and budget allowances for members of other faiths.

According to the plan, prison officials will offer accredited courses in Indian studies at the penal complex within a reasonable length of time. Indians at the complex will help provide personnel, materials and financial resources in drawing up the course subject matter.

Prison officials also agreed to try to locate qualified Indian personnel to work at the penal complex. A detailed hiring plan will be submitted to the court within 30 days.

Club Recognition

Another measure of the plan is that prison officials will also extend official recognition to an Indian inmate spiritual culture club composed of Indians.

Membership in that club, according to the plan, would ensure that its members get the same privileges extended to members of the other inmate clubs such as the Gavel Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Active membership in the club, prison officials agreed, will be given the same recognition in terms of inmate pay raise points or other benefits.

Prison officials also agreed to permit Indians to wear traditional hair styles, providing their hair is kept clean, and to allow Indian representatives to help advise the Athletic and Recreation Committee concerning the movies to be shown at the complex.

Almost all the points of agreement deal with issues raised in the suit filed by 28 Indian inmates of the penal complex.

Escaping Prisoner Kills Wichita Deputy

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — A 30-year-old prisoner charged with armed robbery grabbed a detective's revolver as he was being escorted to a preliminary hearing and shot his way out of the Sedgwick County courthouse Thursday.

Police said Fred L. Keeling, who was being taken to court on robbery charges, shot and killed Vance Johnson, 43, a veteran sheriff's detective and wounded three other persons.

Keeling died with one shot in the head. A Wichita city police officer and a sheriff's office employe were left critically wounded in a corridor as he fled.

A hospital spokesman said Floyd Simmons, 41, the city officer, was shot once in the lower abdomen and was reported in critical condition and still in surgery Thursday afternoon.

Also in critical condition was Mauro Bott, 43, a civil service employe of the sheriff's office, who was shot twice in the chest.

Lewis Patterson, 36, a sheriff's officer, was reported in fair condition with a gunshot wound in the right arm.

Police said Keeling fled through a rear courthouse door after shooting the four men and then forced the driver of a pickup truck to drive him from the courthouse parking lot.

The suspect commandeered two more cars at gunpoint in his flight but was finally surrounded by more than 100 police officers in northwest Wichita.

Police Sgt. Jerry Skelton entered the house alone and reportedly exchanged at least two shots with the suspect inside. Residents of the home fled when Keeling broke in, police said.

As police prepared to close in and lob teargas cannisters into the home, Skelton announced that the suspect had surrendered.

Police said Keeling and Skelton emerged from the building. Keeling held his arms in the air and was smoking a cigarette.

The suspect was returned to the county courthouse for questioning.

Soviets Modify Stand On Forces

©The New York Times

Vienna — The Soviet Union Thursday modified its approach to the reduction of military forces in Central Europe, proposing at East-West negotiations here that Soviet and American troops make the first cutbacks.

The chief Soviet delegate, Oleg Khlestov, offered the revised plan at the 49th plenary session Thursday morning, just one year and a day after the formal opening of the talks.

A Soviet spokesman said after the meeting that Khlestov's speech contained "concrete proposals which could make possible reductions beginning in 1975."

Initial reaction from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization side was cool, although the West has been pressing for first cuts by the big powers since the talks began. One Western spokesman said the Soviet proposals were "a reincarnation of something put forward in the past."

Other Western delegation sources said the Soviet ideas had been discussed informally and presented in other forms earlier this year. But they indicated they had not been packaged at a plenary session this way.

Who And When

The Soviet proposal, made in behalf of Moscow and her three Warsaw Pact allies who would be involved in eventual force reductions, concentrates on the question of which countries would make reductions at which time. In his first draft, last November, Khlestov suggested cutbacks in the forces of all 11 direct participant governments from the beginning.

The NATO plan, put forward that same month by the chief American delegate, Stanley R. Resor, proposed that the Soviet Union and the United States reduce their forces in Central Europe first and that the nine other countries follow in a second round, which would be subject to further negotiation.

Warsaw Pact sources said the revised Soviet draft "meets the Western concerns" by agreeing to first cuts by the two big powers. But, the sources said, it specifies that the other participating countries would reduce forces "pretty closely" behind them. The sources declined to define the interval more precisely, but it was suggested that it should involve no more than a year.

Cut Bonn's Force

"This is a compromise without compromising our position," one Warsaw Pact delegate termed it. The main concern of the Eastern delegations here, sources from both sides agree, is that the large West German army should be subject to reductions right away. This fact was behind their earlier insistence on cutbacks by all participants from the start.

The revised Soviet approach gives way somewhat on this point, but the follow-up reductions by the other countries, including West Germany, would be automatic and not subject to new negotiation.

The main western concern is a different one. American officials said Wednesday that the NATO allies still feel the military situation in Central Europe favors the East. The West wants this redressed as part of the cutbacks.

700,000 Ceiling Sought

It seeks a common ceiling of 700,000 troops on each side. That would mean reductions of about 235,000 by the four Warsaw Pact countries and 88,000 by the seven NATO allies. The West also wants a larger cutback made by the East in main battle tanks, where the Warsaw Pact advantage is estimated at 15,500 to 6,880.

Warsaw Pact sources said the revised Soviet approach proposes cutbacks in numbers of troops rather than percentages. It does not specify the types of forces to be involved — a deliberately vague approach which is meant to avoid the unresolved question of reductions of nuclear and air forces. The East has insisted they should be included, but the West maintains that these talks cover only ground forces.

Delegates from both sides said privately this week that they believed it would be possible to reach some kind of agreement which would allow cuts beginning next year.

Reward Withdrawn

San Francisco (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Randolph A. Hearst Thursday withdrew the $50,000 reward they had offered for the safe return of their fugitive daughter, Patricia.

"Because we are deeply concerned for Patricia's safety we are officially withdrawing the $50,000 reward that was offered for her return," the Hearsts said in a statement.

Miss Hearst was kidnaped from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4 in one of the most publicized and bizarre cases in U.S. history.

Ford Defers Spending $82 Million For Works

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford announced Thursday that he is deferring the expenditure of nearly $82 million in public works and water and power development projects as an anti-inflation measure.

The President said he had hopes that Congress will work with him to defer these funds for a full year and he has now acted to do so. The projects were to be financed in the fiscal year that started last July 1.

Items on which spending is deferred included Corps of Engineers construction and flood control projects in several states and on the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

Bureau of Reclamation loan programs and Colorado River Basin storage and development projects also are involved.

Ford also announced in another message to Congress that he is deferring $100,000 in funds under the Family Practice of Medicine Act. These funds were to have been used for grants to medical schools to encourage the training of increased numbers of physicians practicing family medicine.

Airlines Granted 4% Hike

Washington (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board Thursday granted a 4% fare increase for airlines flying in the United States and withdrew approval granted earlier this month for a special trans-Atlantic economy fare.

The domestic increase will take effect Nov. 15 for all U.S. carriers except Southern Airways, which can increase its ticket prices Friday. A CAB spokesman said all airlines except Southern had requested the later date for administrative purposes.

The CAB also made permanent a 6% domestic fare increase it had granted as a temporary measure at the start of the oil crisis. Originally, this increase would have expired Thursday.

A spokesman said the board's actions were taken "to offset current (airline) cost increases stemming from the general inflationary economic climate as well as high fuel costs."

There is no termination date for this increase, but the spokesman said the board has recommended the airlines voluntarily adopt a termination date of June 30, 1975. Then, he said, the situation could be reassessed.

"The majority of the board concluded that even with the 4% increase, domestic trunk line earnings . . . would not exceed the 12% rate-of-return standard," the spokesman said.

The action on trans-Atlantic fares, which will change effective Friday, followed rejection by the International Air Transport Association of fare structures approved Oct. 21.

The IATA proposed a new structure, which the CAB accepted, eliminating the Oct. 21 agreement's provision for a special 22- to 45-day excursion economy fare for those passengers making reservations far in advance.

Soviets Launch Intercosmos 12

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union on Thursday launched Intercosmos 12, one of a series of orbiting satellites whose purpose is to explore the earth's atmosphere.

The official news agency Tass said the satellite carries equipment made in Bulgaria, Hungary, East Germany, Romania and Czechoslovakia as well as in the Soviet Union.

Indian Inmates Receive Promise Of Privileges

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

Indian inmates at the Nebraska Penal Complex will have the right to see Indian medicine men and spiritual leaders under a plan approved Thursday by U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom.

That provision is one of many in an agreement between prison officials and Indian inmates who filed a suit against prison officials in April 1972.

The agreement was reached before the case came to trial.

Church Facilities

In addition to providing access to spiritual leaders, prison officials also agreed to provide facilities for spiritual and religious services including the Native American Church.

Prison officials also agreed to set aside funds for paying fees and expenses of providing Indian religious services or ceremonies in an amount reflecting the number of Indian inmates and budget allowances for members of other faiths.

According to the plan, prison officials will offer accredited courses in Indian studies at the penal complex within a reasonable length of time. Indians at the complex will help provide personnel, materials and financial resources in drawing up the course subject matter.

Prison officials also agreed to try to locate qualified Indian personnel to work at the penal complex. A detailed hiring plan will be submitted to the court within 30 days.

Club Recognition

Another measure of the plan is that prison officials will also extend official recognition to an Indian inmate spiritual culture club composed of Indians.

Membership in that club, according to the plan, would ensure that its members get the same privileges extended to members of the other inmate clubs such as the Gavel Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Active membership in the club, prison officials agreed, will be given the same recognition in terms of inmate pay raise points or other benefits.

Prison officials also agreed to permit Indians to wear traditional hair styles, providing their hair is kept clean, and to allow Indian representatives to help advise the Athletic and Recreation Committee concerning the movies to be shown at the complex.

Almost all the points of agreement deal with issues raised in the suit filed by 28 Indian inmates of the penal complex.

Escaping Prisoner Kills Wichita Deputy

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — A 30-year-old prisoner charged with armed robbery grabbed a detective's revolver as he was being escorted to a preliminary hearing and shot his way out of the Sedgwick County courthouse Thursday.

Police said Fred L. Keeling, who was being taken to court on robbery charges, shot and killed Vance Johnson, 43, a veteran sheriff's detective,and wounded three other persons.

Keeling died with one shot in the head. A Wichita city police officer and a sheriff's office employe were left critically wounded in a corridor as he fled.

A hospital spokesman said Floyd Simmons, 41, the city officer, was shot once in the lower abdomen and was reported in critical condition and still in surgery Thursday afternoon.

Also in critical condition was Mauro Bott, 43, a civil service employe of the sheriff's office, who was shot twice in the chest.

Lewis Patterson, 36, a sheriff's officer, was reported in fair condition with a gunshot wound in the right arm.

Police said Keeling fled through a rear courthouse door after shooting the four men and then forced the driver of a pickup truck to drive him from the courthouse parking lot.

The suspect commandeered two more cars at gunpoint in his flight but was finally surrounded by more than 100 police officers in northwest Wichita.

Police Sgt. Jerry Skelton entered the house alone and reportedly exchanged at least two shots with the suspect inside. Residents of the home fled when Keeling broke in, police said.

As police prepared to close in and lob teargas cannisters into the home, Skelton announced that the suspect had surrendered.

Police said Keeling and Skelton emerged from the building. Keeling held his arms in the air and was smoking a cigarette.

The suspect was returned to the county courthouse for questioning.

Soviets Modify Stand On Forces

©The New York Times

Vienna — The Soviet Union Thursday modified its approach to the reduction of military forces in Central Europe, proposing at East-West negotiations here that Soviet and American troops make the first cutbacks.

The chief Soviet delegate, Oleg Khlestov, offered the revised plan at the 49th plenary session Thursday morning, just one year and a day after the formal opening of the talks.

A Soviet spokesman said after the meeting that Khlestov's speech contained "concrete proposals which could make possible reductions beginning in 1975."

Initial reaction from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization side was cool, although the West has been pressing for first cuts by the big powers since the talks began. One Western spokesman said the Soviet proposals were "a reincarnation of something put forward in the past."

Other Western delegation sources said the Soviet ideas had been discussed informally and presented in other forms earlier this year. But they indicated they had not been packaged at a plenary session this way.

Who And When

The Soviet proposal, made in behalf of Moscow and her three Warsaw Pact allies who would be involved in eventual force reductions, concentrates on the question of which countries would make reductions at which time. In his first draft, last November, Khlestov suggested cutbacks in the forces of all 11 direct participant governments from the beginning.

The NATO plan, put forward that same month by the chief American delegate, Stanley R. Resor, proposed that the Soviet Union and the United States reduce their forces in Central Europe first and that the nine other countries follow in a second round, which would be subject to further negotiation.

Warsaw Pact sources said the revised Soviet draft "meets the Western concerns" by agreeing to first cuts by the two big powers. But, the sources said, it specifies that the other participating countries would reduce forces "pretty closely" behind them. The sources declined to define the interval more precisely, but it was suggested that it should involve no more than a year.

Cut Bonn's Force

"This is a compromise without compromising our position," one Warsaw Pact delegate termed it. The main concern of the Eastern delegations here, sources from both sides agree, is that the large West German army should be subject to reductions right away. This fact was behind their earlier insistence on cutbacks by all participants from the start.

The revised Soviet approach gives way somewhat on this point, but the follow-up reductions by the other countries, including West Germany, would be automatic and not subject to new negotiation.

The main western concern is a different one. American officials said Wednesday that the NATO allies still feel the military situation in Central Europe favors the East. The West wants this redressed as part of the cutbacks.

700,000 Ceiling Sought

It seeks a common ceiling of 700,000 troops on each side. That would mean reductions of about 235,000 by the four Warsaw Pact countries and 88,000 by the seven NATO allies. The West also wants a larger cutback made by the East in main battle tanks, where the Warsaw Pact advantage is estimated at 15,500 to 6,880.

Warsaw Pact sources said the revised Soviet approach proposes cutbacks in numbers of troops rather than percentages. It does not specify the types of forces to be involved — a deliberately vague approach which is meant to avoid the unresolved question of reductions of nuclear and air forces. The East has insisted they should be included, but the West maintains that these talks cover only ground forces.

Delegates from both sides said privately this week that they believed it would be possible to reach some kind of agreement which would allow cuts beginning next year.

Reward Withdrawn

San Francisco (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Randolph A. Hearst Thursday withdrew the $50,000 reward they had offered for the safe return of their fugitive daughter, Patricia.

"Because we are deeply concerned for Patricia's safety we are officially withdrawing the $50,000 reward that was offered for her return," the Hearsts said in a statement.

Miss Hearst was kidnaped from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4 in one of the most publicized and bizarre cases in U.S. history.

Ford Defers Spending $82 Million For Works

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford announced Thursday that he is deferring the expenditure of nearly $82 million in public works and water and power development projects as an anti-inflation measure.

The President said he had hopes that Congress will work with him to defer these funds for a full year and he has now acted to do so. The projects were to be financed in the fiscal year that started last July 1.

Items on which spending is deferred included Corps of Engineers construction and flood control projects in several states and on the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

Bureau of Reclamation loan programs and Colorado River Basin storage and development projects also are involved.

Ford also announced in another message to Congress that he is deferring $100,000 in funds under the Family Practice of Medicine Act. These funds were to have been used for grants to medical schools to encourage the training of increased numbers of physicians practicing family medicine.

Airlines Granted 4% Hike

Washington (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board Thursday granted a 4% fare increase for airlines flying in the United States and withdrew approval granted earlier this month for a special trans-Atlantic economy fare.

The domestic increase will take effect Nov. 15 for all U.S. carriers except Southern Airways, which can increase its ticket prices Friday. A CAB spokesman said all airlines except Southern had requested the later date for administrative purposes.

The CAB also made permanent a 6% domestic fare increase it had granted as a temporary measure at the start of the oil crisis. Originally, this increase would have expired Thursday.

A spokesman said the board's actions were taken "to offset current (airline) cost increases stemming from the general inflationary economic climate as well as high fuel costs."

There is no termination date for this increase, but the spokesman said the board has recommended the airlines voluntarily adopt a termination date of June 30, 1975. Then, he said, the situation could be reassessed.

"The majority of the board concluded that even with the 4% increase, domestic trunk line earnings . . . would not exceed the 12% rate-of-return standard," the spokesman said.

The action on trans-Atlantic fares, which will change effective Friday, followed rejection by the International Air Transport Association of fare structures approved Oct. 21.

The IATA proposed a new structure, which the CAB accepted, eliminating the Oct. 21 agreement's provision for a special 22- to 45-day excursion economy fare for those passengers making reservations far in advance.

Thone 'Running Scared', Says He Always Does

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

Rep. Charles Thone readily concedes he's "running scared" in his First District congressional race against Democratic challenger Hess Dyas.

But that isn't unusual. "I always run scared," the 50-year-old Republican incumbent said on a recent campaign swing through Lancaster, Gage and Johnson Counties.

That's the way you win elections, he said.

"We've worked hard to cover the district thoroughly," he remarked as he glanced through papers while en route to a luncheon speech before the Beatrice Jaycees.

However, last minute congressional business has forced Thone to compact his campaigning into a dawn-to-dusk 17-day blitz just prior to the election. Earlier this year, much of his campaigning was done on weekend trips back to Nebraska.

"We've walked door-to-door in the business districts of 88 towns since May," he said after checking the total with field man John Hanlon who was driving.

"We've got 21 to go, and we'll have covered the district. That's a pretty good campaign."

Still, Thone said he managed to be present for 96% of the votes cast in the House of Representatives.

He said he would have liked some additional time in the district.

This has been to the advantage of Dyas, he said, who has been campaigning for months and is "lavishly financed." (Recent campaign finance reports show Thone has raised $49,000 to Dyas' $93,000.)

"Hess is going to spend the most of any congressional race in Nebraska's history. He will spend well over $100,000. That's unprecedented," Thone said.

Much of Dyas' backing is special interest money, mainly from unions, he said.

"I've refused all special interest money and relied on contributions of $100 or less from individuals," he said.

That approach makes it more difficult to raise money, and Thone said he was apprehensive about it at first.

"So far, I've had over 2,000 individual contributors — that's the most I've ever had. I've shown it can be done," he said.

As for charges that he purposely has avoided debates with Dyas, Thone said his schedule has had to be compacted. People, he said, know where he stands by the 1,736 votes he has cast during his two terms as a representative.

At Beatrice, Thone told a crowd of 25 that he refuses to wage a "negative campaign" as he charged Dyas has. He stressed the nation is at peace and Gerald Ford is a "good and fine president."

A chief concern he mentioned is inflation, which he called the most insidious tax of all. He promised to be an inflation-fighter, not a Ford-fighter.

The audience asked questions. What about the fact that he only voted with the majority of House Republicans 55% of the time? Thone promoted himself as an independent thinker. He said he voted to override vetoes of key agriculture bills, to halt the bombing in Cambodia and to return war powers to Congress.

Back on the road, Thone returned his thoughts to Dyas' "negative campaign."

"He's been totally negative from the word go. I have respect for my past opponents; they weren't like that."

The car pulled off the highway into Virginia, and Thone hopped out of the car with matches and folders containing the "favorite desserts from Ruthie Thone."

Thone's stiffness as a public speaker quickly melted as he briskly shook hands in the bank, the grocery store, the tavern and the grain elevator. His message was simple: "Hello, I'm Congressman Charlie Thone. I'd like your vote."

Many people recognized him and said they appreciated his newsletters.

"I have no problem with voter recognition," he said. "It took a long time to build it."

In every town, he stopped at the grain elevator; it's usually the hub of activity, he said.

At an elevator in Filley, Jim Clancey questioned Thone about what can be done to help sagging livestock prices.

"Grain is too high to feed it to cattle," Clancy said. "The farmer who was feeding 300 hogs is not feeding 20. This is hurting our schools, our businesses — everything."

Embargo Considered

Thone nodded in agreement and said the nation might have to consider an embargo on all meat imports in order to save the livestock industry.

Earlier at Norden Labs in Lincoln, Thone was told that the livestock market has caused farmers to put fewer cattle in feedlots. Norden's key veterinary products are aimed at feeder cattle. As a result, he was told, Norden's growth has been hurt.

In Tecumseh, Thone met Mrs. Ruth Sechman, a local supporter at the Campbell's Soup plant, and greeted employes as they changed shifts.

Mrs. Sechman told Thone her union representative suggested she should be supporting Dyas.

"I told him to cut it out. He knows how I feel," she said.

That encouraged him, Thone said. "We're on third and heading for home," he said.

THONE . . . says his '1,736 votes' show his stand on issues.

LAP's Future Good If All Goes Well

By LINDA OLIG
Star Staff Writer

Jesse Payne, executive director of the Lincoln Action Program (LAP), and others who head community action programs around the nation are optimistic about the future of their agencies, if . . .

— federal administration of those agencies, geared to the needs of the poor, is put in the right hands.

— strong legislation supporting the programs' concept is developed.

— the role of advocacy for the low-incomed is allowed to continue.

He expressed those thoughts upon his return from the annual convention of the National Community Action Agencies Executive Directors Association held last week in Houston, Tex.

Funding To Continue

"There seemed to be very little doubt that direct funding of community action programs will continue in the future," Payne said.

The programs have been particularly hard hit by uncertainty, and short-term — often three months at a time — funding since the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) fell into disrepute in Washington circles in 1973.

Despite Payne's optimism about receiving federal dollars to keep LAP's doors open, he is concerned about how the government will choose to have those dollars administered.

Agency executives predicted that the government will pick one of three ways of administering the programs, Payne said. Choices tossed around at the convention included: continuing OEO; submerging the programs into a larger department such as Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) or Labor; and creating a separate, independent agency.

Bill Killed OEO

Granting OEO a stay of execution may be impossible. "The bill in the House of Representatives in May literally did away with OEO," Payne said.

The bill, which passed by overwhelming majority, repealed the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, but agreed to continue funding Head Start and the community action programs by transferring them to HEW. The Senate has failed to act on the legislation, he said.

Payne said submerging the programs into HEW is potentially threatening. "There is a good chance they could get lost in a department that size.

Flexibility Main Concern

"My main concern is whether the director will have the flexibility to talk with the secretary of HEW, as far as progress for low-income people is concerned, or would have access to Congress or the President," Payne said.

"Beyond that, the programs themselves would be subject to the whims of HEW," he speculated. "I don't think it (HEW) has ever really known what participation of the client community really means."

He said most community action programs have undergone the same evolution as the Lincoln group, a change that took them from direct service to "advocacy for the poor, responsibility for social planning" and program development.

Advocacy Top Function

The advocacy role is OEO's and LAP's primary function, Payne said, adding that without strong legislation, that role "will be lost."

Advocacy is "what OEO does most actively on a national level now," he said.

Payne is fearful that current proposed legislation pertaining to CAP's "can be watered down in application and interpretation," posing a threat to their very existence and viable role in the community.

Consent Decree Asked On Suit In Price Fixing

Washington (AP) — The Justice Department Thursday proposed a consent decree settling a year-old antitrust suit against Combustion Engineering Inc. of Stamford, Conn., and the American Colloid Co. of Skokie, Ill.

The proposed judgment, filed in U.S. District Court in Philadelphia, would prohibit the two producers of chromite sand from fixing prices and allocating customers and sales territories between themselves.

The suit had accused the two companies of conspiring since 1967 to fix prices and allocate customers for chromite sand, which is imported primarily from South Africa into the United States for use in making moulds for iron and steel castings.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE – Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 11-1
